Index to Record and Guide

Vol. LXXX.

For New York Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Projected Buildings.

NOS. 2051 to 2076 JULY—DECEMBER, INCLUSIVE. 1907

PREFACE.

The following is the semi-annual Index of Volume LXXX of the Record and Guide, containing complete lists of the Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Buildings Projected in New York City during the last six months of 1907. Those wishing to keep a file for permanent reference should see that all the numbers are complete and have them bound. Cost of binding, $2.50 per volume. A suitable temporary binder, holding one volume, can be obtained at the office, 11-15 East 24th st; price, one dollar.

THE KEY.

* Before any page No. indicates an Auction Sale.

† Before any page No. indicates a New Building projected.

Figures in parenthesis are leases.

Figures preceded by capital letters are mortgages, said capital letter indicating the first letter of the name of the mortgagor.

Figures without any signs whatsoever are Conveyances.

EXAMPLE.

Manhattan st (12th Ward), from Old Broadway to 129th st..17, 108, C, 116 †123, 149, 187, †255, 271, M 277, 343, M 350, (422), 629, *672, H 685, 723, H 729, 768, 897, S 906.

On page *672 an auction sale will be found.

On pages 17, 108, 149, 187, 271, 343, 629, 723, 768, 897, conveyances will be found.

On pages C 116, M 277, M 350, H 685, H 729, S 906, mortgages will be found.

On page (422) a lease will be found.

On pages †123, †255 will be found plans for new buildings.

AUCTION SALES.

The * appearing before any number indicates the page on which to find an Auction Sale.

CONVEYANCES

are distinguished by numbers without having signs attached thereto. In many instances there will be found streets, etc., indexed under pages which, on being examined, show at once that they are not in their proper order according to our customary alphabetical and numerical arrangement. A further examination will disclose the fact that while the properties appear more prominently under the other street descriptions, they nevertheless extend to the streets, etc., indicated by the Index, and having a frontage on same have been included in the paging, and it will necessitate a somewhat more thorough search than usual to locate it. The Leases, Mortgages, Auction Sales and Projected Buildings are indexed in a similar manner to the plan followed with the Conveyances.

LEASES.

The figures in parenthesis denote that the transaction on the page given is Leasehold, an assignment of lease or a lease running for a short or long term of years. This explanation is made so that subscribers searching for transfers in fee can at once distinguish between the former and the latter without referring to the pages mentioned.

MORTGAGES.

All the mortgages are indexed against the street or avenue in which the property is located, and memoranda added to enable searchers to find the particulars in "The Record and Guide." See "Example." The streets and avenues are so subdivided that very few references are necessary. All readers of "The Record and Guide" are aware that the mortgages appear weekly in alphabetical order, so that they have, so to speak, a weekly index of mortgagors. This publication of an index against property completes the information which those interested may require.

PROJECTED BUILDINGS

are included under the same general heading, and are distinguished by the † which precedes the numbering.

Auction Sales, Conveyances, Leases, Mortgages and Projected Buildings.

BOROUGH OF MANHATTAN STREETS.

NOTE.—Longitudinal streets, roads and places, such as the Bowery, Boulevard, Broadway, etc., which run parallel with the various avenues, will be found in alphabetical order among the avenues.

ALTHOUGH prices of stocks dealt in on the Stock Exchange are in evidence six days of the week out of the seven, it is not always possible to say anything new, week in and week out, in a review of the market for that period. News of little importance and the national holiday have made transactions in Wall Street this week of a character similar to what they were last week. The improvement has been maintained, the tone is better and there is a much more hopeful feeling. Most of the trading has been professional, with some profit-taking reactions in prices following, but the technical position of the market has not been materially altered. Union Pacific and United States Steel may be said to represent respectively railroads and industrials. All kinds of reasons were given for the advance of the issue so strongly identified with the name of Harriman, one of which was that a large private banking house had been borrowing a great deal of money on Union Pacific as collateral and employing it to support the bull movement to induce subscriptions during next week to the Union Pacific convertible bonds. While this may not be the case, Union Pacific has a host of believers in its future and higher figures are freely predicted for it. As to Steel there is again talk of an increase of the dividend rate on the common stock at the forthcoming meeting this month. During the last six months the corporation has earned $81,000,000 net, while its net earnings for the current year are estimated at from $155,000,000 to $160,000,000—truly a remarkable showing. The efforts to get up a cotton crop scare on the government report on cotton conditions up to June 25th have temporarily succeeded, October futures in New Orleans scoring an advance of forty points. While 72 is certainly a low percentage of condition it must not be forgotten that government reports are not always accurate, and the cotton scare may be but a repetition of the recent grain crop scare, which at one stage of the excitement would have left us without any crops at all. Wall Street believes that a large proportion of the July dividend and interest money will find its way in the near future into good stocks as an investment. There is not the same confidence with regard to bonds that are in little demand. Real estate and building interests are naturally concerned about the present rates both for call and time funds. Call money touched 10 per cent., declining to 5, the ruling rate being about 8. This is in strong contrast to London, where it was quoted at 1¾. The high rates here are looked upon as temporary.

IT was inevitable that the site of the present Fifth Avenue Hotel should before long be improved with an office building. The old hotel could not compete advantageously with the newer buildings, which have recently been erected farther north, and its situation is better adapted to business than it is to hotel purposes. When the new building is erected it will be one of the very largest in the city, for it will cover an area equal to twenty-one city lots, and it will be twenty-four stories high. Doubtless such an enormous increase of rentable space in this immediate vicinity will not be entirely occupied for several years. There is not anything like the demand for offices in the vicinity of Madison Square as there is in the financial district, and the new Fifth Avenue building will almost double the rentable office space in its immediate neighborhood. But the rapidity with which the Brunswick Building is being occupied indicates that the larger structure will soon be as full as the St. James or the Flatiron Building. The neighborhood of Twenty-third Street and Broadway is destined to be the most important centre north of the City Hall of that kind of business transacted in offices, rather than in shops and in lofts, and the whole of Madison Square will eventually be bordered with huge skyscrapers, and it is a good thing for the city that such will be the case. Office buildings erected on a spacious square are much less objectionable than they are upon an avenue or a street. They interfere less with the light and air of other buildings, and they, themselves, afford a much better quality of light to their occupants. Moreover, when they can be seen from a spacious square they look much more impressive than they do when they front only on a street. The full benefit of their height and mass can be imparted to the design. What, with the Fuller Building, the Metropolitan tower and the new Fifth Avenue Building, Madison Square will become architecturally the most overpowering, if not the most interesting, square in the city.

IN RESPECT to the Public Utilities Commission for this district, one cannot help remarking at the outset that its membership is distinctly inferior to that of the old Rapid Transit Commission. The new officials have had a certain amount of experience as public administrators or in legislative bodies, but they are not remarkable either for proved ability or for the public confidence which they enjoy. They consist almost entirely of lawyers, and there is not among them either a civil engineer or a practical railroad or transportation man, or one especially acquainted with the needs of our great real estate development interests. A commission of this kind obviously has a great deal to learn before it can become an efficient public servant, and it is to be hoped that while it is learning its business it will not by any errors it may make forfeit public confidence. It by no means follows that a group of comparatively undistinguished men may not in the end develop into an excellent and faithful body of administrators, but it is a pity they do not at the outset command more confidence, because they cannot afford to make many mistakes. The Record and Guide is not surprised, however, that a more distinguished group of men could not be found, for the task of the new commission is one of incalculable difficulty. It has been constituted because public opinion has been dissatisfied with the unregulated action of the public utilities companies—because, that is, these companies in pursuing their selfish interests have not conformed to the public interest. The commission consequently will be expected aggressively to assert the public interest as opposed to the private interests of the corporations, and if it fails to do so, it will come in for violent criticism. On the other hand, it is equally important that the commission should not wholly antagonize the corporations which have been placed under its jurisdiction. It is necessary that these corporations should in the public interest constantly increase and improve the service which they offer to the public; and, if the corporations believe themselves to be ill-treated it will be impossible to find the capital for such improvements. The mere appointment of the commission has already helped to injure the financial standing of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company and hurt its credit. In short, the task of keeping the confidence of the public, and at the same time of working harmoniously with the corporations, cannot help but be very difficult, while it may prove to be impossible. Moreover, the difficulty will be increased by the anomalous situation of the commission in respect to the regular municipal administration. The Mayor, the Comptroller and the other elected officials naturally resent the action of the Legislature and the Governor in bestowing on an independent commission such important local functions; and they will, at least in the beginning, treat the new commission as an unwarranted intruder in the field of municipal administration. This open antagonism of the municipal officials will embarrass the work of the commission. Altogether the new commissioners have a stiff job ahead of them, and it is no wonder that men who had more to lose refused to place themselves in such a difficult and dubious position.

THE old Rapid Transit Commission should not have been allowed to expire without some formal public recognition of its past services to New York City. Those services were undoubtedly very considerable. Now that the subway has been built, and is in successful operation, the problem of planning it and securing a lessee seems to be comparatively simple. But the job which the commission undertook was in truth one of the most difficult which ever confronted a body of public servants. The commission had to overcome the opposition of the local government of that time, of an influential body of property-owners and of the capitalists already interested in the transit system of Manhattan. It was prohibited from laying out a four-track subway along the line of the densest traffic—that is, Broadway—and the plan of the present complicated route was reached after prolonged discussion and many failures. The financiers who owned the elevated roads and the surface lines scoffed at the idea that a lease of the subway for a period of seventy-five years would be profitable, and at one time their opposition almost persuaded the commissioners themselves that a lessee could not be secured unless the lease were made perpetual. A contractor was, however, finally obtained, and the city owes a debt of gratitude not only to the Rapid Transit Commission, but to Messrs. McDonald and Belmont, for the construction of the subway, in spite of such powerful opposition. In retrospect it seems entirely possible that the commission might have been obliged to offer a perpetual franchise in order to secure a lessee. No doubt the large profit which the Interborough Company will make out of the existing lease makes the doubts and misgivings of ten years ago seem absurd; but at the time they were not absurd. An emphatic demonstration was necessary in order to prove to capitalists and to the public that a limited lease of a subway in a city like New York might be an immensely profitable bargain. Subsequently there was no difficulty in leasing the Brooklyn subway for fifty years without any privilege of renewal; and provided general conditions had been favorable there would have been no difficulty in leasing the subway extensions last spring for a shorter period. It is true that the commission itself failed to draw the proper inferences from the success of its own work. Its members resented the action of the Legislature in reducing the possible terms of the lease to twenty years with one renewal; but now that it has been deprived of its former authority, its great services, rather than its later defects, should be remembered. When the city of New York finally obtains an adequate transit system it will be recognized that the Rapid Transit Commission pointed the way and made an effective start.

The Inherent Power of the Real Estate and Building Interests.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Dear Sir: Would it not serve your patrons much better to omit such communications (of doubtful propriety) as "A Prediction on page 1240 in the issue of June 29. The space occupied could have been devoted to "threatened legislation" of a nature injurious to the real estate interests—as, for instance, Assembly bill 2706, which has passed the Legislature and probably would not have been vetoed by the Mayor but for the vigilance of a few wide-awake members of our Property Owners' Associations.

Had this bill become a law, a licensed engineer would have been required for every boiler having six square feet of grate surface, and for every engine of over 10 horsepower regardless of the motive power, whether steam, naphtha, gas or electricity.

The result would have been that every owner of a steam-heated building containing two or more families would have been put to the enormous expense of a licensed engineer, or else be liable to a fine of $500 and imprisonment for one year. It was shown that many flats would have to be closed up in winter because of the impossibility of securing a sufficient number of engineers.

Do the men (property owners) who are benefited appreciate the labor and personal sacrifice of the members of unostentatious Property Owners' Associations? I think not—and this is only one of the good works accomplished principally through the efforts of the United Real Estate Owners' Associations (Incorporated), a body of delegates from several local associations of real estate owners in Manhattan. The local associations represented in the central body are the Twelfth and Nineteenth Wards Association, Tenth, Eleventh and Seventeenth Wards Association, Twelfth and Twenty-second Wards Association, Harlem Property Owners' Association, Fourth, Eighth and Fourteenth Wards Association, Eighteenth Ward Association.

Every member of the association would appreciate an effort on your part to impress on property owners the necessity of becoming active members in some of the above-named local associations. Yours truly,

EDWARD J. MURRAY.

Our correspondent brings up a subject that should receive more attention from property owners than it has ever obtained in New York. Real estate interests should have a more particular representation than they control through the general political channels, and should be the object of more attention and solicitude from the law-givers than they receive. That the interests of real property are not adequately protected and represented, this Act of the Legislature to which our correspondent refers is abundant proof. If the great body of real estate owners, estate agents, builders, public works contractors and the manufacturers and dealers in building material, with all their employees, altogether numbering probably one-quarter of the heads of families in greater New York, could have its possibilities of power and influence co-ordinated for specified objects of justice and honor, who would or could oppose it?

One of the most important boards in the history of this State has just been constituted, the Utilities Commission. Is there a man upon it who represents especially the great real estate and building interests of the metropolis—which will be the most affected by the decisions of the board? And why is there not? We believe in the people organizing together when pure motives predominate, and no one should countenance a usurpation, of forces so organized, by private parties for selfish and individual ends. But this is a danger always present when men assemble in either convention, council or presbytery; and we must trust somebody, or nothing will ever be accomplished.

Always present with us are professional and trade societies, among whom are the engine men, who never give up trying to exact some special or class privilege from the Legislature, which would work to the disadvantage of their fellow men, and do violence to the American principle of a square deal.

We take pleasure in noting that not only the various boards of property owners, but also the real estate brokers of the City of New York, and the Board of Brokers in the Bronx, and especially the Allied Real Estate Interests of the State of New York, were all vigilant in watching or favoring the course of legislation affecting real estate at the State capital during the last session. Some good laws were so obtained, and some bad ones interred. As usual the Record and Guide contributed a fair quota of intelligent effort, and with the co-operation of its readers it will continue so to do without special urging.

A Suggestion to the Building Code Revision Committee.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

For the past few years, and at the present time, builders in New York City are erecting apartments and flat houses with very small 3-inch or 4-inch vent flues, running only one flue perpendicular from basement to roof, and breaking a small hole in the flue pipe wherever they want to make connections for gas ranges, without chimney breasts and with no flues at all for coal ranges. This is a seriously bad practice; for if the pipes become frozen or defective then there is no heat in the house for cooking purposes. If the gas or the heating apparatus went wrong at the same time there would be no way of having heat in the house, without extreme danger; then, again, the use of gas does not add to the safety of the lives of the tenants, for a bad connection on the lower floors may injure the tenants on the upper ones.

The remedy is to build a separate flue running direct to the roof and connecting each apartment in which a range, stove or grate may be used, lining each flue with hard burned fire clay or iron pipe.

We believe the law calls for the separate flues lined in all houses where coal is used, and probably the same law applies to houses in which gas is used for cooking purposes. If it does, the law should be enforced.

The building of these flues in chimney breasts will cost the builder a little more; but when selling the house he will get more when the flues are built in the same manner for the use of gas, as they are when built for using coal. BUILDER.

Aids to Business Making.

In a former paragraph the mortgage broker was told how he could easily and economically follow up the expiration of mortgages by the use of the Record and Guide Quarterly. Of course the mortgagor may not be the owner of the property at expiration of the mortgage, and it is the owner who should be approached. This is given by the Real Estate Directory and should be invariably used.

Valuation of Consolidated Gas Company's Real Estate.

A LIST OF THE PARCELS IN DETAIL
WHY 80-CENT GAS WOULD NOT PAY

ARTHUR H. MASTEN, Master in Chancery of the United States Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York State, to whom was referred, in July, 1906, "to take testimony, make all the needed computations and find fully the facts" in the case of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York against the City of New York, the State Gas and Electricity Commission, has submitted a printed report to Judge Lacombe, under date of June 24, 1907, in which one of the questions of fact determined is the value of the real estate of the gas company.

This real estate comprises some fifty parcels variously situated in New York City, and one parcel of water-front property, known as "Shadyside," on the New Jersey shore of the Hudson River. By far the greater part of the real estate belonged to the constituent companies before the consolidation and was purchased many years ago at prices much below its present value. The plaintiff introduced evidence showing the gross value of its real estate to be approximately $16,000,000. Included in this, however, is the sum of $1,392,500, representing the value of certain real estate forming a portion of its Eighteenth street station, which was acquired by the City of New York under eminent domain, but has never been paid for. The valuations of defendant's witnesses for the corresponding property approximate $12,000,000, though it is not conceded that the condemned property should be taken into account, nor that all of the other property valued is properly to be considered as a part of complainant's assets used in gas manufacture. The assessed valuation of the same property on the books of the city approximates $8,500,000 for the land alone and $12,000,000 for the land with improvements. Included in the latter assessment, however, are various structures constituting the manufacturing or distributing plants of complainant.

Three witnesses, Messrs. Wheelock, Preiss and Greene, were called by the complainant, the testimony of the latter being confined to the value of bulkheads and lands under water. Two witnesses, Messrs. Thompson and McHale, testified on behalf of the city, and one, Mr. Wells, on behalf of the State. Owing to the diversity of methods followed in the presentation of their testimony, the Master in Chancery found it difficult to make any comparison of their respective figures that is wholly satisfactory. The accompanying table affords, however, a reasonably accurate basis for such comparison. Without discussing in detail the evidence as to each parcel, I may say that, after a careful consideration, Mr. Masten is satisfied that the valuations claimed by the complainant are, as a rule, approximately correct. In arriving at that conclusion he has taken into account the standing and qualifications of the various witnesses, the degree of care devoted to their investigations, the extent of their familiarity with general real estate conditions in the City of New York, and their demeanor under cross-examination. The report adds:

> The chief witness for the complainant, Mr. Wheelock, is connected with one of the largest and best known real estate offices in this city and has taken part personally in the actual purchase and sale of a very large amount of property in various parts of Manhattan Island. Preparatory to testifying in this case, he spent some six weeks in an examination of the properties and an investigation of such facts as would tend to enlighten him as to their value, including sales of neighboring property.

Taking the testimony as a whole, Mr. Masten's conclusion is that the present value of complainant's real estate is $14,161,000. This includes the buildings valued by the witnesses and the various bulkhead properties, also the property at Shadyside, N. J., and is allotted between the various parcels as follows:

Regarding the reasonableness of the return allowed by the 80-cent gas rate, Mr. Masten finds that it would not yield a fair return on the value of the property.

Of the 13,283,163,767 cubic feet of gas, sold and delivered in 1905 by complainant, 398,525,978 cubic feet were delivered and charged to the City of New York at 90 cents per thousand cubic feet and 12,884,637,789 cubic feet to private consumers at $1 per thousand cubic feet; and for present purposes it may be assumed, ignoring the special rate fixed for gas supplied to the city, that all the sales for 1905 were at the rate of $1, and that the 80-cent rate will similarly apply to all sales.

Deducting 20 cents per thousand feet of sales from the net earnings of 1905 the result is as follows: Net earnings as above $4,983,928.31; less 20 cents per thousand on 13,283,000,000 feet of sales, $2,656,600; balance, $2,327,328.31.

This amount would yield on complainant's entire assets of $83,357,000 a return of 2.8% and on its assets exclusive of franchises and good will 3.6%, neither of which in my judgment constitutes a fair or reasonable return on the value of the property.

Assuming, on the basis of judicial decisions quoted in the report, that complainant is entitled to receive at least the legal rate of interest as a return upon its investment, the above-mentioned net earnings would yield 6% upon its assets to the extent only of $38,788,805, leaving assets amounting to $24,569,000 (exclusive of franchises and good will) on which it would receive no return whatever.

He will share with Chief Engineers Nelson P. Lewis, Harry P. Nichols and Arthur S. Tuthill a part of their work, but he does not become "city architect" in the sense that some have applied that designation to the position.

A property owner in West 31st st has won a verdict of $5,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad for damages done to his house resulting from the tunnel-work which the Pennsylvania is carrying on in the neighborhood. Though the case has been appealed, owners feel that in due time not only in this case but also in all other instances where actual damages have been sustained, exact justice will be voluntarily rendered or will be obtainable under the law.

The judges in the competition for the selection of an architect for the building to be erected in Washington, D. C., for the International Bureau of Republics, have selected the plans of Albert Kelsey and Paul P. Cret, associate architects, 1524 Chestnut st, Philadelphia. ## Points on Material Market.

Spruce lath continue to be quoted at $3.75 to $4.

Builders and contractors are getting their Cement at very reasonable quotations this spring.

Hudson River brick quotations are stiffening again. Some cargoes were taken by dealers at $7 per M this week.

Some lumber experts have been sent from the United States to Hayti to examine and report on the extent of the forests and on the problem of transportation, which seems to be the most difficult point to overcome, as most of the wood is to be found in the mountains, where it is expensive to remove. There are some extensive pine forests in Hayti. Other woods are plentiful, but are scattered over a large area. The companies are making preparations to push their enterprises more rapidly.

Amount of Building in Various Boroughs.

Mr. Orin F. Perry, of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Company, says there is more building in the Borough of Queens this season than ever before.

"In the Borough of Kings, while the permits are largely in excess of last year, as we understand it, there is not so much material being used this year as last. In other words, we think a good deal of the work that plans have been filed for has not started to operate.

"In the Borough of Richmond we think there is more work than ever before. In the Borough of Bronx, in talking with some of the largest building material dealers, they claim that up to the first of July the business was a large per cent behind last year.

"In the Borough of Manhattan the first half of the year was a good ways behind last year, but we think the outlook for the next six months for Manhattan Island is good."

—A trip on the Great Lakes is a fine experience even for one who has been everywhere else, especially a trip on the palatial steamers "Western States" and "Eastern States" across Lake Erie. These steamers run between Buffalo and Detroit, and when linked into a journey to Chicago the water route is highly agreeable. Staterooms and parlors can be engaged in advance and full information obtained from L. G. Lewis, G. P. A., Detroit & Buffalo Steamboat Company, Detroit, Mich.

Race of Tunnel Builders.

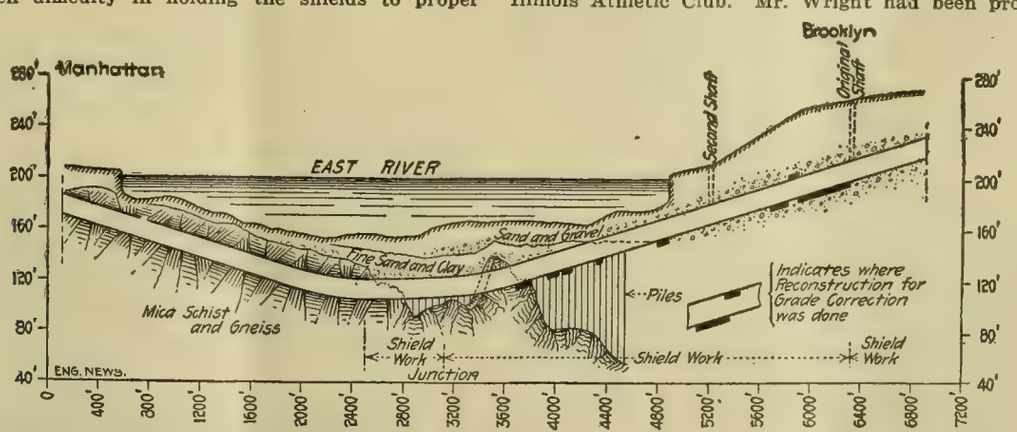
JUST what the status of affairs is in the Battery tunnel under the East River is disclosed by a report of Chief Engineer Nelson P. Lewis, of the engineering department of the Board of Estimate, made this week, and the necessity and office of the steel-concrete piling that is being driven is also made clear. The deduction most serious to contemplate, to our mind, is the difference in time between when the tunnel was scheduled to be finished and the moment when it actually will be ready for use, which will aggregate a year or more; but delays in public works are something New York has learned from long experience to expect and to bear with equanimity.

In one aspect of the transit situation the delay is unfortunate for Brooklyn, as it will permit what are essentially rival tunnels to finish first and acquire a precedence that will be a tangible advantage to the interests they are to serve. The Belmont tunnel to Queens, and one of the McAdoo tunnels to the Jersey shore, will get the first of the flood of emigration of home-seekers from Manhattan, and the time intervening may be long enough to take the keen edge off the market and lessen the pressure to buy.

The McAdoos have promised some kind of an opening of their North Tunnel to Hoboken for next October, but the construction of the approaches was only recently started. The Belmont tunnel is promised for next spring. When either will be fit to accept traffic is problematical. As for the Battery tunnel, the delay makes no difference while the connecting subway on the Brooklyn side is also incomplete. Both cast-iron pipes have been completed, but Mr. Lewis found them in this condition:

From the Brooklyn end of the tunnel to points about five hundred feet west of the bulkhead line both tubes rest upon coarse sand of excellent supporting power. "From this point to the rock reef and between the reef and the rock through which the west end of the tunnel is driven they rest upon a very fine sand and river silt. The parts of the tubes resting upon this soft material have settled somewhat since they were put into position. Statements as to the time and causes of this settlement are conflicting. It has been claimed that this settlement may have occurred gradually during some months after the tunnel was driven. The engineers of the Rapid Transit Commission and of the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Co. assure me that the settlement, which reached a maximum of twelve inches in the north tube and nine inches in the south tube, occurred when air pressure was reduced before the joints had been caulked, and the fine material coming into the tubes left spaces into which they settled. So far as I can learn there has been no perceptible settlement during the last year."



To obviate further settlement, steel-concrete piles are now being placed under those parts of both tubes which rest in the soft material. Mr. Lewis reports that in some places these piles are being driven every 35 feet, but, as a rule, the piles are 50 feet apart. They are in pairs, 7 feet between centres, each pile consisting of a steel tube 20 inches in diameter, filled with concrete and reinforced with steel rods and hoops. Thus far about twenty have been put down.

Mr. Lewis reports that the ability of the tubes to retain their shape when trains pass through them depends upon the character of the material in which they lie. As the tubes lie in soft sand in some places, it is absolutely necessary for them to have supporting piles.

From an article in the Engineering News of June 27 it is learned that during the work of driving the tunnels there was found to be much difficulty in holding the shields to proper grade. Some trouble was experienced on this score in rock, as no concrete cradle forward of the shield was used. The serious trouble, however, occurred in the fine sand.

The tunnel in consequence exhibited a succession of humps and dips instead of a continuous slope, departing sometimes as much as 10 to 12 inches from true grade, and as it would not have been feasible to fit the track to this irregular profile, the desired clearance was seriously infringed upon. Reconstruction of parts of the finished tunnel was necessary. Generally this was done by cutting down the humps in the profile by lowering the bottom. And although Chief Engineer Rice, of the Rapid Transit Commission, in his report of May 26, 1906, has stated that the material of the river bed could be depended on to maintain the tubes in a safe and permanent position, the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., which will operate the tunnel and which through an allied corporation, the Rapid Transit Subway Construction Co., is also building it, reached the conclusion that, to further assure permanent stability of the structure under all conditions and to increase public confidence in its safety, it would be desirable to provide some sort of foundation in that part lying in the "fine sand and clay," the least stable material encountered, just as the Pennsylvania R. R. is doing in its double tunnel under the Hudson River.

The steel piles are driven in sections by hydraulic jacks butting against the roof by means of distributing members. When one section is sunk another is set on top of it and jointed to it. Concrete is then filled into the pile to about the middle of the second section and the work of sinking resumed.

Death of Parry L. Wright.

The sudden death on June 22 of Parry L. Wright, vice-president and general manager of the American Luxfer Prism Co., came as a severe shock to his many friends. Mr. Wright was born in Indianapolis, May 5, 1859. For more than twenty years he had made his home in Chicago, and was prominent in the business and social activities of his adopted city. He was president of the Men's Club of St. Paul's Universalist Church, and his interest in athletics was indicated by his membership in the old Washington Park Club, Homewood Country Club and Illinois Athletic Club. Mr. Wright had been prominent in the glass manufacturing business prior to his election to the office of vice-president and general manager of the American Luxfer Prism Co., upon its reorganization. The rapid growth of this concern is largely the result of Mr. Wright's progressive policies. Mr. Wright was remarkably successful as an executive and business builder. He will stand for all time in the minds of his associates as an exemplar in this field of effort. Mr. Wright, however, has left a far higher memory with his associates, both business and social. He stood for the "Square deal" in every relation of life. He took a broad altruistic view of every responsibility that came to him. His associates and his subordinates knew him as a constant, considerate friend. He believed with Emerson that "life is not so short but there is always time for courtesy." He was pre-eminently "one who bore without abuse the grand old name of gentleman."

Canal st, Chicago, and 90 Centre st, New York. The rental feature is entirely done away with, and the directory is sold outright.

The front of the board is equipped with a dust-proof glass door fitted with lock and key, providing for a quick and easy change of cards. The illustration of the inside construction of the board shows the 50 space size, and gives one a fair idea of the make up of the directory. The pockets are formed of sheet metal and accommodate a card 7 inches long by 1⅛ inches high, the card showing ½ inch above the pocket. A ¼-inch black gummed letter is used for the name and number. The use of these letters permits of a change of card being made in the office of the building without sending to the manufacturers, as these gummed letters can be bought of any stationer and the cards lettered at a small expense and with little trouble.

The picture of the 50-space directory, complete with frame, gives an idea of a great convenience in the directory line, namely a directory for each individual floor, which we understand is being sold at a nominal cost. This no doubt will find favor among the large office buildings. The frames are made of wood and can be finished to meet requirements, or can be built of ornamental metal conforming with architects' design. Boards are also made for each floor.

The Universal Register Co. is equipped to furnish these directories complete, or can supply the inside sections without frame, allowing a greater liberty in selection of same.

Mahogany for All Buildings.

The American East African Trading Company has several shiploads of Okume mahogany en route for New York. This wood will take any stain and is readily worked into all forms requisite for trim, and is comparatively cheap. The figuring of choice cuts are equal to any mahogany on the market. The same company is also importing large quantities of vermillion mahogany, well known on account of its beautiful colors and figures as well as firmness and susceptibility to high finish. Requests for samples to the company's offices at 66 Broad st will be promptly complied with.

About Non-Crazing Tile.

"It is quite true," said Mr. Mart, of Mart & Lawton, the other day, "that the tiles we install do not craze. If they ever do, of course, we will replace them at our own expense." The manufacturers, the Minton & Hollins Co., of England, possess the chemical secret of non-crazing tile which they have controlled for fifty years.

The Faber Floor Construction.

One of the leading features of the Faber fireproof floor construction is the magnitude of span which is possible without girders. The Faber Company recently constructed the fireproof floors in the new residential palace of the Emperor of Germany at Posen.

Knowledge Is Power.

Perez M. Stewart, formerly superintendent of the New York Building Bureau, knows the ramifications of the building world better than most people. He knows a good thing when he sees it, whether it be Asbestos Wood, Bainza Enamel or any other product of importance to the architect and builder, and what is more, his word carries weight with it.

A Unique Range.

The ranges of the Bramhall-Deane Company are constructed of No. 16 American Bessemer sheet steel, with extra heavy top castings and heavy polished malleable and forged trimmings. The fire-boxes are lined with extra thick fire brick and equipped with water stacks to heat a great quantity of water with small coal consumption. The ranges are invaluable for hotels, institutions, residences and steamships.

The new iron fence and gate, lawn and drinking fountains, iron reservoir vase and stable fitting catalogs to be issued by the Stewart Iron Works Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, are to be models in every way. Advance proofs of these "Decorative Catalogs," as they are called, show the most complete line of iron fence and lawn furniture, for both public and private use, that has ever been catalogued. The typographical work is good, and the general effect is pleasing.

At the offices of the Wemlinger Piling Co., 11 Broadway, are exhibited some interesting samples of special features of pile construction.

Edward Corning Co. to Enlarge Asylum.

AMSTERDAM AV.—A general contract has been awarded to the Edward Corning Company, of 100 William st, for the erection of a large addition, 63.9x100.10 ft., to the Asylum for the Association of the Home for Relief of Respectable and Aged Indigent Females," situated on the east side of Amsterdam av, between 103d and 104th sts, to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. The new structure will have four stories, with a mansard, book tile and copper roof. The exterior will be of light brick and stone, with coping of brownstone, and a base course of concrete. Chas A. Rich, of 320 5th av, is the architect.

Wireless Power for Ships.

Occasionally prophecies have been made by visionaries, as well as others, that the day of the steamship will soon be over, and its place will be taken by an electrically propelled vessel. This prophecy was given more weight than usually attaches to such forecasts when it was reiterated by Sir Hugh Bell, in his presidential address delivered recently before the Iron and Steel Institute of Great Britain.

He said that the old coal-burning machinery would be displaced, and that vessels with little or no machinery on board, with barely any crew, will speed on their way, drawn by the electric force generated at Niagara and transmitted over the ocean by wireless telegraphy. He thought, strange as this forecast might seem, it was no more incredible than what had happened during the preceding century.

Theoretically the thing is not impossible, but it is observed that the Electrical Review, which has taken notice of the occurrence, deems the problem impractical with the present knowledge of the future possibilities of the transmission of power.

Values on Jersey City Heights.

Predictions that the opening of tunnels between the Jersey shore and Manhattan would bring about a big real estate boom are being realized sooner in the Hudson City section than was generally expected.

According to officials of the McAdoo Company, the tunnel, which has an outlet at Hoboken, and is therefore the nearest to the Heights, will be ready for use by next October. Since this announcement was made rents have been suddenly raised, property has enhanced in value, and offers to buy, which have been made on all sides, have been repeatedly refused. Very few pieces of property are changing hands in the Hudson City section these days, and never in its history have more property owners been approached and asked to sell.

A Grandfather's House.

The old-fashioned 2-sty frame dwelling now rented to a curio dealer and formerly owned and occupied by Mrs. S. Waterbury, at 34 West 30th st, is the only frame building in that street between 4th and Madison avs. The lot is 34x98.9, for which $87,500 is the asking price. The building is about 24x35, and at the time of its construction probably cost about $2,500 to erect. Allowing say $4,000 for the lot, the original value of both would not have exceeded $6,500. The present figure asked for the parcel is more than thirteen times this modest valuation of the early days.

Aids to Business Making.

Some Real Estate brokers have made a marked success in the past few years of selling property to owners of adjoining property. Property under contract, property held for years, property recently bought—all figure in these transactions, and the news and records of the Record & Guide Weekly should be carefully followed. Another favorite method when an owner refuses to sell is to offer him adjoining property if he thinks so well of the neighborhood.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

Aside from a slight movement in corner properties north of 59th st, and a large exchange of dwellings on Washington Heights, the transactions in realty for the week are lacking in character when compared with the results of the preceding period. The falling off in the volume of business at this season of the year was not unexpected, and is chiefly attributed to the brief absence from town of many active brokers and operators. The total number of private sales is 70, of which 22 were south of 59th st, 23 north, and 25 in the Bronx.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

ALLEN ST.—May Perlman sold to Jerome J. Wilson 202 and 204 Allen st, two 3-sty tenements, 42.3x50, taking in part payment 12 and 14 Oak Terrace, two 2-sty frame dwellings, 50x100.

A New Project Planned.

BEEKMAN ST.—During the week Eugene Kelly and others as executors of the Eugene Kelly estate, conveyed the Temple Court Building on Nassau and Beekman sts and Theatre alley to the Temple Court Building Co., a corporation recently organized for the purpose of acquiring title to that property. It is the intention of the company to erect a 20-sty skyscraper on the site as soon as the present leases expire. The consideration was $1,325,000, and the parcel has been mortgaged by that corporation to the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank for $626,000 at 4½ per cent. interest, the principal becoming due in 5 years. Temple Court was built in 1881 and is one of the first structures of its kind to contain an inner court. There are about 14,700 sq. ft. in the plot, its greatest depth being 149.1 on Theatre alley. Experts regard the location as ideal for office building purposes.

DEY ST.—J. N. Kalley & Son and Robert Colgate & Co., as brokers, sold the property 78 Dey st, a 5-sty brk building, 24x68.

WASHINGTON ST.—Clifford N. Shurman sold for the heirs of Jas. Haring 716 Washington st, a 3-sty building adjoining cor of 11th st, 23x46. This is the first sale of the property in 70 years. The buyer is a company which secured other property in the same neighborhood for the erection of a large mercantile building.

45TH ST.—John P. Kirwan sold for Dr. W. R. Fuller 133 West 45th st, a 3-sty and basement stone front dwelling, 20x100.5. This property possesses an attraction from a speculative standpoint since it lies in a district soon to undergo a complete transformation. There are already several theatres on the block and it is known that another is contemplated. Brokers predict that within the next five years nearly all the dwellings in that locality will have disappeared.

Pocher & Co., real estate brokers and agents, have moved their branch office, formerly at 655 Lexington av, to 499 Lexington av, near 47th st.

F. Lewine, of Mandelbaum &Lewine, real estate operators, 135 Broadway, Manhattan, is spending his spare hours at Fleischmanns, N. Y., in the Catskills, this summer.

John J. Clancy & Co., real estate broker and agent, for many years at 1783 Broadway, have moved their office to the "Rutland," southwest corner of Broadway and 57th st.

The real estate firm of Layton & Rogers, of 1659 Amsterdam av, having been dissolved, both members will transact business separately at their new offices, 3487 Broadway, near 142d st.

A new proposition for widening the driveway of Fifth av has been presented in the form of a petition from merchants and property owners, asking only for the consideration of the portion between 33d and 43d sts. It is now believed that at last something tangible will be done.

A mortgage loan broker reported during the week that there are evidences that money will be much easier this fall than for many months past. This opinion is shared by others in the realty line, who point to the large amount of funds now being loaned on real estate security by two of the large Manhattan life insurance companies. This will doubtless have the effect of eventually lowering the rate of interest.

Real Estate Gains.

VALUED AT FIVE HUNDRED MILLIONS MORE THAN LAST YEAR—TAX RATE ABOUT THE SAME.

THE assessment rolls of the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments, which were sent to the Board of Aldermen, show an increase in the assessed value of real estate and franchises assessed as real estate $501,993,357 more than last year. On the other hand, there is a decrease in the assessed value of personal property of more than twelve million dollars. The total assessed value of all real and personal property this year is $6,795,341,915. This is a net increase of $489,547,730 more than last year.

The real estate assessment by boroughs, with the increases over last year, follows:

REAL ESTATE.

| | 1907. | 1906. | Increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Manhattan | $4,391,970,951 | $4,105,352,281 | $286,618,670 |
| Bronx | 396,687,730 | 355,779,602 | 40,908,128 |
| Brooklyn | 1,181,221,910 | 1,072,007,172 | 109,214,738 |
| Queens | 217,668,775 | 159,446,205 | 58,222,570 |
| Richmond | 52,931,236 | 45,901,985 | 7,029,251 |
| Total | $6,240,480,602 | $5,738,487,245 | $501,993,357 |

The increase is 8.8 per cent. of the assessment of 1906. One hundred and five millions of this increase is on account of the assessment of special franchises, and a little less than $400,000,000 is on account of the ordinary real estate assessed by local assessors.

PERSONAL ESTATE.

| | 1907. | 1906. | Decrease. |

| Total increase | | | 6,640,571 |
| Net decrease | | | $12,445,627 |

*Increase.

The aggregate assessment of real and personal property is as follows:

| | 1907. | 1906. | Increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Manhattan | $4,824,625,109 | $4,552,536,831 | $272,088,278 |
| Bronx | 410,774,871 | 373,808,459 | 36,966,412 |
| Brooklyn | 1,274,088,457 | 1,159,729,982 | 114,358,475 |
| Queens | 228,860,037 | 169,140,633 | 59,719,404 |
| Richmond | 56,993,441 | 50,578,280 | 6,415,161 |
| Totals | $6,795,341,915 | $6,305,794,185 | $489,547,730 |

The books will be open for inspection in the city clerk's office for two weeks. The tax rate for the year will not be fixed until near the end of August, but as it is now estimated in the Comptroller's office the rate will be a small fraction higher than the rate of last year. The rate last year in Manhattan and the Bronx was $1.4789 on the $100 of assessed value. The Finance Department estimates that the rate this year will not be higher than $1.4790 in the two boroughs. It will be slightly higher than this in Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond. President Purdy, of the Department of Taxes and Assessments, says the decrease in the total assessment of personal property is caused by continuance of the policy adopted last year, of cancelling old assessments, when it was clearly apparent that no tax could be collected from the persons assessed.

Last year some $70,000,000 was cancelled, and this year $20,000,000. Such action was taken in both years, when notices mailed the persons assessed were not delivered for three years consecutively, and no payment had been made on account of the taxes based on such assessments. If it had not been for the elimination of this $20,000,000, the roll would have been increased.

A further cause for the reduction in the aggregate assessment of personal property is the exemption of all mortgages recorded after July 1, 1906. What is lost, however, from the assessment roll on this account is much more than made up by the revenue from the recording tax. The aggregate revenue in the city of New York from the recording tax is in excess of $3,000,000 a year, divided equally between the city and State. Three million dollars is equivalent to the tax of 1½ per cent. on $200,000,000.

In any comparison of the assessment of this year with years prior to 1901, there must also be taken into account the fact that trust companies are now taxed for State purposes and not locally on their personal property. This tax amounts to over $1,700,000, which is equivalent to an assessment of over $113,000,000.

THE AUCTION MARKET

Most of the parcels put up in the auction room this week were struck off to plaintiffs in foreclosure suits, among them being several vacant lots on Edgecombe av, a loft building at 53 Rose st, and four 5-sty brick tenements on Cauldwell av, near 156th st. On Tuesday Herbert A Sherman sold No. 610 Water st, a 6-sty brk stable, with a frontage of about 24.10, to Israel Pomeranz, for $11,700, and at the stand of D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co. two 5-sty brk tenements, 75.10x144.5, at 1057 and 1059 Prospect av, brought $71,250.

On Friday the offering of No. 58 Rivington st was adjourned to July 18, as was also the sale of Nos. 611 to 617 West 152d st. The only parcel sold was a row of 6-sty flats on Cathedral Parkway, which was bid in by the plaintiff for $140,207.

A New Jersey Real Estate Exchange.

THE real estate operators of New Jersey are taking steps to form a real estate exchange. Following the example set by Long Island dealers, they are determined to unite into a general organization for the promotion of their business interests in New Jersey. A preliminary conference was held about a week ago at the office of Joseph W. Doolittle, president of the El Mora Land Company, 347 5th av, Manhattan. It was there decided to issue a call for a larger meeting, and in pursuance of such resolution a well-attended gathering assembled at the same office on July 2.

Mr. J. Edward Grape, of the Westfield Realty Company, was chosen temporary chairman, and Mr. F. W. Creighton, of the Anglo-Realty and Mortgage Company, was made secretary. Among the prominent New Jersey realty men in attendance were the following named: A. M. Bennett, of Manor Realty Company; Edward J. Kanaley, of the Creighton Manor Company; Benj. J. Kline, of the Rahway Realty Company; Edward J. Sullivan, of the Sullivan, Thorne Realty Company; Jos. W. Doolittle, of the El Mora Land Company; J. Edward Grape, of the Westfield Realty Company; Wm. A. Lambert, of the Nutley Realty Company; W. R. Squire and F. L. Vrooman, of Squire & Vrooman, of Ridgefield Park; John V. Hass, of Millington; Daniel Paul, of Tenafly; Wilson J. Vance, of "Vance" (Inc.), of Newark; Jesse D. Hedden, James Trimmer, Rodney Miller.

Letters of regret were read from the following prominent dealers, all of whom expressed their approval of the proposed organization: Edward D. Paulin, president of the Leonia Heights Land Company; C. R. Von Egloffstein, of Hasbrouck Heights Company; A. D. Mulford & Son, of Elizabeth; Wallace Wilbur Slocum, of Slocum Park Realty Company; Romeyn & Demarest, of Hackensack; Horace A. Pounds, Elston M. French and many others.

Mr. Otto Kempner, the founder and former president of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange, was present by invitation and was introduced to the meeting. In speaking of the benefits of organization, Mr. Kempner said that in all fields of industry it has been found essential to co-operate for the general benefit of those engaged in any special line of business, and that much good can be accomplished by organization. New Jersey is destined to attract the home seeker in the near future, owing to the increased facilities for railroad transportation that are now under way. When the various tunnels under the Hudson River will be completed, the tide of suburban settlement can be turned towards New Jersey, if the real estate men of that State take time by the forelock, and prepare a vigorous campaign for the occasion. He closed by suggesting a great demonstration by New Jersey real estate men coincident with the opening celebration of the McAdoo tunnel in September.

It was unanimously decided to organize an exchange and to appoint a committee of seven to prepare a plan of organization to report at a meeting to be held in Mr. Doolittle's office on July 10. The committee is as follows: Messrs. Vrooman, Hedden, Kanaley, Creighton, Lambert, Grape and Trimmer. Every person present subscribed his name to the membership list, and agreed to become a charter member of the new born New Jersey Real Estate Exchange.

Allied Interests Move Against Street Encroachments.

President Allan Robinson, of the Allied Real Estate Interests, has been instructed by the directors to call the attention of the Bureau of Incumbrances to the increasing number of incumbrances in the public streets of New York City. The directors do not refer to those incumbrances which are placed on sidewalks without shadow of right and which may easily be removed; but to the more permanent structures erected under permits from the city authorities from which doubtless the city has received compensation.

The increase in population during fifteen years has resulted in serious crowding of the streets, to such an extent in many quarters that pedestrians are obliged to resort to the roadway for want of sufficient foot room on the sidewalks. The further practice of allowing buildings to be erected to any height without reference to the width of the street on which they stand has resulted in the crowding of lower Broadway and certain other streets, so that it has become a matter of great difficulty and delay for pedestrians during certain hours of the day to pass to and fro upon these streets.

In these circumstances the Allied Real Estate Interests believe that the city authorities should rigidly enforce the law as regards encroachments on the building line, and also refuse to grant permits for the erection of obstructions on the sidewalks, instead of which the building line is frequently encroached upon and the number of signs and sign-posts erected on the streets is constantly increasing.

As illustrative of the manner in which encroachments beyond the building line have been permitted by the city the directors have called attention to one specific instance, that of the large glass extension on the northwest corner of 43d st and 5th av. This structure stands on the ground and extends from the building line nearly to the stoop line.

"If this encroachment is proper," says President Robinson, "similar encroachments all along the line of 5th av may be and doubtless should be permitted to the owners of property there. In this connection I beg to call attention to the decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of Ackerman vs. True, 175 N. Y., 353. This was the case of an encroachment beyond the building line of a bay window, so called, extending down to the ground. The court said:

"Although it is true that the title of the streets in the city of New York is in the municipality, that title is held by it in trust for public use and not even the Municipal Assembly has authority to permit permanent encroachments thereon."

"The instances referred to are only illustrative of a large number of similar encroachments not only on Broadway and 5th av, but on many other streets of the city, particularly those given over to business purposes. It seems to us that instead of further crowding the streets of New York the city authorities should undertake to clear away the obstructions that now exist and should refuse to permit the use of the public highways by private individuals for their own purposes and to the discomfort of the public at large."

In the Madison Square Section.

W. C. Goodale, of S. B. Goodale & Son, 6 West 24th st, Manhattan, says that realty conditions in the Madison Square section are regarded as satisfactory. In referring to the mortgage market he called attention to the fewness of foreclosures and pointed out that not a few owners were arranging to readjust their finances so as to liquidate second mortgages. The effect of this liquidation is reflected in the firm prices which prevail throughout the entire district adjacent to the square. Mr. Goodale is further of the opinion that, unless something unforeseen occurs, not only will the fall trading show an improvement in volume over the past season's business, but that a large part of the dealing will undoubtedly foreshadow building operations of a more pronounced size.

Brooklyn Tendencies.

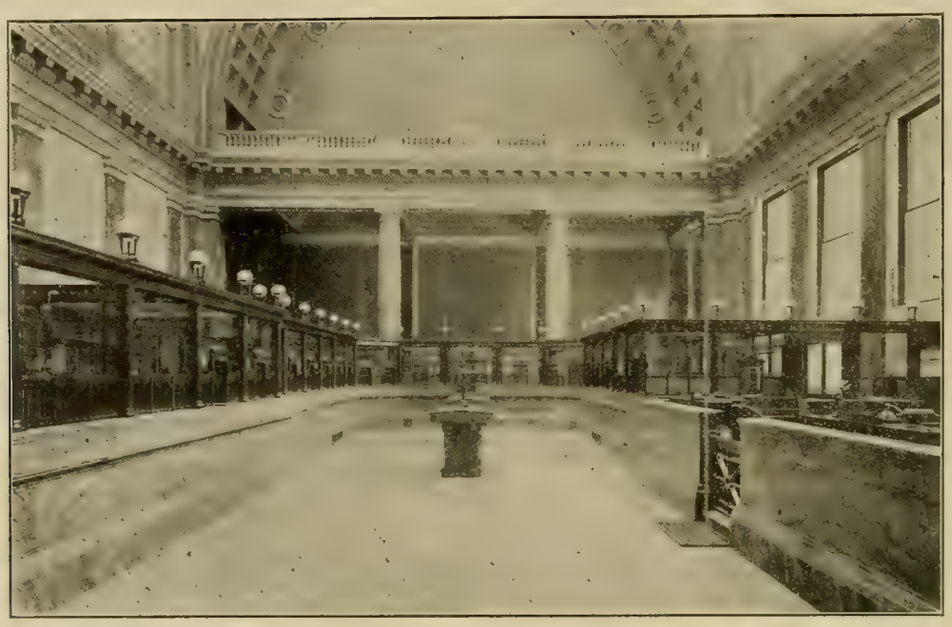
FRANK H. TYLER ON IMPORTANT QUESTIONS—IS THERE ANYTHING WRONG IN THE SUBWAY?—MONEY ENOUGH FOR GOOD LOANS—BUSINESS CHANCES ON LONG ISLAND.



The Subway question is in Brooklyn the all-absorbing subject of interest, and the leading men there feel a great disappointment over it, if they do not feel to some extent discouraged; and something in the nature of suspicion has entered their mind. As the Record and Guide has pointed out before, there is a race on between the Jerseys and Brooklyn, and it looks now as if the Jerseymen would win in the homestretch.

One of the leading men in Brooklyn real estate, Mr. Frank H. Tyler, of 1183 Fulton st, expressed the opinion this week that such a condition of affairs, as our engineers state exists in the tunnel that will tap Brooklyn at the foot of Joralemon st, is unparalleled in Brooklyn's history. Can it be possible, he asked, that with all the care that has been exercised in selecting the best engineers and mechanics which could be procured, we cannot have constructed a tunnel in a practical and durable manner without being told when the tunnel is about ready for completion that they have to put props under it to hold it up? If the papers have stated the condition correctly, the public certainly should have some redress, he considered. He added:

"In regard to building operations in Brooklyn, I believe the activity will continue, as there is at the present time great demand for moderate priced apartments, and particularly for small houses, which are at a premium at this time. The 2-family house, which is the all-popular at this time, is selling to-day in Brooklyn as high as $11,500. Of course this increase in price is largely due to the fact of the increase in land value and the cost of material and labor, but a large percentage of the increase is due to the fact of the great popularity of this class of house.

MONEY MARKET NOT STRINGENT.

"I do not consider the money market stringent by any means. Money lenders by long experience become more conservative, and the builder who is looking for a loan for enough to pay for the lots and cost of the buildings and a profit besides, may find trouble to place his loans.

"Conservative loans can always be procured on bond and mortgage, and there are a great number of very capable brokers in this line of business. A builder who first peddles his own loan all over town, and then, as a last resort, employs the broker, may find some trouble in procuring prompt acceptance of it. If builders would go at once to loan brokers, many of whom are now making a specialty of this business, they would not have any trouble in placing reasonable loans.

A HINT TO YOUNG MEN.

"One thing that has been a wonder to me for many years is the fact that more young men do not go out on Long Island and settle in any line of business. With business training which is so easy to obtain in our city business houses, if a young man shows application, any young man with five years' practical business experience can start on his own account in any town on Long Island and make a permanent success in any line of business, more particularly in the real estate business. Large operators on Long Island find it impossible to locate in many of the towns competent, wide-awake young men to show up the property to the best advantage. The result is that owners of the land are obliged to send men from the city with the people and show the property and sell it, and the cry should be not as Horace Greeley said of old, 'Young man, go out West,' but 'Young man, go out on Long Island,' and your success in life is guaranteed to you."

Discovering Long Island.

Major Gulick holds that there is no excuse for faint-heartedness or lack of preparation on the part of operators and real estate brokers with respect to what the physical consolidation of Manhattan and Long Island must mean.

It is a certainty that Long Island farm lands will soon be thickly settled with the more reasonable priced cottages and two-family houses probably as far out as Jamaica. Suburban residences of the better class will extend from that point to Garden City and Hempstead, the residences of rich men and great country estates from Garden City and Hempstead to the east on both North and South Shores. The center of the Island will be more closely cultivated for agricultural purposes, which the experiments of the Long Island Railroad on the so-called waste lands at Wading River have shown to be a possibility.

A peculiar feature of Long Island development is the difficulty experienced in getting people to look over the ground. They do not and will not realize what is being accomplished until it is fully completed and they take a ride through one of the new subway tunnels direct from Broadway to the country in thirty minutes. Major Gulick says this ignorance is what makes the investors' opportunity, and that the men who buy at present figures, using fair judgment, will reap rich reward.

"Brokers Should Be Brokers."

George H. Gray, of the firm of Howard C. Pyle & Co., contends that a broker cannot serve his purposes properly when his mind and efforts are biased, by the fact of his being financially interested in the purchase or sale of real estate that he is endeavoring to negotiate as a broker:

Few people realize the importance of buying and selling through a genuine broker who is neither a speculator nor operator, and I believe if they could realize the importance there would be fewer cases for dissatisfaction with the attained results and no complaints. A broker is often misunderstood in his efforts to negotiate a sale, because people do not stop to realize his difficult position. He is compensated by the seller, who always expects him to favor his side, and the purchaser, who probably comes to him because he believes he can do better for him than some one else, always expects the broker to work solely for his interest, and any apparent favoritism of the broker toward either side immediately creates a dislike and causes war-words.

Webster defines a "broker" as "a person whose business it is to negotiate sales or contracts as an agent." The term "real estate agent" is little used in New York, though in most other cities it is preferred and comprehends all branches of the business. If a broker states clearly when offering his own property for sale that he is acting as principal and not as agent, does this not satisfy the claims of fairness?

Changes in the Map.

In the matter of the proposed laying out of a street system on Throgg's Neck, it is intended to include the territory bounded by Middletown road, Pelham Bay Park, Long Island Sound, Fort Schuyler Reservation, East River, Fort Schuyler road, Eastern boulevard, Balcom av and Appleton road, in the Borough of The Bronx, City of New York, as particularly shown on map or plan submitted by the president of the Borough of The Bronx, dated May 11, 1907.

In the matter of the proposed closing of Willow av, south of East 132d st; Walnut av, south of East 132d st; Locust av, south of East 132d st, and East 129th, East 130th and East 131st sts, east of the easterly line of Willow av, Borough of The Bronx, a report is forthcoming from a committee of the Board of Estimate.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

June 28, 29, July 1, 2 and 3.

IF YOU WORK FOR A MAN

IF you work for a man, in heaven's name, work for him. If he pays you wages which supply you your bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institution he represents.

I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of his time, but all of his time. I would give an undivided service or none.

If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

If you must vilify, condemn and eternally discourage, why resign your position, and when you are outside damn to your heart's content. But I pray you, so long as you are a part of an institution, do not condemn it. Not that it will injure the institution, not that, but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part, you disparage yourself.—Elbert Hubbard.

A HALT in the advance in the Stock Market took place during the week and there was consternation among some smaller operators who had been led to believe that a real bull market was here at last. An operator of national note, who advertises largely, may be considered, to some extent, responsible for the change of sentiment—that is to say his predictions failed to materialize. But the sudden slump was just as logical and natural as the rather too rapid advance of last week. In short, the "pace was killing" and could not last. During the break in the middle of the week prices fell rapidly as every weak and strong issue was attacked. All the active stocks were heavy losers. American Tobacco also suffered, holders becoming alarmed by the reports of the Federal proceedings against the Tobacco Trust, quotations declining from 315 to 300. There were many reasons for both the halt in the predicted bull market and the decline, including new engagements of gold for export, hardening in time funds, a call loan rate that touched 8 per cent., fomenting of the war spirit with regard to war with Japan by the newspapers and a dozen other things, to say nothing of the cloud hanging over the Interborough merger and the unfavorable condition of corn as certified to by the Department of Agriculture for July 1. But after all the flurry, reviewing the transactions of the week as a whole, did not last long. There was later a better feeling in London and a considerable show of strength in Paris. Two of the weakest issues during the week were Reading and American Smelters. It was said they were driven down to low levels in order to facilitate short covering. Naturally money, both time and call, has been affected by the untoward course of events in Wall Street this week, which fact is never encouraging to real estate and building interests. Money rates fluctuated widely, which would go to show that notwithstanding all the gloomy forebodings the condition of business throughout the country is on a sound basis and that there is no sign of a diminution in our present prosperity. Wall Street may be the pulse of the country, but sudden advances or declines in stocks are by no means an unerring indication of the condition of trade or the progress of the country.

A LARGE number of business men, owning stores on Fifth Avenue between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second Streets have come out finally in favor of the widening of that thoroughfare by pushing back the stoop line, and their contention that such a widening is necessary to the easy movement of the carriage traffic cannot be controverted. Years ago the Record and Guide pointed out that the business future of the avenue demanded the revocation of the licenses under which property-owners have been permitted to erect temporary structures beyond the building line, and the conversion of the shopkeepers doing business on Fifth Avenue to this opinion was only a question of time. Fifth Avenue trade depends largely upon customers who journey to their destination in carriages, the establishment of which promotes the celerity of movement. Many of the finest motor cars and carriages will promote the business interests of the avenue and tend to make property thereon more valuable. As we all know, the movement of vehicles in and down the avenue during the winter months has been becoming more and more congested, until at the present time during certain hours in the day bad blocks are not infrequent, and much time is lost. There is no alternative route anything like as convenient which carriages and motor cars can take, and the only remedy for this congestion is the widening of the carriage-way. In the course of time it may also be necessary to bridge such important intersecting streets as Thirty-fourth and Forty-second Streets, but for the present the widening of the carriage-way will be sufficient. The revocation of these licenses can do no injustice to property-owners, who still retain their stoops, because these owners have benefited enormously from the increased availability of Fifth Avenue for business purposes, and can afford to make some sacrifice to improve its availability for the retail trade and its general public service ability. There is only one objection to the widening which has any force. It is claimed that a wider avenue, flooded with an increase of vehicular traffic, will be much more difficult to cross and that its impassability will hurt retail trade. This objection should not be ignored, but its force can be broken by a very simple expedient. When the carriage-way is widened, islands should be placed in the middle of the street, three to each block, which will afford pedestrians an opportunity of safely and conveniently making the passage. Such islands will be absolutely necessary, in case the widening is effected, and no plan should be adopted from which they are omitted.

THE City of New York is to be congratulated upon the appointment of Mr. Walter Cook as consulting architect of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. There are other architects in New York whose work has been more conspicuous and more original than that of Mr. Cook, but there is none who is so well fitted, by his combination of technical ability and sound general intelligence, to act as architectural adviser of the Board of Estimate. It is very much to be hoped that the board will take his advice freely and act on it loyally. The city does an enormous amount of building. Many of the new structures, which are paid for by the money of the city, are not erected under the direct supervision of the Board of Estimate, but many of them are so erected, and it is in reference to the design of these structures that Mr. Cook's advice should be most valuable. If it is acted on, it will effectually prevent the waste of the city's money upon buildings like the new Court House or its perversion into such an unworthy pile as the Criminal Courts. It will not be Mr. Cook's function to design the new municipal buildings, but it will be his business to see that they are properly designed and economically constructed. If a new structure such as the proposed municipal office-building is to be submitted to public competition, Mr. Cook's advice should determine the terms of the competition and the method of award. On the other hand, if it is advisable, as is frequently the case, that an architect should be commissioned to design a particular buildings, because of his peculiar availability for that particular job, Mr. Cook would know the name of the man who ought to be selected. His duties, consequently, will be much more positive than those of the Municipal Art Commission. The Art Commission can prevent the erection of architectural excrescences or aberrations by the City of New York, but it can do nothing to bring about the design of really beautiful and appropriate buildings. Mr. Walter Cook, on the other hand, if the Board of Estimate takes his advice as seriously as it would that of the Corporation Counsel in a matter of law, should be able to bring about the erection of a much better average of city building than that which now obtains. His appointment is one of the most praiseworthy and promising actions that any Board of Estimate has ever taken in reference to the important matter of good municipal architecture.

ONE of the first unofficial but manifestly not unauthorized reports from the headquarters of the Public Service Commission is that some of its members are inclined to permit the addition of a through third track on the Second and Third Ave. elevated structures. The representative on the commission from the Bronx is stated to be very much in favor of this means of relief, and his associates are of much the same mind. They will not grant the required [illegible] under stringent conditions protecting the [illegible] interests, but they are not so unequivocally opposed such an improved service on the elevated roads as was former Rapid Transit Commission. The report is an teresting one, inasmuch as it indicates that the new commission has its attention fixed, not on any intention of twisting the tail of the corporation lion, but on the actual improvement of the public service; and it remains to be seen whether they can persuade the Interborough Co. to add a through third track to its structures on the East Side on any terms which are acceptable to the commission. The objection to the grant of this required permission has always been that such an express service would diminish the traffic on an East Side subway, and consequently the value of the lease of such a subway. Furthermore, the fact that the elevated roads enjoy perpetual franchises naturally makes our public authorities loth to add to the value of this enduring source of private profit at the public expense. It is suggested that both of these objections would be overcome, provided the right to operate this express service on the East Side did not extend beyond the year in which the proposed East Side subway was put into operation, and such, indeed, would undoubtedly be the case. If the Interborough Company will consent to lay the tracks and operate the service on condition that it will cease such operation as soon as a subway express service on the East Side can be installed, the city could well afford to permit such an increase in the trackage of the elevated roads. Neither would it be fair under such conditions to charge much for the privilege. Inasmuch as it would only run for a few years, and as the expense of introducing the new service would be considerable, the city would be justified in obtaining its compensation for the franchise in the increased convenience of the inhabitants of Harlem and the Bronx. It remains to be seen whether an arrangement can be made on this or any similar basis. The radical opponents of the idea of third-tracking the elevated structures on the East Side should remember that the arguments in favor of such an improvement on the ground of imperative public necessity has become very much stronger, now that the construction of the new subways has been indefinitely postponed.

The Telephone Monopoly.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE is in receipt of the following letter from a reader, who prefers to withhold his name:

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I have read, with much interest and in the main with accord, your article of June 22d on the telephone situation, as quoted in the Evening Post a few days ago. But there is one question which you leave untouched. Granted that telephoning is, like the mail, a monopoly by necessity, and that another company in New York simply means, as in other cities, two telephones for each subscriber, what guarantee have we that when we have entrenched the present company in the monopoly by keeping out its rival, it will not take advantage of us? Human nature exists in corporations as well as persons. Lincoln said that no man is ever good enough to govern another man without the other man's consent. So it may be said, no corporation is ever good enough to have a monopoly with the public's consent. If it gives bad service, or exacts unreasonable rates, or refuses to adopt improvements which will conduce to better service or lower rates, where will be our remedy? The reduction of rates last year was not out of any love for its subscribers, but from fear of competitors.

I do not want either the expense or nuisance of two telephones in my office or house. I have no grievance against the present company. It has always treated me well. It has listened to any complaint I had to make, and has acted reasonably. I am quite content with it. But I much fear that things will be very different if it has no cause to fear a rival. If you can devise any means which will prevent it from acting like the camel, who after getting its nose into its owner's tent finally got its body in, and its owner out, you will be a public benefactor, and the public would then be unanimous in keeping all rival companies out of New York.

The obvious answer to our correspondent's question is, that in return for the recognition by the city of a monopoly of the telephone business, the telephone company must submit to the most complete and the most stringent regulation of its charges and service by authorized public officials. Such is the policy that has been adopted in all foreign countries, and such is the policy which is gradually commending itself to the more intelligent and well-informed American political leaders. The United States is the only country in the world which still seeks to use competition as an effective means of safeguarding the public interest in relation to public services that belong to the clearly distinguished class of natural monopolies. But while insisting that the public interest is rather betrayed than promoted by the encouragement of competition in relation to such services, the Record and Guide does not disguise from itself that mere regulation is not necessarily, and under existing conditions, a wholly satisfactory method of protecting the public interest. It might have been satisfactory in case a proper contract had, in the first instance, been made between the telephone company and the city—in case, that is, a monopoly had been granted for a limited term of years, under certain specific conditions, as to rates, service, and the relation between rates and earnings. But the extremely advantageous position enjoyed by the telephone company in respect to its franchise and the like, undoubtedly tends to make it feel too independent and secure, unless threatened by the danger of actual competition. The best method of keeping such a corporation alive to the real precariousness of its situation, is to keep the threat of competition always over its head. Just as the city is authorized by the rapid transit law to construct and operate subways, in case a proper contract cannot be secured from private corporations, so it should be authorized to construct and operate a telephone system in case the telephone company does not offer a satisfactory service at a fair price. Furthermore, in order that this threat should be effective, the telephone service should be supervised by expert officials, with full information as to the rates and service prevailing in other American cities, and with full powers of obtaining exact knowledge about the details of the telephone service in New York City. We have never quite been able to understand why Governor Hughes did not place the telephone company, together with the other public service corporations, under the supervision of the Public Utilities Commission; but as long as he did not the local officials should appeal to the Legislature for the necessary powers. It is extremely probable that if such powers were granted, the city could, in return for an express monopoly, for a period of thirty years, exact terms from the telephone company which would secure good service, cheap rates, and perhaps, a certain public revenue. Once, however, another franchise is granted, chaos will be substituted for order in the telephone service and all possibility of the ultimate reduction of rates to the public will be precluded by the necessity of paying interest on the enormous and wholly unnecessary amount of new capital which will be invested.

What They Have Done.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Dear Sir: Referring to the statement by Mr. Edward J. Murray in your last issue, that "Assembly bill 2706, which has passed the Legislature and probably would not have been vetoed by the Mayor but for the vigilance of a few wideawake members of our property owners' associations," I beg to say that while this statement may be true—and I have no means of disproving it—yet in so far as it conveys the impression that the associations referred to were the only ones which opposed this bill, it is incorrect.

In a written communication to the Mayor I set forth the objections of this organization to the bill in question and urged that he veto the same. The measure referred to is one particularly obnoxious to private individuals operating steam-heating plants in their residences, and as many of the members of the Allied Real Estate Interests would be affected and would be compelled to hire licensed engineers for their own dwellings in case the bill became a law, it was clearly a matter in which this association was interested.

It may be proper in this connection to make a short statement for the benefit of your readers of what the Allied Real Estate Interests has done during the past winter in regard to legislative matters: All bills affecting real estate interests have been examined by the Law Committee and the Board of Directors of the association. The Law Committee, which has met each week during the legislative session, is composed of Walter Lindner, solicitor of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., chairman; Stanley W. Dexter, of the firm of Dexter, Osborn & Fleming; R. G. Baggage, solicitor of the United States Realty & Improvement Co.; Edward F. Clark, solicitor of the City Investing Co., and Middleton S. Borland, of Bowers & Sands.

These men are particularly well fitted for the careful and minute work required in examining legislative bills, and their report was referred each week to the directors, who, after considering each of the bills reported to them, instructed the executive officers of the association to take appropriate action. The Board of Directors is composed of the following amongst others: Edmund L. Baylies, Joseph L. Buttenweiser, Wm. H. Chesebrough, Stanley W. Dexter, Edward J. Hancy, Frederick M. Hilton, Randolph Hurry, Francis M. Jencks, Robert Goelet,

Alfred E. Marling, Allen L. Mordecai, Noah C. Rogers and B. Aymar Sands.

I am glad to say that no measure inimical to real estate interests has been passed by the late Legislature. This, of course, has not been due solely to the efforts of this association, but to the influence that has been brought to bear on the Legislature by various associations, including the Allied Real Estate Interests. The results obtained show the value of concentrated effort, and we hope that these organizations, engaged in legislative work of the kind referred to, will continue to work in harmony. So far as this association is concerned, we shall prosecute our work with the same diligence and thoroughness as in the past.

ALLAN ROBINSON, President.

The Housing Problem

By BOLTON HALL

I FIND that the demand for small apartments of two and three rooms, without kitchen, is steadily increasing, and that even now there is no adequate supply. From inquiries among prominent builders for the reason why more such apartments are not put up, I learn that the extra expense in putting in the plumber work and partitions deters them from building such apartments, because the selling price appears high, when the house is put in the market, and they think it cannot be well explained to buyers.

Urquhart & Kirkpatrick report that there is, however, a movement at present among builders of Washington Heights toward three and four rooms, without kitchen, instead of four, five and six rooms as formerly.

Many persons now live in rooms or lodgings, eat light lunches, and get their principal meals at cheap restaurants or boarding tables. This shows both the increasing pressure for places to live at minimum expense, and the resourcefulness of the American people; but there seems to be at present no permanent solution of the difficulty. Suburban lands are held so high, and transportation costs so much in money and time, that we must look for increased congestion and economies for some time to come.

The housing problem is acute in many cities beside New York. Thousands of workers ride out of Schenectady every night to crowded quarters in other towns who ought to have comfortable homes near their work; and the same conditions exist in other factory towns.

If our villagers and rural communities would assess their lands up to full value, as required by law, there would, it is true, be a temporary lull in their vacant land booms; but it would open up the country to thousands of pepole who would bring business to these small communities. Not only would the acute congestion of the cities be relieved but some of those who become suburbanites would keep on until they went "back to the land", increased their earning power and the national wealth, and thus benefited again the cities.

For a poor, overcrowded population, while it may raise values in slum districts, will not add to the total city land values as will a prosperous population spread over the city and in nearby suburbs.

New Jersey-New York Real Estate Exchange.

New Jersey real estate men have determined to wage an aggressive campaign in behalf of New Jersey property, and with that object in view they have organized and incorporated the "New Jersey-New York Real Estate Exchange." The meeting at which this action was taken was held at the office of President Doolittle, of the El Mora Land Company, on July 9. A large number of representative real estate firms and dealers were present to listen to the report of the committee on the constitution. The name of the new Exchange caused considerable debate, the word "New York" being added to the title to denote that the headquarters would be located in Manhattan, and that in New York City was to be found the capital that was required for exploiting the great property interests on the other side of the Hudson River. With a few changes the report was adopted, and the constitution will come up for ratification at another meeting to be held on Tuesday afternoon, July 16.

The constitution declares that the objects of the Exchange are "to promote the interests of New Jersey real estate operators, brokers, builders and property owners by co-operation in the work of developing New Jersey and to maintain higher standards of personal and commercial honor among its members." It provides for maintaining Exchange rooms where auction sales will be held and the property of members listed for sale. Two classes of membership are established. Active members pay $25 dues and associate members pay $10.

That the new Exchange means to be a vital factor in the real estate field of New Jersey was shown at this first regular meeting, where a resolution was passed for holding a great public demonstration, accompanied by a banquet to commemorate the opening of the McAdoo tunnel and the establishment of Exchange. The Governor of New Jersey, the Mayors and Supervisors of all its cities and towns, the presidents and managers of all New Jersey railroads are to be invited. The subject of this proposed monster celebration caused enthusiasm, and it was agreed that it would have to be the great red-letter day in the history of New Jersey.

Another motion that was adopted approved the efforts of Governor Stokes to secure for New Jersey the Vanderbilt Automobile Cup Race, which the Exchange asked that it be run over some suitable course nearest to New York City.

The chairman appointed committees on permanent headquarters, on an Exchange emblem and on incorporation. They will report to the next meeting to be held at Mr. Doolittle's office on July 16.

Obituary.

JOHN P. KANE.

A FIGURE prominent in the lines of business which are devoted to the structural development of this city has been removed by the death of Mr. John P. Kane. Presumably these words will be read in the main by men acquainted with Mr. Kane's activities, there need be no intention here to do more than note the very great regret with which the announcement of his death was received and the success which attended his business career. His demise occurred at his country home "Interbane," at Huntington, L. I., on the night of July 8, 1907. Mr. Kane's illness dates from last November, when he suffered a stroke of apoplexy, from which he did not wholly recover; and he did not again take up the thread of business life, but retired after a time from the city to the quietude of his estate at Huntington, where he hoped his health would be fully restored. But instead came a relapse about three weeks ago, from which time he slowly sank into the arms of death.

MR. JOHN P. KANE.

As the head of the John P. Kane Company, one of the largest houses in the trade of building materials, Mr. Kane had a business reputation not limited by the boundaries of the city. He was in the 58th year of his age, having been born October 10, 1849—at Canaan, Grafton County, New Hampshire. He completed his education at the academy at Petersburg, Va., and in his nineteenth year came to New York and entered the employ of the building material firm of W. J. & J. S. Peck. In the year 1879 the firm of Canda & Kane was formed, with Mr. Kane as the junior partner. It grew mainly through Mr. Kane's efforts into a very large business, with branches in different parts of the metropolitan district. The present corporation dates from 1893. The main office is at the northeast corner of 22d st and 4th av, and the yards are at the foot of East 14th st, at the foot of West 96th st, and on the Harlem River at 145th st. Mr. Kane being the president of the corporation, his eldest son, John P., Jr., was vice-president and Mr. William E. Beattie secretary. The business will be carried on under the same name and in the same manner as heretofore, with John P. Kane, Jr., in his father's place, and with the same efficient staff.

Much could be related in particular terms concerning the magnitude and scope of the business activities of Mr. Kane. He was not only a dealer and distributor of masons' materials, but also a manufacturer of Portland cement, with works at Catskill, N. Y., the product of which was called the "Trowel Brand." The contract for furnishing all the cement needed in the New York Subway was awarded to Mr. Kane, and a list of other public works and monumental buildings for which he furnished all the masons' materials would be very long, and it would include such buildings as the Public Library, most of the Carnegie library buildings in this city, the Hall of Records, the new Custom House, the Stock Exchange, the New York Life Building, the Subway Power House, the Tiffany, Gorham and Altman buildings on 5th av, and many skyscraper buildings.

Mr. Kane had been president of the Building Material Exchange and a member of the Mechanics & Traders' Society, and of the Manhattan, Colonial, Democratic, Larchmont and other clubs. He was also a valued member of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, at Broadway and 71st st, where the funeral service was held on Friday morning at ten o'clock, by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Taylor, assisted by the Rev. J. C. York, of Huntington, in the presence of a large congregation. The Association of the Ex-Clerks in Masons' Materials was represented by a delegation of pallbearers specially appointed, namely, Messrs. Nathan Peck, John A. Hardenbrook, Wright D. Goss, Frank E. Wise, William H. Barnes, Jr., and John McNamara, John B. Rose.

In his personal associations, as well as in his business relations, Mr. Kane was highly esteemed. He had the faculty of attaching many loyal friends, and his principal employees had been with him for many years—Mr. Beattie for twenty-three, and Mr. Rose for twenty-one. He had a residence in the city and a beautiful estate of thirty acres at Huntington. His son, John P. Kane, Jr., a graduate of Harvard, has been vice-president of the company for five years. In the large circles of business and society in which Mr. Kane moved there is profound regret at his death while he was yet in the prime of life and in the midst of his largest activities.

Residential Advantages of Northern New Jersey.

ONE who carefully scans the real estate advertising columns of the newspapers nowadays cannot but be impressed with the number of New Jersey properties being presented to the public to-day. It is an evident fact that Jersey property must be in demand, otherwise so many thousand of dollars would not be expended annually to exploit this territory. What is there, therefore, which prompts this demand and accounts for the popularity this section has experienced? The topography of Manhattan Island itself is mainly responsible for this. People coming to New York from outlying sections of Westchester County are becoming tired of the congestion, which is steadily becoming worse instead of better, in the traffic arrangements of the various railroads which bring them into the Grand Central Station.

With the continued increase in population in the outlying districts to the north of the city, the demand for passenger accommodations becomes greater year by year. The time has arrived when the commuter, traveling over any one of the various lines running into the Grand Central Station, has become habituated to frequent delays of from fifteen to thirty minutes, most of which is consumed between 125th and 42d sts, and in many instances is spent in the none-too-agreeable, poorly-lighted, illy-ventilated tunnel. The steadily increasing land values in the 42d st section prohibits the acquirement of additional space necessary to handle the constantly growing in and outgoing from the Grand Central Station. The resources of the railroad companies, therefore, already taxed to their utmost, are being more severely drawn upon year after year.

Realizing, therefore, that it is virtually impossible to improve this condition of affairs but little, if any, many investors are turning Jerseyward. They appreciate the fact that there is no limit to the means of communication between New Jersey and New York. With tunnels under the river, ferries across it and bridges overhead, transportation facilities can easily be made to keep pace with the requirements of the increasing population. It is unquestionably sure that these various modes of travel will be augmented as the demands arise. The resident of Northern New Jersey, therefore, is always assured of rapid transit to the city no matter which route is followed, and delays become unknown. Another point of equal importance is that he can find a desirable home much nearer the city than the one who favors Westchester County.

This statement is easily verified when taking the Grand Central Station as the centre of a circle. Within a radius of five miles will be found suburban communities such as "Grantwood," "Palisade," "Morsemere," "Leonia," "Bogota," "Englewood," and others of great attractiveness, fully improved and carefully restricted. Five miles north from the Grand Central Station one is still within the congested city districts. Therefore, to find anything comparable to these properties by traveling out of the Grand Central Station it is necessary to journey at least three times the distance, with the consequent very heavy increase in the cost of transportation, which plays no small part in the living expenses of the commuter, to say nothing of the time consumed.

We believe enough has been said to explain the rapid growth of the Northern New Jersey section to which is due the immense gain in property values. Of this large tract the greatest demand for homes and building sites is along the Palisades. We refer more particularly to that section from about opposite 95th st, New York, northward. Separated from New York only by the Hudson River, it was the first locality to be opened up and, as a result, many very desirable investments have been made and handsome profits realized by those who did not allow themselves to be influenced by the prejudice existing against New Jersey a few years ago.

Along Riverside Drive lots facing the river range from $25,000 to $100,000 each, while directly opposite are more highly restricted localities, with all improvements, commanding a view of nearly all of Manhattan Island, where lots may be had for from $1,000 to $3,500 each. Is such a wide disparity in prices warranted by real values? Certainly transportation is not wholly responsible for this remarkable realty. The projected bridge across the Hudson will form a main artery and will connect Manhattan with Northern New Jersey, affording rapid transit facilities which will bring this section even nearer, in point of time, than it is at the present moment. That such a bridge will be built is generally believed, but Northern New Jersey is not dependent on this project for its popularity. Regardless of the bridge, it will continue to grow in population and in favor by those who seek home life amid country surroundings without being obliged to devote several hours each day in coming from and going to their homes.

Water-Meter Troubles.

AN INJUNCTION AGAINST THE DEPARTMENT.

At the regular meeting of the House and Real Estate Owners' Association of the 12th and 19th Wards of the City of New York, held at Turn Hall on Friday evening, the announcement of the action of the New York City Railway Co. in discontinuing the operation of horse cars on 1st av on Wednesday last, was received with general satisfaction. No little credit, however, is due the chairman of the railroad committee of that association through whose untiring efforts this movement has been hastened. About seven years ago the street railway people through the assistance of the real estate association secured the consent of property owners in that section for a change of motive power on 1st av from horse cars to electricity. The subsequent delay of the railroad company in not living up to the terms of its agreement became a matter of such concern to real estate interests along the route affected that drastic measures became necessary, and the intervention of both the Governor of the State and the Board of Aldermen was solicited, which has resulted in the discontinuance of horse car service on 1st av since June 10.

Chas. H. Schnelle, chairman of the railroad committee of the realty association, affirms that the present victory is solely traceable to the vigorous method pursued, and regards the recent action by the transit company as significant of an early compliance with the terms of the original agreement.

Another matter of importance which was brought to the attention of the meeting, was the recent decree handed down by the Supreme Court of New York County as the result of an action on appeal brought against Mary H. Smith, a property owner, by the Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity of the City of New York. The case in question was the result of an attempt on the part of the Water Commissioner to enforce a ruling of that department by compelling the installation of meters in stores in which there was no consumption of water for business purposes. In its decision the court ordered and adjudged: "That the defendant, John H. O'Brien, Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, his deputies and employees and all other persons acting under his orders and direction, do refrain and he and they are hereby perpetually restrained and enjoined from enforcing certain orders issued by the said defendant, and more fully described in the complaint in this action, and from entering upon the premises described in said complaint and placing water meters therein, or from in any manner cutting off or discontinuing the supply of water furnished to said premises, by reason of the failure of the plaintiff herein to comply with said orders."

The effect of this decision is far reaching and effectually settles a question of right which has been an element of discord for some months past.

Aids to Business Making.

A lucrative department of a real estate office is the leasing of tenement property entire. The expiration of these leases should be noted in the margin of the Record and Guide Quarterly in variously colored inks. Thus August written in red in the margin of the Quarterly of 1902 would mean that the lease expired August, 1907. Green would mean 1908, etc. This applies as well to lofts and stores. The owner of the property should be located in the Real Estate Directory.

Proposed Sailors' Home and Institute in New York.

The Old Sailors' Home, 190 Cherry st, a feature of the city's life for sixty-five years, was sold recently to the city to be used as an anchorage for the Manhattan Bridge. The Board of Trustees propose to meet the great need of the sailors by erecting a new Seamen's Institute on modern lines. The site is at the northeast corner of West and Jane sts, a plot 65x135 ft., immediately opposite the Cunard line dock. The scheme planned will afford rooms for about 250 men, this part modeled after the Mills Hotel. There will be a chapel, social, reading, writing, smoking and game rooms, banking-rooms, auditorium and club rooms, billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys, shower baths, swimming tank and restaurant. The cost of the site, building and furnishings, is estimated at about $325,000. Chas. A. Stoddard, D.D., is president; Norman Fox, D.D., vice-president; Rev. G. McPherson Hunter, secretary, and Clarence C. Pinneo, treasurer. Messrs. Boring & Tilton, of No. 32 Broadway, are now taking bids on the general construction. The office of the Seamen's Friend Society is at No. 76 Wall st. (See issues Feb. 24, 1906, April 21, 1906.)

What Inefficient Workmen Do.

The fall of a 4-sty reinforced concrete building, in course of construction at Philadelphia, is attributed to undue haste, and to the removal of supporting props too soon. Two men were killed outright and fifteen injured.

According to the sub-contractor, his foreman of carpenters ordered some of the supports removed from the roof girders. The workmen, declared to be Italians, to whom the English language was unintelligible, misunderstood the orders and knocked out every wooden beam.

Edwin Clark, Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection, gave his opinion that the physical construction was not of the best, and that the contractors had not allowed sufficient time for the concrete to form into a monolithic mass.

It looks like a plain case of poor workmanship. Even brick or structural steel will rebel when not treated right.

A more careful inspection of such constructions everywhere by building inspectors will probably be an effect of this accident, though in New York the Building Departments have always exercised great care where workmen were learning the new system.

Andrew J. Robinson Co. to Build 20-Story Building.

MAIDEN LANE.—General contract was awarded to the Andrew J. Robinson Company, on Saturday last, for the 20-sty office structure which Edward Holbrook, 6 East 52d st, president of the Gorham Manufacturing Co., is to erect at Nos. 15-17-19 Maiden lane, running through to 18-20-22 John st, to cost about $750,000. The materials in the facade will be limestone throughout the five lower floors, and above that brick and terra cotta. There will be seven elevators, one exclusively for freight, and an arcade extending through the centre of the building from street to street, making this the first arcade office building east of Broadway, and the tallest structure in Maiden lane. Five buildings are being demolished. (See issues April 27, 1907, May 11, 1907.)

A. R. Whitney, Jr., & Co. to Build Masonic Temple, Brooklyn.

LAFAYETTE AV.—The Brooklyn Masonic Guild has just awarded to A. R. Whitney, Jr., & Co., of 135 Broadway, the general contract to erect the new Masonic Temple, Brooklyn, to be situated on a plot at the northeast corner of Lafayette and Clermont avs, to cost in the neighborhood of $300,000. The power-house is to cost $72,000, the stable and help's quarters $54,000, and the mortuary chapel $21,000. All modern church improvements will be installed, the cost being estimated at about $75,000. Mr. Irving Cairns, of 57 Park st, Montclair, is chairman of the building committee. The Rev. H. E. Fosdick is pastor. No building contracts have yet been awarded.

533-535-537 WEST 48th STREET, NEW YORK

533-535-537 WEST 48th STREET
W. G. PIGUERON, Architect

On the 18th day of June, 1907, Commander Eva Booth, assisted by Col. Peart, Col. McIntyre, Brig. Parker and Brig. Barker, with impressive ceremonies, raised the "Salvation Army Standard" and dedicated this most interesting building.

Erected as it was for economic purposes, the collection of waste materials which are here reclaimed and sold for the benefit of the needy and the employment of many deserving poor in the remanufacturing it demonstrates the "Army" principle of thrift and frugality.

These same principles were admirably evinced in the selection of the design for the structure itself.

Standard Concrete-Steel Co.'s System M
(PATENTS PENDING)

was adopted after taking estimates on many other types of Building Construction as the one giving the greatest efficiency at the lowest cost.

The details of this building were described at length in the "Engineering Record," June 22, 1907.

STANDARD CONCRETE-STEEL CO.
415 East 31st Street, Manhattan

Aimers, 238 William st, the contract. The New York American Journal is lessee.

121ST ST.—The Reformed Low Dutch Church of Harlem will improve the 2-sty assembly and classrooms, No. 169 East 121st st, from plans by W. H. C. Hornum, 360 West 125th st. William Somerville, 317 East 122d st, has the contract.

Miscellaneous.

H. J. Hardenburgh, 1 West 34th st, Manhattan, is preparing plans for a physical laboratory for Princeton University, to cost $500,000.

FORT SLOCUM.—Sealed proposals will be received July 15 for construction, plumbing, steam heating and electric wiring for two company barracks. Address Capt. F. C. Jewell, Q. M.

General contract has just been awarded to A. R. Whitney, Jr., & Co., 135 Broadway, Manhattan, for the new State Bank building to be erected at Hartford, Conn. Benj. W. Morris, 5 West 31st st, is the architect. Estimated cost, about $150,000.

Albert Swasey, No. 40 West 33d st, Manhattan, architect, is preparing plans for a villa whose walls, partitions and roof will be of compressed opalescent glass, of a faint cream color. The structure is to be built at Beechhurst, Long Island, for U. Parker Woodbury, of No. 44 Pine st, Manhattan.

Sketches are being drawn by Architect Raymond F. Almirall, 51 Chambers st, for a 4-sty public library to be erected by the city on Park Plaza, Brooklyn. The building will be 450x300 ft., and the cost is estimated in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. It will be some time yet before plans are ready for figures.

The Board of Water Supply, New York, will receive bids until August 6 for the construction of the Ashokan dam, which, when completed, will be one of the largest in the country. The dam will be about 1,000 ft. long and 196 ft. thick at the base. It will be situated near Brown's Station in the Catskills, and will take several years to build.

Two of the most beautiful structures in the vicinity of New York are to be found in Newark, N. J. One of these is the recently completed Court House, while the other is the new building being erected for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company and upon which work is being pushed to rapid completion. Both buildings are constructed of South Dover white marble.

It was learned on Friday that in all probability operations will soon be commenced for the new railroad terminal which the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. is to establish on the site of the old car stables, bounded by 4th av, 32d and 33d sts. It was also learned upon very good authority that the project will cover two blocks easterly from 4th to 3d avs, instead of from 4th to Lexington avs, as was previously announced. This will give the railroad company a site about 190x830 ft. The whole property is now covered with stables, 3 and 4-sty tenements and a studio building. (See issues Nov. 10, 1906, Dec. 26, 1906, Feb. 16, 1907.)

STANTON ST.—Radcliffe & Kelley, 3 West 29th st, have completed plans for the temporary stable, 200x60 ft., which the Bradley Construction Co., North River and 68th st, will erect on the block front north side of Stanton st, between Mangin and Tompkins sts, to cost $15,000. Common brick will be used, and one building will be demolished. The Bradley Company is composed of Frank Bradley, president; James Bradley, vice-president, and William Bradley, treasurer.

201ST ST.—The New York Edison Company are not ready to give particulars of the power-house it is to erect in 201st st, as it is stated that plans have not matured enough to warrant it. The officers of the company admit, however, that the plant will necessarily be a large one, and may vie in size with the Waterside Station which was recently completed. It is stated that the machinery details have not been worked out as yet, and it will be some weeks before the larger part of the buying will be begun, although some of the larger equipment has been practically decided upon. It is probable that by fall the trade will begin to reap the benefit of the company's proposed plant.

Where Building is Greatest.

Money is more plentiful than at any time during the last year, due to the greater confidence in the business world generally, and in Wall st particularly. The effect of this loosening up in the money market has already been seen in the large amount invested along the Brooklyn subway route. Not even when the first move for the subway was made and property changed hands twice a day, was there more general activity than has been seen during the last week. Row after row of stores and flats are being erected in the district, from 39th st to Bath av, along New Utrecht av, and the building boom on the intersecting streets all through Borough Park, Homewood and Lefferts Park is only to be compared with the vast amount of construction that has been going on for the last three years in the Bay Ridge district, where new buildings are to be counted by the score and the hundred.

BUILDING NOTES

A superintendent desires a position with a contractor or architect. See Wants and Offers.

G. W. Smith, manufacturer of fireproof clothes-drying frames, for apartment houses and hotels, has moved his office and plant to 542 West 127th st.

The United States Civil Service Commission will hold an examination in the large cities of the country, July 17 and 18, of candidates for the position of aid in the coast and geodetic survey.

The purchasing department of the Hudson Companies, 111 Broadway, has inquiries out for about $50,000 worth of air compressors, to be installed in the large terminal in course of construction in Church st, from Fulton to Cortlandt sts, New York.

Henry B. Haigh and John MacCormack have resigned as president and 2d vice-president, respectively, and their interests in the Engineer Company have been absorbed by Embury McLean. Mr. MacCormack will engage independently in the manufacture of his stoker, the Engineer Company having relinquished to him its rights in his patents.

The Underhill Brick Co. has been notified that the McAdoo terminal building is ready for the Croton brick, and the first shipment from the works for this operation has been made. In all about one hundred million Hudson River brick will be utilized in this building, and all except the Croton will be purchased as needed, or as the market favors. The Crotons, which will be used for the fronts, have been ordered from the Underhill Company to the extent of about four hundred thousand.

Points on the Material Market.

A marked advance in the requirement for roofing slate, and it is believed the season will be a prosperous one for dealers.

Hudson River common brick, under a large demand, recovered some lost ground this week, and on Wednesday was quoted at $6.75-$7 by the cargo to dealers.

The demand locally for iron bars continues of small proportions, and the trade seems to have taken on a waiting attitude. Prices, however, are firm at 1.81 to 1.86c. tidewater.

The structural iron trade is one of the busy ones this season. This will make three successive fat years for the line, and so far there has been no public labor trouble this season.

Brooklyn and Queens are beginning to call for much material of certain kinds. There is much building on the line of the projected 4th av subway in the Bay Ridge section.

A number of plans that were held up since last year are now being brought forward, which is indicative of better monetary conditions than prevailed when the plans were filed.

There has been no feature to the local copper market so far this week and consumers continue to maintain their waiting attitude. Dealers say that a new basis on contracts may be expected at any time now.

President Mellen, of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, is quoted as advocating a policy of cost freight rates on raw materials to industries which need fostering in order that they may compete successfully with similar establishments more favorably located.

The market for tin plates is strong under a heavy demand for all positions. Mills are working to capacity and have sufficient business on their books to keep them busy for some time. Prices of raw materials are high and mills are experiencing great difficulty in securing supplies. Premiums are easily obtainable for prompt shipment.

There is no letup to the demand for steel and it is estimated that the structural work now pending is close to 50,000 tons, about as much as there has ever been since the beginning of the year. It is thought that the various mills are not very anxious to book new business at present, owing to the period of summer shutdown, which is now coming on.

Making the Public Library Safe.

Up to date 320,000 square feet of terra cotta hollow tile has been supplied by the National Fireproofing Company for the New York Public Library at Fifth av and 42d st. Of the 320,000 square feet of hollow tile already supplied 237,000 feet are for floors, 29,000 for partitions, and 54,000 are book tile for the roof. There is still a great deal more of the fire-resisting material to be supplied, for column coverings, furring and more partitions.

The Index to Volume LXXIX. of the Record and Guide, covering the period between January 1 to June 30, 1907, will be ready for delivery on Thursday, July 18, 1907. Price $1. This Index in its enlarged form is recognized as very necessary to every one engaged or interested in real estate and building operations. It covers all transactions—deeds, mortgages, leases, auction sales, building plans filed, etc. Orders for the Index should be sent at once to the office of publication, 11-15 East 24th St.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

With a few exceptions, the private sales market for the past week has quieted down to commonplace transactions, but notwithstanding the present inactivity, it can be said with a reasonable degree of assurance that the underlying feeling is one of confidence in the continued firmness of values, especially in the sections affected by the gradual encroachment of business. With respect to a revival of building operations as relating to the construction of flats in the Prospect av neighborhood of the Bronx, it is known that builders are seriously considering the advisability of erecting apartments in that locality containing 4 rooms and bath, which experience is proving are more readily rented than those containing larger accommodations. Moreover, brokers affirm that flats of this type can be disposed of to better advantage and in much less time than it now takes to conclude sales of the prevailing style of apartments. Among the deals of interest in middle Manhattan is the purchase by a syndicate of a plot in West 57th st east of 6th av, upon which is to be erected a 12-sty co-operative apartment house. The operation, if carried out as planned, will be distinctive in that each apartment is to be sold outright, none being reserved for rental purposes. In 38th st between 5th and 6th avs, the recent purchase by Arthur Brisbane of an additional building gives the buyer a plot susceptible to greater improvement, thereby adding materially to the value of both parcels. On the upper West Side the sale of the "Fremont" on 94th st, as well as that of the "Valencia Court," illustrates the growing demand for elevator apartments west of Broadway. Over in the Bronx, besides the purchase of many small dwellings, the market in that section was featured by the sale of a considerable number of lots in the Arden tract. The total number of private sales is 60, of which 18 were below 59th st, 20 above and 22 in the Bronx.

Semi-Annual Report of the Lawyers Mortgage Company, July 1st, 1907

To the Board of Directors:

The leading financial feature of the past six months has been the marked effect of continued high interest rates in checking speculation in stocks and in lowering the price of railroad bonds. During this period the stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange exhibit a shrinkage of over $3,000,000,000, while railroad bonds have become almost unsalable.

Under these financial conditions it might naturally be inferred that sales of Guaranteed Mortgages would diminish. The fact that the sales of Guaranteed Mortgages by the Lawyers Mortgage Company during the past six months have equalled the sales of the similar periods in 1905 and 1906 demonstrates that as prices of stocks and bonds drop investors turn to securities which involve no loss of principal.

The total sales of Guaranteed Mortgages by the Lawyers Mortgage Company during the past six months amount to $12,105,512; the net increase in outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages amounts to $5,888,821, and the present amount of outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages is $60,342,971.

The comparative figures for recent years are as follows:

The large net increase in outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages in the past six months is but little reflected in the earnings for that period but will show in future earnings. No commissions are earned when mortgages are sold, the Company's half per cent. annual profit coming only as time elapses.

UNEARNED PREMIUMS.

In addition to the cash earnings are the Unearned Premiums, which consist of the Company's contracted profit of one-half per cent. per annum on outstanding mortgages from the date of this statement to the maturity of the mortgages. These future profits which are not carried as assets have increased as follows:

|---|---|
| Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1903 | $103,555 |
| Unearned Premiums, Jan. 1st, 1904 | 149,257 |

ASSETS AND LIABILITIES.

| Company's Brooklyn Bldg., cost | 175,000.00 |

LIABILITIES:

| Surplus | 1,750,000.00 |
| Undivided Profits | 94,222.94 |
| Mortgages sold, not delivered | 407,555.52 |
| | $4,751,778.46 |

Since the increase in the Company's capital in March, 1903, Dividends have been paid to Stock holders amounting to $775,000, in addition to which $411,222 has been added to Surplus or Undivided Profits, making total net earnings in about four years of $1,186,222. In addition to these earnings, the net increase in Unearned Premiums from January 1st, 1903, to July 1st, 1907, amounts to $605,642.

The Assets and Liabilities of the Company were verified and its accounts were examined as of June 30, 1907, by THE AUDIT COMPANY OF NEW YORK, the latter certifying to the correctness of the statement of Assets and Liabilities and to the Earnings, Expenses and Dividends of the first six months of the year 1907, as reported herein.

The Company continues to rigidly adhere to the limitations which it has imposed to safeguard its business.

These restrictions enforced only by the Lawyers Mortgage Company are as follows:

First: THE TOTAL OUTSTANDING GUARANTEED MORTGAGES ARE LIMITED TO TWENTY TIMES THE CAPITAL AND SURPLUS OF THE COMPANY. To render this limitation practically irrevocable the following amendment to By-Law VIII., providing as above, has been passed: "This Article shall not be amended or repealed except with the written consent, duly acknowledged, of the holders of all the policies of mortgage insurance then outstanding issued by the Company." (This is the accepted European standard, whose safety has been demonstrated by 140 years of successful experience.)

Second: THE PROFITS OF THE COMPANY ON GUARANTEED MORTGAGES ARE LIMITED TO ONE-HALF PER CENT. PER ANNUM. (A similar limitation is required by law of European Mortgage Companies and removes the temptation to accept doubtful loans for the sake of larger profits.)

Third: THE LOANS OF THE COMPANY ARE LIMITED TO THE BOROUGHS OF MANHATTAN, BROOKLYN AND THE BRONX. (No loans made in adjoining suburban territory.)

Fourth: THE LOANS OF THE COMPANY ARE LIMITED TO SELECTED AND WELL-BUILT-UP DISTRICTS IN THESE BOROUGHS. (No loans made in undeveloped districts or near nuisances.)

Fifth: THE LOANS OF THE COMPANY ARE LIMITED TO INCOME-PRODUCING BUSINESS OR RESIDENCE PROPERTY. (No loans made on vacant land, churches, factories, theatres, or any special utilization.)*

The effectiveness of these limitations in safeguarding the Company's mortgage investments is clearly evidenced by the continuance of the Company's clean record in the matter of delinquent interest and foreclosures. During the past six months the Company has foreclosed but one mortgage (amount $8,000), which has not yet come to sale. The Company owns no foreclosed real estate and has interest more than one month delinquent of only $837. It is believed that the Company's record as to delinquent interest and foreclosures will bear comparison with the records of the Savings Banks or any other class of most conservative investors.

During the past half year the Company has purchased from The Mortgage-Bond Company of New York the remaining half interest in the property 186 Montague street, Brooklyn. In view of the growing business of the Company in Brooklyn it was deemed wise to acquire this property in order to insure the permanency of the present location of the Company's Brooklyn office.

While the policy long adopted by the Company of making a uniform charge of one-half per cent. per annum for its guarantee and services relieves the Company of any direct concern in changes in interest rates, it is interesting to note that the average interest rate on all mortgages sold by the Company advances but slowly, this average rate being in 1903, 4.30%; in 1904, 4.40%; in 1905, 4.40%; in 1906, 4.45%; and for the first half of 1907, 4.60%.

The sound principles on which the Lawyers Mortgage Company conducts its business and the unequalled publicity with which it reveals every detail of its business, have won the confidence of the most cautious investors in New York, and form the basis of the steady increase in its outstanding Guaranteed Mortgages.

More and more are all investors—large and small, skilled and unskilled—coming to realize the advantages of being both protected from all possibility of loss and relieved of all care of watching their investments.

The Mortgage Tax law of 1906, under which all mortgages recorded after July 1, 1906, are exempt from personal taxation, has led to the shifting of many millions of dollars of trust funds from taxable low rate bonds into tax-exempt guaranteed mortgages.

It may fairly be said that New York City Mortgages, selected by an experienced company, specifically secured by income-producing business or residence property, with a large margin of security and further guaranteed by a Company of $4,250,000 of Capital and Surplus, give the greatest combination of security and return offered to investors.

RICHARD M. HURD, President.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

A position in a real estate office is sought by a young man. (See Wants and Offers.)

Mr. Chas. F. Noyes of Chas. F. Noyes & Co., 92 William st, Manhattan, has just returned from abroad after a two months' vacation.

Mr. Horace C. Phinney, formerly of the firm of Phinney & Corsa, 198 Broadway, has removed to 1133 Broadway, where he will continue the real estate brokerage business.

Louis Klinger, formerly of Rubinger, Klinger & Co., and Simon Russek have incorporated the Russek & Klinger Realty Company, with offices in the Germania Bank Building, at Spring st and the Bowery.

The Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Co., 175 Remsen st, Brooklyn, announces a quarterly dividend of three per cent., payable August 15, 1907, to stockholders of record at the close of business August 10, 1907.

The "Riverdale," a new apartment house at Riverside Drive and 79th st, will be ready for occupancy September 15. For apartments of from seven to ten rooms with three baths rates of $2,000 to $3,000 per annum will be asked.

The manager of the Bronx office of L. J. Phillips & Co., 786 Prospect av, is of the opinion that the lull in building as affecting the Prospect section of the Bronx, is a welcome condition, and will have the effect of stimulating the sales market in the fall.

James C. Fox, of Fredk. Fox & Co., Broadway and 34th st, Manhattan, is of the opinion that the silk trade will eventually swarm in the vicinity of 26th st and west of 5th av. In support of this theory he refers to the recent decision of the American Silk Co., which resulted in its leasing offices in the southerly part of the Brunswick Building on 5th av.

O. Hollister, of the real estate office of G. T. Hollister, 1282 Lexington av, says that rentals of 6-room apartments from 80th to 90th sts range from $30 to $34. He further calls attention to the fact that present vacancies in that locality are attributable to the usual summer exodus. Mr. Hollister maintains that values are still firm in the district in question, but that very few sales are being consummated.

A rumor was in circulation among real estate brokers this week to the effect that the Cooper interests had entered into a contract for the sale of the block front on the easterly side of 4h av, between 27th and 28th sts. It was said that a syndicate contemplates improving the site by erecting a large loft building thereon. Upon inquiry at the Cooper offices, all knowledge of dealings looking to the disposal of the property was positively denied. The buildings on the block in question are two and three stories in height. The old frame affair at the southeast corner of 4th av and 28th st is famous as the early domicile of Peter Cooper.

THE AUCTION MARKET

The rather slim attendance at the auction sales during the week is partly attributable to the nature of the offerings. On Monday, Nos. 1990 and 1994 Amsterdam av, southwest corner of 159th st, 66.7x150, two 6-sty tenements, with stores, were knocked down by Auctioneer Joseph P. Day to the plaintiff in a foreclosure action for $148,000. Nos. 2004 and 2006 Amsterdam av, also 6-sty tenements, were struck off to the same plaintiff, Maurice Cohen, for $100,000.

On Tuesday, D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co. sold No. 24 Bowery, a 3-sty building, 35.2x70.6, extending to Chestnut st, for $19,200, the purchaser being Martin T. Garvey. At the stand of Joseph P. Day, No. 210 West 29th st, three 2-sty brick tenements, 24.10x98.9, were purchased in a partition sale by William Nelson for $21,650. At another sale of the same character the Wilkes Construction Company succeeded in obtaining the property No. 219 West 49th st, a 4-sty brick dweling, 20.8x100.5, for $41,000, considered a satisfactory figure. On Wednesday three parcels were bought in by plaintiffs in foreclosure actions, including a vacant plot 50x99.11, on the north side of 146th st, 350 ft. west of Amsterdam av, which was secured by H. L. Lederer for $20,000. At the stand of Samuel Goldsticker, No. 16 East 78th st, a 4-sty brick dwelling, 17x102.2, brought in foreclosure the round sum of $57,700, the successful bidder being John Reid.

At Auctioneer Day's stand on Thursday among other offerings was a vacant plot, 66x135.2, on the north side of 180th st, 66 ft. west of Crotona av. The parcel was struck off to Hugo Cohn at $7,250. Four lots, each 25x100, on the east side of Balcom av, 150 ft. north of 171st st, were knocked down by Bryan L. Kennelly to E. F. Shubert for $2,120.

Aids to Business Making.

The day of the peddler of real estate in New York is past. Today the business of Real Estate is a science, and Fortune is on the side of the man with the best records. Note the plants of all the successful offices. Nine hundred and ninety-nine times out of every thousand the plant of the successful office has as its foundation the Record & Guide Weekly, the Record & Guide Quarterly and the Real Estate Directory.

Building Records.

Building operations in Manhattan during the second quarter of the year fell short in amount seven million dollars below the record of the corresponding quarter in 1906, and about 200 less in number of buildings. Less than one-half the number of tenement houses were projected, but now that the money market is better disposed toward speculative builders, they are becoming active again.

There were but 608 new buildings planned in the months from January to July, as against 1,070 last year, at a total cost of but $47,529,060, as against $73,342,380 in 1906.

The following table will show the situation for the first six months, as compared with a similar period in 1906:

Publishing Houses Moving Uptown.

There are indications that a considerable number of publishing houses will locate in the Pennsylvania section before many months will have elapsed. It is known that brokers are at present conducting negotiations for downtown clients with this end in view. Several of the larger concerns have already acquired plots in that locality with the ultimate purpose of erecting loft buildings for their own occupancy. Among the number is the McGraw Publishing Company, of 114 Liberty st, which is now improving its plot on the north side of 39th st, between 7th and 8th avs, with a 10-sty structure of reinforced concrete. The progress of the building is being closely watched by specialists, as the success of the undertaking will exert an important influence on succeeding operations of that character.

SUBURBAN.

George Mariamson sold to the George M. Fleischman Co. 12 acres at Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., for immediate improvement.

George R. Read & Co. sold for the Rev. William W. Rand, D.D., Secretary Emeritus of the American Tract Society, to Robert H. Patton, 2d, of this city, a tract of 14 acres at Hawthorne, Passaic Co., N. J., adjoining the Stevenson estate property, which Mr. Patton, as attorney, recently subdivided and sold in building lots. It is his intention to dispose of the Rand tract in the same way. The property lies along the Erie and Susquehanna Railroads, and is near the projected trolley route from Paterson to Ridgewood.

STATEN ISLAND.

Cornelius G. Kolff sold for the Xiques estate two lots at the cor of Ann st and Heberton av, Port Richmond, to Mrs. Jennie M. Hammond, of Stapleton.

The Prince's Bay Realty Co. sold to Mrs. Frances Price 3 lots at Highland Park, and to M. A. Palmer 2 lots. The company has resold for Mrs. Catherine Sweeny a plot at Highland Park.

Lampert Realty Co. report the following sales in the Wellbrook estate property at Castleton Corners: To William Logan, 6 lots on Wellbrook av; to Beatrice Wilder, 3 lots on Butler av; to Jacob Weitzman, 5 lots on Wellbrook av; to Morris Harrison, 5 lots on Butler av; to John B. Baker, 4 lots on Bradley av, and to Thomas Donovan, 5 lots, including the corner of Queen st and Wellbrook av.

The Wood-Harmon Partnership.

A Pittsburg dispatch says that William E. Harmon has filed a bill in equity in that city asking that a receiver be appointed for the real estate firm of Wood, Harmon & Co. Serious differences of opinion had arisen between the partners in the firm, who, in addition to William E. Harmon, are Clifford B. Harmon and Charles E. Wood. The application for the appointment of a receiver to terminate the affairs of the partnership is the direct outcome of a temporary injunction secured by Wood, Harmon & Co. several months ago restraining corporations lately organized in New Jersey and in this State from transacting business under the firm name of Wood, Harmon & Co.

The bill in equity filed by William E. Harmon sets forth that the partnership was entered into on February 15, 1895, and was to continue for ten years, when it might be further continued at the option of any of the partners. The terms of the partnership agreement directed that William E. Harmon was to receive one-half of the net profits, and the other half was to be divided equally between Clifford B. Harmon and Charles E. Wood. Later, it is stated, the interest of Mr. Wood was purchased by Clifford B. Harmon.

The bill goes on to state that later he, William E. Harmon, learned that Clifford E. Harmon and Chas. E. Wood were endeavoring to incorporate a company under the same firm name, which he opposed. It is William E. Harmon's contention that much of the value of the name Wood, Harmon & Co. is due to his personal effort in building up the business of the company, and that for this reason it would be unjust for others to control the use of the name.

Clifford B. Harmon is at present most interested in the development of Harmon on the Hudson.

Personal.

Mrs. B. Aymar Sands has gone to Southampton, Long Island, and has opened her cottage there for the summer.

William H. Goodyear, of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, was elected on April 14 an honorary academician by the Royal Academy of Fine Arts at Venice, Italy.

Mr. James M. Quigley, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, died of appendicitis at Roosevelt Hospital on Monday of this week. Mr. Quigley was identified with the reorganization of important Western railroads, especially the Toledo, St. Louis & Western Railroad, known as the Clover Leaf. He was an able writer on financial matters and was a friend of the late Presidents McKinley and Benjamin Harrison. The latter he employed as counsel in certain railroad litigation.

Six Months of Queens Building.

FLUSHING.—The number of deeds and mortgages filed for the first half of the year 1906 in the Queens County Clerk's office was 18,350, while the number from January 1 to July 1 this year is only about 15,350. Yet in spite of this fact the tone of the real estate business in the borough was never more cheerful. It is recognized that last year's transactions were almost wholly speculative and brought little in the way of permanent improvements. The sales that have been made this year have been made almost wholly to home builders, and thousands of lots have been bought for high-class improvements.

The number of buildings this year exceeds the record for last year by hundreds and the building boom has come to stay. The banks that are slow in making loans on big tenement blocks are loaning freely on 2 and 3-sty and 1 and 2-family dwellings, and the bank officials say they find their highest profit in this class of investment.

The savings banks and banks of deposit and trust companies are making hundreds of loans to men building dwellings in Queens, costing from $2,000 to $5,000 each. Many are 2-family dwellings. The owner occupies the first floor and leases out the upper, getting enough rent to pay the interest on his mortgage. Hundreds of thrifty young house owners are starting out in this way toward a competence in many sections of the borough.

The record for the six months was as follows:

| District. | Number Buildings. | Estimated Cost. |
|---|---|---|
| Long Island City | 254 | $1,598,225 |
| Newtown | 681 | 2,663,188 |
| Flushing | 310 | 1,078,210 |
| Jamaica | 791 | 3,365,675 |
| Rockaway | 229 | 825,100 |
| Total 6 months | 2,265 | $9,530,398 |
| Total 6 months 1906 | 2,167 | 9,027,248 |

The average cost per building in the Newtown district was $3,900; in the Flushing-Whitestone district, $3,478; the Jamaica district, $4,250, and the Rockaway seashore district, $3,600.

Rents and Fireproofing.

The tenement-house law, withal its splendid effects, is held responsible for the increased rental output on the part of the average New Yorker, and the Code Commission should undoubtedly act with care that will not increase the cost of living beyond the already large expenditure from which heads of families suffer. An architectural contemporary, "Architecture," agreeing to this, thinks that one of the most practical measures which the Commission might recommend, if any portion of the law could be made retroactive, would be one requiring the substitution of metal frames and wire glass for the accepted wooden ones on the rear and sides of commercial structures:

We confess that we do not know how this could be done, so as not to work an injustice to any building where the iron shutters now in position, in accordinace with the present code, are really used, but the fact is that in 90 per cent. of the buildings in which these shutters are provided in accordance with the law, they are never closed from one year's end to the other, so that a conflagration has ample opportunity to reach the interiors even of a fireproof building from its more inflammable neighbor. Under the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in relation to school sinks, it does not seem to us that the police powers of the city might be extended so as to cover such a retroactive class, and there is no doubt that if it could be done it would go a long way towards discussing the fire risk in the section of the city of which the insurance men complain so bitterly.

Why not pass a law making it obligatory to close iron-shutters at night, in dangerous localities, and make it the duty of the police to enforce the law. For new buildings metal frames and wire glass would be a reasonable requirement.

Bronx Apartments Filling Up.

New apartments in the Prospect av section of the Bronx are beginning to fill up rapidly. Among those recently completed may be mentioned the modern 5-sty brick buildings at the northeast corner of Longwood av and Hewitt pl, erected by Geo. C. Edgar's Sons, in which fully eighty per cent. of the available flats are rented at figures ranging from $30 to $38, according to location. At these rentals no more desirable apartments of six rooms and bath are to be had in that locality. Brokers nearby affirm that the chief demand at present is for apartments containing four rooms, for which rentals of from $4.75 to $5 can be obtained.

Against a Pernicious Practice.

The practice of rebating from two to three months rent in order to secure permanent tenants in some of the new Bronx apartments is becoming flagrant again. In this connection, A. Weyl, manager of the branch office of L. J. Phillips & Co., 786 Prospect av, stated that the custom is entirely the fault of owners, and is one of the worst evils the agent has to contend with. Mr.. Weyl advocates the formation of an association whose chief aim will be to abolish this expensive and pernicious method in obtaining tenants, and suggested that he would do his part in the endeavor to accomplish the desired result.

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

5th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

7th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

8th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction. Valuations are from the assessment roll of 1906.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

July 5, 6, 8, 9, 10 and 11.

AMERICAN GERMAN

MANY architects in their anxiety to get a safe durable cement, overlook the important question of color. One glance at finished Alsen work shows its much finer shade. No yellow or blotchy effect so common in most good brands, a clear bluish tint, perfect for artificial stone. Of course color doesn't count in work like the Panama Canal. There American Alsen was given preference at equal prices only because of ultra high quality. The bids are on record at Washington.

Quick or slow set.

WHY?

Why are the Palmer Lime & Cement Co.'s Limes in demand?
Why are they used in all principal buildings in New York, Brooklyn and neighboring cities?
Because they are the BEST.
Best for FINISHING.
Best for BRICK and STONE WORK.
For finishing; because they will NOT pit, will NOT FOLLOW the trowel, and work SMOOTH and CLEAN.
For BRICK and STONE, because they are strong, large yielders, and will lay MORE brick per barrel than any other lime on the market. Therefore, they are cheaper for the mason's use.

We are Sole Distributers of the

CHESHIRE finishing lime, which is well known and always A 1.

THIS week's stock market has been almost a duplicate of last, and in spite of several depressing influences there has been a marking of time indicating the sound basis of business. The failure of a large commercial firm naturally affected sentiment. The house was not interested in stocks, but speculators reasoned that they could get little aid from banks if the latter declined to accommodate commercial concerns. Although fluctuations have been comparatively insignificant there is undoubtedly a gradual improvement in the market. As a writer on finance says, "The things which directly and properly affect the stock market have been so thoroughly discounted that the bear party is compelled to look outside for arguments." That the market is in a good technical condition for hardening prices cannot be denied, though there may be many ups and downs before the advance is established. On Wednesday of this week there was a slump at the close, there being a loss of 2 points in Steel Common, breaking to 36. It afterwards recovered somewhat. On the other hand the support accorded Union Pacific was aggressive. Higher figures than 150 for this stock are freely talked of and whether there is any manipulation or not in advancing the price it is undoubtedly a good investment security even at 8 per cent. But this is, after all, a purely mid-summer market and it is not easy always to find reasons for the action of the stock market. The public is certainly not in the market and it is not likely that it will be for some time to come, so long as savings banks pay 4 per cent. and profitable employment can be found for funds in general business. War talk has subsided, and Japan is ready to guarantee a loan of $20,000,000 to be floated in London for the development of the Manchurian railway system. Money is lower this week, which is news always welcome to building interests and real estate operators, but in these dog days there is little activity and consequently less demand. Call money has not exceeded 4 per cent. and time money, six months, 6 per cent. Rates are much lower abroad, and why they should be so much higher here is a problem yet to be solved.

DURING the past three years there has been a gradual decrease in the number of private residences and apartment hotels erected in Manhattan, but during the first six months of 1907 the tendency towards such a decrease has culminated. Not a single apartment hotel has been projected so far during the current year; and it becomes a matter of some interest whether this type of residential building is only suffering a temporary eclipse, or whether it will disappear as one of the popular classes of residences in Manhattan. The truth would seem to be somewhere between these two opinions. There can be no doubt that during 1901, 1902 and 1903 the erection of apartment hotels was very much overdone and that there was no demand for this class of accommodation sufficient to fill the 100 large residential hotels erected during those years. There was so much over-building during the ye[illegible] tioned that the demand for hotel accommodation likely to overtake the supply for many years; but probable that eventually there will be a moderate r[illegible] of hotel building. The position of New York as the [illegible] ness metropolis of the country, which is likely to becom[illegible] more rather than less important in its effects, will alwa[illegible] bring to the city a large floating population, who will re[illegible] main there long enough to want something different from a room or two in a noisy Broadway hotel. Then regular residents of New York show an increasing preference for a country home near the city, the pleasures of which are varied by life for a few months each year in a Manhattan apartment hotel. It is likely, however, that the coöperative apartment house, which is at the present time the most popular type of large residential building, will compete with the apartment hotel for the custom of this second class of people. The coöperative apartment is cheaper either than a private residence or than a rented apartment of the same size. It is peculiarly adapted to the needs of a well-to-do family, living in the neighborhood of New York, who want to have a place in the city which is ready for occupation at any time, and on the shortest notice. There can be no doubt, also, that the coöperative apartment house, if it continues to succeed, will also prove to be a severe competitor with the private residence. It enables its owner to obtain a permanent dwelling in a good location for less money than he would have to pay for an old brown stone house in a very much inferior location, and the number of people who have been buying these apartments may partly account for the fact that the building of new private residences is almost at a standstill. The plans have been filed for only about a dozen of them, so far, during the current year, which is a new low record.

Manhattan and the Other Boroughs.

WHATEVER may be the course of general business during the coming year, the existing situation and the future prospects of the real estate market in New York City do not raise many questions which cannot be answered. The wave of speculation in Manhattan real estate which began in 1901 and reached its height in 1906 is now definitely subsiding. It is receding slowly and its effects will linger for some years; but its force is none the less spent. It was dependent upon conditions which have now been partially superseded, and the next boom in Manhattan real estate, whenever it comes, will take on decidedly different characteristics. Manhattan will cease to be the comparatively independent city it has been in the past. It will become more and more in an economic sense what it has been for ten years in a legal sense. It will become more and more merely one borough of a greater city; and its desirability both for residential and business purposes will become more and more strictly specialized. It will come to have, that is, a special and limited function in that larger economic organism, which is known as Greater New York.

The recent speculative boom in Manhattan real estate was remarkable for its diffused effect upon all classes of property and all parts of the city. It affected either successively or at the same time gilt-edged real estate in the financial district, the new wholesale section north of Fourteenth Street, the streets and avenues devoted to retail trade and amusements, the private residential quarter south and east of Central Park, and the neighborhoods all over the island in which tenement houses were built. Of course it affected some classes of property much more than others; and there is one district, viz., Greenwich village, which it passed by almost entirely. But on the whole it is distinctly true to say that this long and lucrative speculative exploitation of Manhattan real estate was as far as possible from being limited or specialized in its influence. It was based upon the growth of Manhattan as an independent economic and domestic organism, in which all phases of business and residential activity were developing side by side. The only class of buildings which had been of much importance in the past life of Manhattan and which were neglected during the recent speculative movement, were the cheaper grade of private residences. The cost of land in desirable neighborhoods had become so high that New Yorkers of moderate means, who wanted houses of their own, were pretty well forced to live outside of Manhattan, and this stoppage in the construction of cheap private houses in Manhattan contained a plain prophecy of similar changes to follow, but these changes did not develop during the course of the re-estate movement. That movement was widely n its effects upon different classes of property and parts of the borough.

plain, however, that Manhattan cannot count upon ntinuation of this all-around development. Owing ely to the improved means of communication with the er boroughs, it will lose to those boroughs in certain re-ects and gain from them in certain other respects; and he net result at the end of ten or fifteen years will be that the sort of business which will be transacted in Manhattan and the kind of people who will live there will be very much specialized. These changes will not mean any diminution in the value of Manhattan real estate; but it will mean that in the future real estate, which is well situated for the peculiar lines of business in which Manhattan will have the advantage, will benefit more largely from the growth of the borough than will real estate which is not so situated.

There can be no doubt that Manhattan is destined to lose in population compared to the other boroughs, and the inhabitants which it will lose will, in the beginning, be chiefly those which live in cheap flats. The laborer, the mechanic and the factory hand are obliged to live near their work. In so far as the factories are, as they will be, moved to other boroughs, New York will also lose the class of population which lives in the cheapest tenements; and the loss from this source will be considerable. But it will be more considerable among people of somewhat larger incomes and of more economic independence, who can more easily afford carfare. People of this kind will move in large numbers during the next five years to the outer boroughs, and the residents of Manhattan will be divided more largely than at present among the rich and the poor. Residential property that is available either for expensive apartment houses and private dwellings, or for cheap tenements, will find a readier market than real estate that is available for moderate-priced flats. Of course Manhattan will not, in the near future, lose absolutely in population. Its loss will be relative to the gain of the other boroughs. But within the next twenty-five years the time will come when its increase in population will be negligible, and when the New Yorker that lives in Manhattan will become very much the exception. People will be able to obtain pleasanter homes for less money in the other boroughs, and the improvement in means of transit will enable them to take advantage of this opportunity.

Improved interborough transit will also have its effect upon business. Many manufacturing enterprises which now have their factories in Manhattan will find it cheaper to obtain new locations on Long Island or in New Jersey, and the increase in the various lines of manufacture now located in Manhattan will also seek the other boroughs. There will doubtless be certain trades, like that of publishing, for instance, which will have their factories in the central borough, but, on the whole, Manhattan will become an increasingly expensive place in which to carry on even the lighter kinds of manufacture. And this removal of the work shops will, as we have seen, mean also the shifting of a large number of tenement-house residents. On the other hand, if Manhattan loses as a manufacturing center, it is destined to gain enormously as a center of retail and wholesale trade, and as a place of amusement. The improved means of transit will enable the population of the outer boroughs to travel to Manhattan more than they do at present for the purposes of making their purchases and taking their pleasures, while at the same time there will be an increasing concentration in that borough of all business which must be transacted in offices. Of course, it is real estate along the central ridge of the island—along the lines of Broadway and Fifth avenue—which will receive the benefit of this increasing concentration of certain classes of business, but the area of the benefit will be gradually enlarged. In twenty-five years the city will have almost twice as many inhabitants as it has at present; and the amount of space which their industrial occupations will demand will increase in even a greater proportion.

Concrete Construction

A High-Grade Working Organization Essential, as in Other Systems.

THE public are entitled to an adequate explanation of the failures which have occurred in the construction of reinforced concrete buildings. Are they due to inherent faults or weakness in the combined materials, to inferior architectural and engineering design, or to the methods followed by the contractors?

Such a failure as the one occurring the past week in Philadelphia during the construction of the 3-sty building for the Bridgman Bros. Company, should not pass without the most thorough investigation. The plans for this building were approved by the Building Department of Philadelphia and the work was well along towards completion. The portion of the floor which fell and carried with it other portions of the building had been concreted five days. It is claimed that the contractor's foreman instructed a labor foreman to remove every other post supporting the green work. The laborers misunderstood this order and removed all the supports.

This is the claim advanced, and it is the explanation offered for other similar failures. It would not be surprising that a plastic material poured into wood moulds and requiring time to strengthen should fall when the supports are prematurely removed. This of itself would not condemn reinforced concrete as a building material, but would demonstrate the lack of adequate supervision and organization by the engineer and contractor in charge of the work.

It should impress those in control of the design and erection of such buildings with the fact that concrete is manufactured at the building and must obtain its strength through age. Careful inspection should be made before placing the material under strain to determine that the cement, sand and stone had sufficiently combined and hardened to be put into use. The steel manufacturers analyze, both chemically and physically, their product before placing the same upon the market. The tile manufacturers examine carefully the product of their kilns. Concrete manufacturers or builders must analyze their materials and assure themselves that the strength and other necessary properties are obtained.

It has been represented to the investing public that reinforced concrete offered many advantages as a building material, but unless it possesses the element of absolute safety, then the other advantages are useless. A building material must be reliable. It must be possible for an engineer to design a building to meet certain definite requirements of the owner and to carry certain specified loads, at a minimum expenditure of money. It is, therefore, absolutely essential that an engineer should know the strength, the durability of the fire-resisting qualities of the material to be used in the building and, further, that the building as built will possess all these qualities.

Reinforced concrete, as well as any other building material, must stand or fall as it fulfils this specification, and unless concrete possesses this factor of reliability then its use in city buildings should be prohibited. This is the broad claim made by certain interests inimical to concrete.

If the merit exists, if reinforced concrete offers to the owner a form of construction which will permit him to erect large, substantial, well-lighted factories and warehouses, fire resisting and possessing the advantage of economy, then it is the work of the engineering profession to put a stop to careless and inferior designs and demand that concrete buildings shall be built by competent concrete contractors.

The failures which have occurred have been due to three causes: First: Poor structural design. Second: Poor cement, sand or stone. Third: Careless supervision and workmanship.

Some of the failures have been due to lack of safety in the design; others have been due to the use of inferior cement, dirty sand or poor stone, but the greater number have been due to gross carelessness in proportioning the cement, sand and stone; insufficient mixing; the omission of the steel reinforcement, and to general lack of organization to handle such work.

The first cause can be obviated by employing competent and experienced engineers to design and superintend the work. The best building sand in the world comes from Long Island, and there is no superior broken stone to the Hudson River trap rock. Such cements as Atlas, Lehigh, Vulcanite and Alpha are equal to any cement manufactured. They can be tested and approved by independent chemists before delivery to the work. Therefore, in the matter of materials for concrete, New York City is unequaled.

The prospective builder would not consider for one moment placing the construction of the Singer Building or a City Investing Building in the hands of a sidewalk contractor, or any contractor inexperienced in handling similar work on a large scale. Successful contractors for steel buildings require high grade organizations, good superintendents and good workmen. The same character of organization must be demanded of the concrete contractor. This has not been done in the past. A written contract accompanied by the most complete plans and specifications will not necessarily secure a first-class building. The contractor must possess the machinery and tools for mixing and placing the concrete, experienced and educated superintendents to direct the work, and experienced foremen in charge of each division of the work. And with the contract must go a moral obligation to see that work is not only legally done, but well done. The best that good workmanship and materials can give.

It is only just that the investor should secure this character of work and it is in his hands to secure it so soon as he will demand that contracts shall be awarded only to those companies who have demonstrated their capacity through past experience.

As to the real merits of reinforced concrete for fireproof buildings, the best answer is found in the success of such buildings as the 9-sty Robert Gair Building; the 7-sty Kenyon Building and the 7-sty Bush Model Factories, all of Brooklyn; the J. B. King & Co. buildings of Staten Island; the 9-sty Eastman Building; the 12-sty McGraw Building, and the 11-sty Rogers & Pyatt Building, all of Manhattan.

H. C. TURNER,
President, Turner Construction Co.

Stone Trades Hampered By Tight Money.

A large amount of stone work is being figured, but actual new contracts are temporarily difficult to command. Mr. Michael Cohen, of 1133 Broadway, says the stone business seems to be in a peculiar condition:

"The cut-stone contractors are working overtime figuring jobs, but none seem able to secure many, on account of the owners and general contractors holding back for some reason or other. Also, the cut-stone contractors, because of being so anxious to secure work, are cutting prices to such an extent that it will hurt them in the end.

"There is an enormous amount of work being figured and on the boards. School houses, for instance. There is over $10,000,000 worth to be let within the next year, but, as you know, the City is unable to let the contracts, for the reason that the authorities are unable to sell their bonds. The contractors are finding difficulty in getting money from the City for the same reason, and they in turn hold up the sub-contractors.

"Tenement-house work has probably petered out in the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx. However, in Brooklyn there seems to be a larger amount of building construction than at any other time.

"There is nothing of any great importance in the building line transpiring at the present time, and the only thing that most of the trade is looking for is a let-up in the matter of tight money. It seems next to impossible to get much, if any, ready cash, and it is hampering the business to a great extent."

A vast amount of building work, in which the stone trades will have their proportionate part, is being scheduled in Manhattan. In June plans were filed for 20 office and loft buildings to cost $4,518,000, and in May for 16 office and loft buildings to cost $3,578,000, while altogether for the first half of the year plans for 94 office and loft buildings were filed, in the Manhattan Building Department, to cost $21,079,500, as compared with 76 for the first half of the year 1906 at a cost of $19,168,000.

But while loft and office construction planned in the first half of this year exceeds the great record of the first half of last year, the total amount of all new work arranged for, according to plans filed in the Building Department, was $23,000,000 less in estimated cost, of which about $20,000,000 is the deficiency chargeable to speculative (tenement) work. Still, when compared with the 1905 record, the plans for the first six months of this year are less than $11,000,000 behind, and $13,000,000 ahead of the corresponding period in the year 1904.

Matters of Legislation.

In expectation that the Governor will sign the bill providing for the appointment of a commission to draft a law for the registration of land titles in accordance with the Torrens system, the officers of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of New York are arranging to give the commissioners that are to be appointed full co-operation in the discharge of their duties. Mr. Edward L. King, Secretary of the Real Estate Board of Brokers of the City of New York, in referring to the subject, said that his association is doing all that it consistently can toward insuring the success of the conference. The rooms of the Board are at the disposal of the commission, and, barring the introduction of unforeseen objections, they expect a favorable report on the matter. The New York Board has communicated with other real estate associations urging them to request the Governor to sign the bill and expedite the naming of the commission. Among those written to are the Bronx Board of Brokers, the West End Association, and Brooklyn Board of Brokers.

The Governor has signed the Page bill providing for a commission of nine to revise the New York City Charter. Also the Agnew bill, which provides for the preservation of the waters of the Bronx River by creating a reservation of land to be used for a parkway from a point near 169th st, in the Bronx, to Mount Kisco. The three Commissioners named are Madison Grant, of Manhattan; William White Niles, of the Bronx, and James G. Cannon, of Westchester.

Dearth of Dwellings in North

Brokers in the Bedford Park and Woodlawn sor, Bronx affirm that they closed more business in weeks of July than during the whole of the prece Many of the sales were vacant lots, which are regard investment from a speculative standpoint in that pan borough. The chief demand at the present time is fc price one and two-family dwellings containing six a rooms and bath. A preference is shown by buyers fc containing the best improvements, such as steam heat an heating attachments.

While there has been a lull in building in Bedford Park eighteen months, it is now conceded that the time for a newal of operations is close at hand. This opinion is furth strengthened by reports from real estate brokers who say that there is a dearth of one and two-family houses in that zone.

Among the new buildings in course of construction is the row of five 2-sty and cellar frame 2-family dwellings on the easterly side of Creston av, just south of 198th st. Each of these houses will contain floors of from six to seven rooms and bath, steam heat and all improvements. The builder is A. Pirk, of 114 East 198th st. Lots in the vicinity are held at $2,500 each, and the buildings in question are costing about $6,000 each. Judging by the scarcity of houses of this description the property will find ready purchasers upon completion.

Further northward, at Woodlawn Heights, there is considerable building under way. In this connection John L. O'Hara, of O'Hara Brothers, Webster av, Bedford Park, advanced the opinion that there is a splendid opportunity for builders in that district. Lots, he said, can be purchased at $1,200 and upwards, and are particularly attractive since all improvements are in and assessments paid. Mr. O'Hara considers that an investment now in vacant lots at Woodlawn Heights would yield a profit of at least 33⅓ per cent. within two years.

Failure of William T. Hookey.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against William T. Hookey, dealer in building materials at 3d av and 129th st, by these creditors: W. H. Barnes & Son, $9,142; John B. Rose Co., $1,916, and George S. Shultz, $1,666. It was alleged that he is insolvent and on July 10 made preferential payments to these creditors: Hiram Snyder & Co., $4,252; Henry R. Brigham, $4,975; Rosendale Cement Co., $3,991; Morse Line Co., $919; H. B. Murchire & Co., $1,739; John J. King, $2,274; Robert Main, $2,337, and Reveley & Emmons, $3,237.

These payments were made on extension notes given to creditors on April 10, when he obtained an extension of three, six and nine months. The first payment on the extension fell due on July 10, he paid the notes mentioned above, but did not pay some others, among which were W. H. Barnes & Son, $3,000; John B. Rose Co., $1,681, and George S. Schultz, $1,666. Mr. Hookey is one of the largest dealers in building materials in the city.

The business was started 30 years ago by Manchester & Philbrick, who were succeeded in 1893 by Manchester & Hookey, the latter being a son-in-law of Mr. Manchester. They dissolved partnership in 1897 and Mr. Hookey succeeded to the business. On March 1, 1899, he formed the firm of Hookey & Mueller, but they dissolved Jan. 1, 1900, since which time Mr. Hookey has carried on business alone.

In his business, Mr. Hookey had to take many first and second mortgages from builders in payment for the materials supplied by him. This, it is said, made him short of ready money, and in April last he asked an extension for his creditors, which was readily granted. At that time, it is said, his liabilities were $332,000, of which $257,000 were to banks and $75,000 to merchandise creditors, and assets over $1,000,000 in mortgages and materials and accounts. Bradstreet's took away his rating then.

Vermilion Mahogany.

The importations of vermilion mahogany and Okume to New York by the American West African Trading Company will tend to lower prices of these useful woods. Hitherto the beautiful colors and figures of mahogany could only be displayed in the homes of the rich and high class buildings, but the efforts of this company have now made is possible for moderate sized buildings and middle class homes to be made beautiful by vermilion and okume.

A Foundation Contract.

The contract for the foundations of the Lawyers Title & Insurance Co., at 160 Broadway, has just been awarded to The Foundation Co., of New York. These foundations will be spread footing, steel grillage and embedded concrete construction; 24 feet will be the depth of general excavation, 57 feet front of Broadway; 92 feet depth of main wing. The Maiden lane wing 24x86 feet. The contractors are the Geo. A. Fuller Construction Co., New York.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

Church of St. John, in the Bronx.

s handsome edifice is being erected on Kingsbridge av, veen West 230th and 231st sts, in the Bronx. Contracts re let in April, and at the present time all foundation walls e up, ready for the first tier of beams. The basement will e of stone and the upper portion will be laid up with large size Kittaning brick with white glaze terra cotta trimmings. The front portion of the basement will be used as a chapel, and the rear portion for a lyceum and women's meeting-room. All

Kirby, Petit & Green Plan Nutley Church.

Messrs. Kirby, Petit & Green, 35 West 31st st, Manhattan, are making plans for a proposed church edifice for the congregation of Grace Church, Nutley, N. J., to be erected at that place. The specifications have not yet been written, but the structure will contain all modern improvements. The exterior will be of stone, one and a half stories in height, and the interior will contain gas, electric lighting, steam heat and hardwood finish. The site is on Highland lane and measures about 40x87 ft.

ACCEPTED DESIGN FOR NEW KINGSBRIDGE CHURCH. Davis, McGrath & Shepard, Architects.

roofs will be of unfading green slate with copper flashing, and the interior woodwork will be of ash. The ceiling construction will have exposed timbered trusses with wood paneling. The nave will be 53 ft. wide and 124 ft. long, without columns or other obstruction. Seating capacity will be 1,000. Daniel H. O'Dwyer is rector, and Messrs. Davis, McGrath & Shepard, 1 Madison av, New York, are the architects.

Particulars of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Terminal on Fourth Avenue.

4TH AV.—The Record and Guide was informed on Wednesday that the plans and working drawings for the Manhattan terminal station, which the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. Co. is to erect on the easterly side of 4th av, between 32d and 33d sts, and possibly easterly to 3d av, as announced in the Record and Guide last week, are being prepared by the company's own engineering and architectural forces at the New Haven, Conn., offices of the company. This would give the company a site about 190x830 ft., not figuring the width of Lexington av. It was recently reported that the New Haven interests desired to add to the ground selected by acquiring the block to the north, which would necessitate the razing of the new 71st Regiment Armory and other buildings on that block, but this plan now seems unlikely. For the Metropolitan Street Railway site, the company is said to have paid $2,500,000. The block between Lexington and 3d avs is assessed by the Tax Department at $2,188,000. This with the cost of the erection of the station and improvements will foot up in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. The site faces the Park Avenue Hotel on the west and is on the underground line of the Pennsylvania road, with which the New Haven Company is understood to have made an arrangement for entering the city. No building contracts of any kind have yet been awarded.

Adjoining the church edifice a 1-sty chapel, measuring about 30x30 ft., also of stone, will be erected. The architects have entire charge of the construction and will award all contracts. The Rev. Herbert D. Cone is pastor.

Newark to Have 12-Story Office Building.

Newark is to have another big office building. It will be situated at the southeast corner of Clinton and Beaver sts, twelve stories, and will cover a ground space of 107x119 ft. Some weeks ago the property was purchased by the Union Building Company, who will erect the structure. The frame will be of skeleton steel construction, and the materials to be used in the facade will be yellow brick and Indiana limestone trimmings. The plans and working drawings are being prepared by Architect Peter Charles, of 15 Clinton st, Newark, and Robert E. Moss, 12 Elm st, Manhattan, will be the civil engineer. It is expected the building will be ready for use in a year. The project is estimated to cost at least half a million dollars.

BUILDING NOTES

Mr. R. E. Fox, Jr., has resigned the management of the New York office of the Platt Iron Works Co. to become manager and secretary of the Engineer Co., 111 Broadway.

A man wants a position as agent, salary and commission basis, to represent a manufacturer of high standing. He is well acquainted with the members of the leading architectural firms and the purchasing agents of railroads having headquarters in New York and vicinity. See Wants and Offers.

A new incorporated company organized for the supply of structural and ornamental iron work for buildings is the "Knickerbocker Iron Works," with plant at 234 East 20th st. The company will make a specialty of apartment house and alteration work, guaranteeing material and workmanship. Mr. Max Liebeskind, formerly a builder, is president.

W. R. Creed, the wholesale lumber dealer, disclaims being pessimistic, but simply feels that good business precautions would seem to indicate that a little care would not hurt anybody or anything, but would be an anchor to windward, as it were, and on the safe side of things; and while he looks for things to be a little easier and for some relaxation, as it were, he is not figuring that there is to be any slump.

Plans have just been approved and the architects, Messrs. Neville & Bagge, 217 West 125th st, state that building operations will be commenced at once for the 6-sty stable structure, 100x80 ft., which Daily & Carlson, 694 East 136th st, owners and general contractors, will erect on the west side of Park av, 51.1 ft. north of 84th st, at a cost of $100,000. The site has been excavated; the plans were filed last March.

Mr. C. O. Shepherd, of the Emporium Lumber Company, is an optimist on the business situation. Currently he indicates that things are quiet, with no particular inquiry, but he notices that when a man wants something he wants it quick and pays the price. His concern has no burden of heavy stocks, so the conditions suit, and he believes others are in the same fix. It is his opinion that any considerable stocks of oak and poplar cannot be bought lower than sixty to ninety days ago.

Another large office building for which figures will soon be received is the new structure to be known as the Knickerbocker Building, to be erected on the site of the Consolidated Exchange Building, at the northeast corner of Broadway and Exchange pl. Messrs. McKim, Mead & White, 160 5th av, are making the plans. The Knickerbocker Co. paid for the site, which contains 8,371 sq. ft., about $200 a square foot, or $1,700,000. Chas. T. Barney is president of the company. (See issue Sept. 22, 1906.)

Rukenbrod & Burrell, manufacturers of standard fireproof doors, sash and metal-drawn mouldings, also specialists in bronze, copper and kalamein work for buildings, have an extensive plant at 40 Hall st, Brooklyn, and employ a large force of competent workmen. Their present contracts include bronze and kalamein doors for the 12-sty apartment house at Central Park West and 85th st, for the Gotham Building and Construction Co., Mulliken & Moeller, architects; kalamein elevator doors and windows for the 12-sty loft building, 28 East 10th st, for the E. J. Galway Building Co., Geo. H. Anderson, architect, and kalamein doors and windows for the 7-sty loft building northwest corner Macdougal and Vandam sts for the McCotter Construction Co., C. Abbott French, architect. The firm will be pleased to furnish estimates for their class of work, and all communications will receive prompt attention.

Points on the Material Market.

Hudson River common brick are quoted several points lower this week.

North Carolina pine in the local market has been and still continues dull.

White pine is steady in price and is moving freely, particularly in the lower grades. Stocks at Eastern distributing points are reported light, while the mill position is very strong, with stock well in hand.

The steel companies report a falling off in new business, particularly for rails, compared with 1906, which is not remarkable, considering the immensity of orders last year culminating after the depression of 1903-4.

Mr. George M. Stevens, Jr., of Stevens-Eaton Company, 1 Madison av, says that he cannot report any dullness in the wholesale lumber trade. Inside of sixty days he thinks buyers will be rushing to get lumber.

A local lumberman classes the period from June 25 to July 15 as the dullest season in all the year, in all years, at Eastern consuming centres. Certainly it has been hot enough to burn all thoughts of business from one's mind.

Instead of any sign of a general reaction, the average business man you meet assures you that while there may be dull spots here and there, the building trades on the whole are more optimistic than at any previous time this season.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

The private sales branch of the real estate market still continues dull. Barring a few transactions, such as the purchase by a syndicate of the southeast corner of Broadway and 49th st—which foreshadows the erection of a large hotel—the sale of the "Broztell," and a trade involving the acquisition of three dwellings in West 33d st, the budget for the week contains little of more than commonplace interest. The total number of private sales reported is 61, of which 16 were below 59th st, 18 north, and 27 in the Bronx.

Harriman Buys Fifth Avenue Dwelling.

5TH AV.—It is reported that Edward H. Harriman, the financier, has purchased the Heber R. Bishop property at 881 5th av, a 4-sty and basement dwelling, at a figure approaching $700,000. The parcel is 50 ft. north of 69th st and but a block south of Lenox Library. The dwelling is one of the largest on the avenue, having a frontage of 53.8 ft. and a depth of 175 ft. It will be remembered that Mr. Harriman recently bought a plot at the northeast corner of 5th av and 52d st, where it was thought he would erect a city residence. # REAL ESTATE NOTES

An experienced real estate man would like to connect with a reliable firm. See Wants and Offers.

Petitions signed by residents of West Farms and a committee of the Taxpayers' Alliance for either elevators or escalators at 177th st subway-elevated station have been presented.

Ashforth & Co. and Geo. A. Bowman were the brokers in the sale to the John T. Brook Co., builders, of 625 and 627 West 51st st, conveyance of which is reported in this week's issue.

W. S. Jennings, manager and appraiser, of Robt. Livingston Stedman's office, 10 Wall st, is spending the summer at his camp "Hiawatha," in the Adirondacks. He will return in the middle of September.

The co-partnership heretofore existing between Horace C. Phinney and George B. Corsa, under the firm name of Phinney & Corsa, having been dissolved by mutual consent, George B. Corsa will continue in the real estate business at No. 198 Broadway, Manhattan.

Terry & Tench, contractors, are building the elevated section of the subway north from Kingsbridge to Van Courtlandt Park with good dispatch. The southern Yonkers suburbs are feeling a distinct real estate impetus. At Lowerre plot values are $500 per lot above last year.

N. L. & L. Ottinger, 31 Nassau st, have prepared revised lists of their investment properties and private houses which they will send to real estate brokers upon application. They have some modern private houses in the best section of the West Side, possession of which may be had on short notice. Brokers will be protected.

John Henry, a letter carrier, who maintains a real estate office in the Bronx when not on duty, is worth about $200,000, according to the North Side News: "He is looked upon as an authority in real estate matters, and is daily consulted by wealthy investors, who value his advice. Quite a number of police officials and officials attached to the post office department have invested savings to good advantage, especially in the Bronx, where values have increased steadily and uniformly."

THE AUCTION MARKET

The offerings at auction during the week failed to attract any considerable gathering. On Monday out of three parcels scheduled to be sold only one was put under the hammer by Auctioneer Joseph P. Day. This consisted of a plot, 125x100, on the west side of Jumel pl, about 241 ft. north of 167th st, and was bought by the defendant for a sum slightly below judgment and incidental charges. On Wednesday Mr. Day sold 429 Greenwich st, northeast corner of Laight, 75x125.5x irregular, with 5-sty brick loft and store building, to Edward T. Haywood for $225,000. In addition to this the same purchaser took 210 West 50th st, 25x100.5, a 2 and 3-sty brick building and store, for $60,500, as well as the adjoining building, No. 212, for $45,000. On Thursday, among other parcels Auctioneer Day succeeded in disposing of 336-8 Water st, two 4-sty brick tenements, for Chas. M. Preston, as receiver for New York Building Loan Banking Co. at $16,150. The purchaser is S. A. Frost.

Warning to Property Owners.

The attention of the Record and Guide has been called to the case of a young man arrested this week by detectives from Police Commissioner Bingham's staff on the charge of having obtained money from property owners by representing that for a small fee he could have a substantial reduction made in their water bills.

He is said to have introduced himself as a representative of the "National Water Meter Inspection Company" and also of the Water Supervision Company, and after looking over the water bills he would claim he could effect a large reduction, upon payment in advance of a small sum of money. The "National Water Meter Inspection Company" is not known to this office, but the Water Supervision Company, No. 3 Park row, is a reputable concern, as the following partial list of those interested in its affairs will signify: L. Napoleon Levy, Nathan and Leon Hirsch, of Jos. Hirsch & Sons; D. J. McComb, president of Real Estate Management Company; Seymour Kurzman, of Kurzman & Frankenheimer, and Sydney H. Herman, lawyer, 35 Nassau st. The Water Supervision Company contracts to give a service at a nominal figure that eliminates any possibility of overcharge, and will save money for any property owner, but it does not authorize its representatives to collect any money. It has many of the largest and most influential real estate owners as clients, and takes entire supervision of their water meters and bills.

Rapid Transit Extensions Proposed for the Bronx.

Borough President Haffen urges at this time and under existing circumstances the extension of the rapid transit system in the Bronx by elevated structures along Jerome av, White Plains av and Westchester av. The three routes amount to 15 miles in length, and figuring at the rate of $750,000 a mile, the cost for the entire 15 miles of extensions in the Bronx would be $11,250,000. President Haffen has introduced a resolution in the Board of Estimate to the effect that the construction of the three extensions would be at once advertised and authorized, and it has been referred to the Rapid Transit Commission, which in turn left the proposition to its successors on going out of office.

The Interborough-Metropolitan Co., speaking through President Theo. P. Shonts, in response to representations by Borough President Haffen, has expressed a willingness to build these lines as soon as the necessary authority has been obtained.

CONEY ISLAND CHANNEL.—Bids were opened a few days ago for the dredging of Coney Island Channel to a depth of 20 ft. at low water and a width of 600 ft.; for the dredging of the entrance to Flushing Bay, and for extending the jetty at Port Jefferson and the riprap breakwater at Port Jefferson. For the remaking of Coney Island Channel, which will materially aid conditions in the vicinity of Jamaica Bay, the sum of $145,000 is available. Four bids were received for the excavation of 510,000 cubic yards of sand and gravel from the old channel, now nearly filled up, which will create a channel of sufficient width and depth to meet the requirements of ordinary traffic. The lowest bid for the work, 37.4 cents per cubic yard, was submitted by the Morris & Curry Dredging Company. It is understood that Colonel John G. D. # MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

THOSE stocks known as Harriman securities have been the feature of Wall Street transactions this week, frequently aggregating about fifty per cent. of the total business of some days. In addition to the buoyancy and activity of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific there has also been considerable trading in Atchison, Reading, St. Paul, Pennsylvania and Northern Pacific among railroads, while industrials, too, have been in demand. These were chiefly Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel, American Smelting and New York Airbrake, the latter making a large gain, said to be owing to purchases for control. The executive committee of the Southern Pacific met on Thursday, but it will probably not be known until next month as to whether there will be an increase in the dividend. It is currently reported that it will be at a 6 per cent. rate and perhaps 7 per cent., but Mr. Harriman on being asked was non-committal. As has been pointed out in these columns before, the earnings of the Harriman roads for the fiscal year of 1906-07 are so great as to warrant the maintenance of the Union Pacific dividend at 10 per cent. and the expected increase in the dividend on Southern Pacific. All this in spite of obvious manipulation in order to bring the price of Union Pacific to such a level that the convertible fours can be disposed of profitably by the underwriting syndicate with which the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. is identified. The object is certainly a perfectly legitimate one as Union Pacific is the largest holder of Southern Pacific and there can be no question as to the enormous value and growing future of these properties. The market generally has been of the usual summer character with the better feeling, spoken of during the last two or three weeks, still maintained. One reason for this may be, in the absence of any extended speculation on the part of the public, that while this is not likely to be a bumper crop year there is certain to be quite enough of wheat, cotton and corn to go round, notwithstanding the sinister forebodings and prophecies in the early part of the season. There is little change in the money situation. What may be said of it is favorable and encouraging to real estate and building interests, for call money has ranged from 2 to 3 per cent., while time money has been well absorbed from 4¾ per cent. to 6 per cent., according to the period.

BROKERS and real estate operators in New York are stated to be somewhat concerned about the outlook for any considerable real estate activity during the coming season. The number of transfers recorded each week are only about half as numerous as they were a year ago, while the amount of money loaned on Manhattan real estate has, since July 1st, been less than half what it was during the corresponding period in 1906. They are beginning to ask whether this comparative stagnation will persist, or whether a revival will take place in the winter months? It looks to the Record and Guide as if the real estate market would remain quiet for at least another eighteen months, and there can be no doubt that such a period of comparative quiescence is just what is needed for a condition of continued vitality. No good reason can be alleged for any considerable speculative movement in Manhattan and Bronx real estate for some time to come. Both local and general conditions are opposed to such a movement. Money will remain tight for many months unless a severe contraction in business takes place, and a severe contraction in business would do more to hurt Manhattan real estate than will the persistence of tight money. Every improvement in means of communication during the next few years will benefit Long Island and New Jersey rather than Manhattan and the Bronx, and a large fraction of the increase in population which has hitherto lived in Manhattan will go to the other boroughs. Until the effect of this alteration in conditions can be gauged, it would be unwise to indulge in any considerable building movement on Washington Heights or at Inwood. Real estate operators and owners should be content during the near future merely to hold the large gains of recent years. The existing dullness has not been the result of bad renting conditions, and it has not issued in any decline in prices. It is merely a natural reaction after a period of excited and profitable activity. Any attempt to resume or to force a renewal of the recent active trading could only result badly for its perpetrators. The best way for real estate operators and owners to keep what they have is, for the time being, to eschew any attempt to make much more. Up to date the existing level of prices is secure, but such security would vanish in case they were advanced much further, or any considerable amount of new building undertaken.

THE peculiar situation of the stocks of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company may well be a matter of general interest to the inhabitants of New York because of the effect of this situation upon the credit of the company and its ability to make improvements. The preferred stock, which pays dividends at the rate of five per cent., and only a few months ago was selling at almost 80, is down to 45, and shows little disposition to recover. It is quoted at some seven points less than its low record during the March panic and pays over 11 per cent. dividend upon its current price. This is an extraordinary condition for a street railway stock which possesses such enormously valuable franchises. It is true that the dividend paid on the preferred stock is not earned, but the deficit for the current year is much less than it was during the preceding year, and probably during the course of a few months it will be wiped out entirely. The earnings of the elevated roads and the subways are increasing with great rapidity, and next fall the Brooklyn subway will be contributing a substantial increase to the totals. The combined system has exhibited quite as much earning power as was expected when the merger was consummated, and at that time it was believed that the dividend on the preferred stock was assured. No doubt much of the decline which the stock of the company has suffered has been due to the constitution of the new Public Utility Commission, and to the fear that the commission will insist upon improvements in service which will be costly to the company. But it is improbable that any increase in service which the commission may order will seriously affect its net earnings. Such improvements can be made with safety only on the surface lines, and the margin of possible increase is not very large. In another respect the constitution of the new commission will be at least for a while a benefit to the Interborough-Metropolitan Company. The building of new subways, either in competition or in connection with the existing subways, is thereby indefinitely postponed, and this postponement will for some years be of great help to the earnings of the existing company. During the next few years the cars of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company will, owing to the effect of the New Jersey and Long Island tunnels and bridges, carry a comparatively smaller proportion of long-distance passengers and a comparatively larger proportion of profitable short-distance passengers, and without any new expenditure of capital it will reap the advantage of all the increase in traffic in Manhattan and the Bronx. Doubtless the benefit from this lack of competition will not last for more than a few years, because after that time the service of the company will begin to break down from its own inadequacy; but for a while at least the company is likely to obtain an unusually large increase in net earnings. From every point of view, it is to be hoped that the public will soon appreciate the strength of the company's situation and that its credit will be restored. It cannot serve the people of New York in an efficient manner so long as it is able to raise new supplies of capital only at an enormous expense.

Old Subways and New.

THE investigation which the Public Service Commission is about to make into the affairs of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company has long been needed, and every New Yorker will devoutly hope that it will be productive of good results. For the first time in the history of the city a body of public officials has been constituted with full power to ascertain the facts and to take such action in the public interest as may be warranted by the facts. During the next few months the people of New York should be able to judge what can and cannot be done to improve the transit service of Manhattan without any actual increase of trackage, and the Record and Guide believes that in the long run the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, as well as the public, will be benefited by such a disclosure of the realities of the situation. The officials of the company have always claimed that under existing operating conditions no radical increase in car mileage is possible, but their testimony to this effect has never been believed. It is obvious that during the middle of the day a great many passengers are obliged to stand who might just as well be accommodated with seats, and the impression is very general that the company keeps the service down to the lowest possible point, because its net earnings are thereby considerably increased. It is important that public opinion should be in a position to judge whether and how far this suspicion is true. If the company is proved to be essentially right in its claim that no essential improvement of service is possible a grave cause of misunderstanding will be removed. On the other hand, if the company has deliberately been a bad public servant for the sake of increasing its net earnings, it will have an opportunity of regaining public confidence by loyally coöperating with the commission in an attempt to increase the operating efficiency of the existing system.

The Record and Guide is inclined to believe that the investigation will be more useful in its disclosures than in its results. The investigation ought to throw definite light on a confused and uncertain situation, but we doubt whether it will issue in any radical or essential improvement in service. That the service can be safely increased is extremely probable because the evidence is conclusive that since the completion of the subway the car mileage on the surface lines has been actually reduced. During the middle of the day more cars can be operated, and more passengers can be accommodated with a seat. But no evidence has yet been adduced that the service during the rush hours can be essentially improved; and we believe that the commission, like the company, will find it very difficult to bring about such an improvement. The City Club has just made certain recommendations as to an improvement of service during the rush hours, and these recommendations have a certain value; but at best their adoption would only slightly alleviate existing conditions. Doors in the middle of the subway cars would be of some use at such a congested express station as the Grand Central, but they could not be used at any station of which the platform was curved, and the change could be introduced only very slowly. The margin of possible increase during the rush hours on the elevated roads is very small because of the character of the terminals at South Ferry. As to the surface car lines, the congestion during the winter months at important intersecting points is already very burdensome, and an attempted increase in service would, for the most part, merely increase the congestion. An unprejudiced observer must admit that the over-crowding during the rush hours cannot be more than slightly alleviated.

No doubt more cars could be run than those which are at present, particularly in case certain of the recommendations of the City Club are adopted; but how far is it advisable to increase the service to such an extent that no margin for future increase is left? Certainly five and possibly seven or eight years must elapse before any new subways can be constructed. During that period the traffic in Manhattan will increase enormously. The past five years has witnessed an increase of 30 per cent. in the number of passengers carried, and the augmentation during the coming five years can hardly be less than 30 per cent. If the subway and the elevated roads are used to their limit at the present time, and the expansion of traffic stimulated thereby, how will the much larger volume of passengers needing accommodation in 1912 be carried? Once an adequate subway system is under contract the existing means of transit can be safely used to the limit; but until the new subways are actually in course of construction a safe margin for the inevitable demands of the future must assuredly be preserved.

In urging these considerations the Record and Guide has no intention of disparaging the value of the investigation which the commission has undertaken. We believe that such an investigation is very desirable, and that it will be in some respects very useful. But the important point to be kept in mind is that the real necessity is for more subway and surface trackage. The investigation should not divert the commission from considering immediately the problem of laying out a new subway system, for it is only by new subways that any substantial relief can be afforded to the travelling public of New York City. We believe that the final result of any investigation undertaken by the commission will be merely a confirmation of the foregoing statement; and it is to be hoped that such a result will be anticipated. The great obstacle to new subway construction is the debt limit, and this is the obstacle, the removal of which should be immediately attempted. An understanding should be reached by the commission with the municipal government whereby the assessed valuation of real estate be once more increased. An enlarged borrowing capacity of $50,000,000 applicable solely to rapid transit is necessary, and steps should be taken to obtain it.

Manhattan and the Other Boroughs.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Your editorial in the issue of July 20, entitled "Manhattan and the Other Boroughs," is worthy the most careful perusal of all students of real estate, particularly those who have heretofore confined their attention to investments and speculations on Manhattan Island. I have given a great many years to the study of real estate, quite as much from its economic as from its financial side, and I have watched the operations of a large group of real estate experts who have made money through a certain sort of specialization within the narrow borders of Manhattan Island, but who know nothing of the science of real estate, and who are destined to suffer great losses in cash and prestige in the future, and learn through bitter experience the great fundamental laws that lie beneath real estate movements.

Your editorial is a happy and optimistic presentation of a situation that contains much that is rotten and dangerous. It may be the polite intimation that "an excursion boat needs life-preservers" will deter some from frequenting it, but ordinarily the world takes little warning until the actual catastrophe occurs, and they have to swim ashore in deep water and an ebb tide. In other words, your editorial is exactly correct in its analysis but short of the mark in its conclusions.

I agree with you that Manhattan Island is, in the future, to experience a different kind of real estate development from all those of the past. You speak of it as "special development," or along special lines. In my opinion the future development will be that same kind of development which has taken place in every city in the world, and that the previous conditions have been "special"—unusual, in fact, anomalous.

You are entirely right in the presumption that trade centres will increase in value in New York as elsewhere. The development of transportation lines have proven this in all cities, and no matter how widely scattered a population may be, the very elements which enable it to scatter also enable it to gather in masses and create great points of trade. But comparatively little of Manhattan Island is subject to this sort of influence. There are always three or four centres or avenues of trade in New York which will always attract the general public, but in at least 75 per cent. of the area of the Island the value of real estate comes from the territory immediately adjacent. It is the piling of six, eight and twelve layers of people on top of each other that has made New York values out of all proportion to those of any city on earth.

Now if we will consider that prices are created by the capitalization of earning capacity combined with anticipation, and you cripple one factor and eliminate the other, you will have great difficulty in even maintaining your prices. THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES INTO THE OUTLYING DISTRICTS ABOUT NEW YORK TOLLS THE DEATH KNELL FOR FUTURE CONSTRUCTION OF HIGH TENEMENTS. Thus anticipation is eliminated. The same cause diminishes the earning capacity of existing tenements, and thus cripples the other element that goes to make up values. This same development of transportation makes it possible for the factory to follow the outgoing population into cheaper quarters, for where population is, there will be the factory also.

Notwithstanding an absolute faith in an incoming population of from 125,000 to 150,000 per annum, I EXPECT TO SEE GREAT LOSSES IN MANHATTAN ISLAND REAL ESTATE. I do not see how it can possibly be otherwise. I have many friends who deal in properties of the highest type in this borough, and heretofore most of them have smiled indulgently at me when I attempted to liken the future Manhattan to Boston and Chicago. Some of them are beginning to look serious now; next year they will worry. New York is to be the greatest city in the world. Its total assessed value will be the highest, but the distribution of this assessment will be totally different from anything which the average student of Manhattan real estate can possibly anticipate.

What the New York real estate expert doesn't know about the science of real estate, or rather what he has written about that isn't true, if extracted from the existing mass of literature on the subject, would leave precious little. The New York operator is a "tape trader." It is high time he should study the general principles of his business. Yours very truly,

WM. E. HARMON.

No "Failure" for Mr. Hookey.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

On behalf of my client, Mr. William T. Hookey, against whom a petition in bankruptcy was filed and receiver appointed because he had $1,000,000 in slow-moving assets and owed about $300,000 which could not be paid all at once, and which condition according to the present bankruptcy law makes it possible for the press to announce the failure of Mr. Hookey, I beg to state that all the people interested will quickly realize the fact there is no such word as "failure" known to him, that every one will get one hundred cents on the dollar, with interest, and a handsome surplus of $500,000 left after paying every penny of his indebtedness.

The receivership was terminated in six hours, and the petition in bankruptcy withdrawn, and I trust you will give the within information to the general public in just as prominent a place as you did the first mentioned facts. Respectfully,

WM. A. SCHUMACHER.

The Harlem Heirs and the Undivided Lands.

By REGINALD PELHAM BOLTON.

(Member of the New York Historical Society and of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society.)

I.

THE HEIRS.

SOME few years ago a movement was set on foot to establish the title of the descendants of the original settlers of Harlem to any parts of the area of that township, which at this late period should be found to have been undivided or appropriated to their ancestors.

An elaborate effort was made to locate the surviving relations of the original patentees, and to establish their family connections, and some sixteen thousand persons were thus notified of their connection with this movement, and were led to anticipate the existence of a vast monetary prize, in which they were to expect a share.

An enthusiastic young man gave up his entire time and sacrificed his business prospects and devoted his means to the subject, and with others, to whom he communicated his enthusiasm, steps were taken to bring the matter to a test, and a meeting was called, of the "heirs," which attracted a good deal of public attention, and some ridicule, on the part of the public press.

The movement, from various causes, came to no definite head, and appears to have been dropped by those most actively associated with it. One prominent result remained of value to the community, a volume published by the promoter of the movement in which was collated, chiefly from the valuable but scarce historical work of James Riker, the chief facts relating to the history of the town of New Harlem, with a compendium of the legal opinions and decisions bearing upon the subject of the title to the undivided lands.

The movement thus inaugurated and the information thus collated, while productive of no result as far as the "heirs" were concerned, brought to light certain facts which are of decided interest.

First: That there are some small portions of the original township, as well as a considerable area of lands, which in the colonial period were beyond the low-water tide line, both of which do not appear to have been subjected to division and may be described as lands held in common.

Second: That the City of New York has claimed, but has not established, its title to all such lands as extend beyond the low-water-line within the original township.

Third: That the evidence of fact, as well as strong legal opinion, exist to the effect that such lands are not the property of the City of New York.

The interesting question then remains, which the promoters of the movement endeavored to solve by the claim of the "Harlem Heirs," to whom do these lands at present appertain?

IT IS TO PUBLIC ADVANTAGE THAT SUCH QUESTIONS SHOULD BE DEALT WITH AND DISPOSED OF, FOR OTHERWISE A DOUBT EXISTS, AND RECURRENT REVIVALS OF OLD CLAIMS ARE MADE WHICH UNSETTLE THE VALUE OF PROPERTY, and which also give an impression of a lack of public recognition of right and wrong, which is to the disadvantage of the respect in which our institutions should properly be held.

It is apparent, and I shall endeavor to show from a study of the several charters and from the practice of the several divisions of lands within the townships, that the title to such lands as have been referred to rests in the assigns, and not in the heirs, of the original patentees, and, therefore, that their titles are held in common by the owners of all property within the original boundary of the town.

In other words, that it is the taxpayers of Harlem and of Washington Heights, to whom any right and title to such properties belong, on whose behalf they should be administered, and to whose interests the proceeds of any extinguishment of title should be devoted.

The town of New Harlem, so called in affectionate reference to the original Haerlem of Holland, was established as a village community, for the mutual protection of its members from the dreaded attacks of the redmen of Washington Heights and Westchester, by an ordinance of Gov. Petrus Stuyvesant, in 1658.

This order, which was issued on the interesting date of March the Fourth, offered to those who would become "inhabitants" allotments of farm and woodland of 36 to 48 acres, and additional allotments, dear to a Dutchman's heart, of the meadow or salt marsh lands of Harlem and Inwood of from 12 to 16 acres.

A number of settlers responded to the invitation, and the Vale of Blessing, as its first settler had called it, soon became a well defined and well farmed settlement.

Later accessions to their number continued to receive equivalent allotments, the only basis of qualification being residence. This was so clearly a condition that when the heirs of that original settler, De la Montagne, asked to be reinstated in their father's property, they were notified that they must first become resident and then apply for an allotment in the same manner as the others.

When English authority superseded the Dutch, one of the first actions taken by the new Governor Nicolls was to confirm titles to land, under fresh conditions of allegiance, and a patent was issued in 1666 to the "free-holders and inhabitants" of New Harlem by which the bounds and limits of their local rights were defined and their ownership confirmed to them, "their heirs, successors and assigns."

As this deed had failed fully to describe certain lands on the Westchester side of the Harlem, a petition promptly followed, for its amendment, and later in the same year the Nicolls charter in final form was issued. In this, the Governor General of the Duke of York, again addressing the Freeholders and Inhabitants, grants to four named Patentees, "for and on behalf of themselves and their associates, the freeholders and inhabitants ....., their heirs, successors and assigns"—the whole of the rights, titles and privileges of the town.

That residence, then carrying with it a right of participation in land allotment, was recognized as a qualification by the then authority, is very apparent, and that the freeholders so regarded the situation is shown also in their prior petition of 19 October, 1673, in which, asking for the grant of a piece of land known as the "Calf Pasture" (being in part what is now Mt. Morris Park) they ask that it may "serve for the common convenience and the (oirbor) inheritance of this town and its Inhabitants."

The Duke of York succeeded to the throne of his pleasure-loving brother in 1685, and a new Governor made his appearance, who promptly proceeded to take action by which land titles theretofore granted by his royal master as Duke were to be confirmed on recognition of his rights as King.

The important Dongan charters thus came into existence, one to the town of Harlem, under date of 7 March, 1686, and a later one to the City of New York, dated the following month, or 17 April, 1686.

The former confirmed to the "present freeholders and inhabitants," who since the prior charter had somewhat changed in personnel, their prior rights and privileges, and to a new and extended list of patentees, "for and on behalf of themselves, their heirs, successors and assigns," devises the several tracts and parcels of lands and premises, with their and every of their appurtenances, "for a quit-rent of sixteen bushels of good winter merchantable wheat."

This deed still stands as the authority as regards the land titles of Harlem, and the later deed as that of the City of New York, and as between the two we shall later examine the rights over part of the unallotted or undivided residue of the area of New Harlem.

But as regards the interior or mutual rights of ownership, very significant action followed, upon which the division of the then large area of undivided lands was made.

Just prior to the issuance of the Dongan charter, on 3 December, 1685, the residents had agreed among themselves to divide up certain lands, and proceeded so to do. Among those who thus received ownership were several whose names do not appear in the list of patentees of the charter, viz.: Jan Louwe Bogert, William Cox, William Holmes, Isaac Deschamps, of whom, however, some reappeared in later sub-divisions, clearly indicating that prior to the Dongan charter and thereafter the land owner in the township, whether named as patentee or not, held rights in unallotted lands.

In 1691 a large division was decided upon, the terms of which were carefully defined, as follows:

"Each Inhabitant of this town shall draw a part as his property, everyone according to his estate or proportion."

Of those who took part in this division there were several who had not appeared in the division of 1685, and whose names are not in the charter as patentees, who drew, nevertheless, "according to their estate and proportion;" thus showing very clearly that the right to a share in the land went with and in proportion to the land already in ownership.

Further, the estate of those patentees who had deceased intestate since the charter, was allotted their proportionate share, and the widow or son of others deceased, and then in ownership, drew for the share of that property.

Another and final division was made in 1712 in four sections, covering practically all the lands, save the "Harlem Commons," and save also those fragments which remain undealt with to this date.

In this grand allotment, a still larger number of land owners took part, some of whom, by purchase, and others by inheritance, by gift, or by marriage, had come into the ownership of lands in the township.

This division was specially undertaken under the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly, which had just come into force, "for the easier partition of lands in Joint Tenancy or in Common," dated May, 1711.

The certificate of disinterested witnesses, as required to be attached to the record, reads, "that there is a just and equal division made, according to the proportions of right of every house-lot, and every morgen right."

It is significant that the one-half of the expenses to be paid by Harlem for the legislative and legal proceedings of 1774, in settling the boundary between the town and the City of New York, were agreed to be apportioned upon "the several proprietors of lands in the said township of Harlem."

In 1801, the then property owners met and considered the disposition of the common land. Those present, though it seems unlikely that they represented all the owners, entered into a power of attorney to six commissioners, who were directed to make an allotment of such undivided lands, but that such division should take a form agreed upon in 1774, at the time of the settlement of the boundary line of the town with that of the City of New York, viz: "Each of the said freeholders only to have one equal part or share," and these shares, it was now agreed, should be assigned, subject to a ground rent of $2 per annum, upon each such parcel, which income was to be then utilized for the support of a school for children.

This proceeding seems to have had a meritorious object, though as to its binding effect upon other then land owners, who might not have entered into it, there would be some doubt.

It was followed by an Act of the Legislature in 1820, recognizing the right of "the freeholders and inhabitants of Harlem" to the common lands in the then Ninth Ward of the City of New York, and by inference, to other undivided lands.

The Act referred to directed the sale of the commons, the proceeds of which were to go to Harlem educational, charitable and religious institutions.

This disposition was made in 1820, when in accordance with the Act of the Legislature a sale was made of the Commons, a space of about 290 acres (mainly embraced in the upper end of the present Central Park).

The proceeds were then devoted, in place of a sub-division, to local charitable purposes.

From the foregoing references it seems clearly established that the right of share in undivided or common lands lay in the property ownership and not in any relationship. That the patentees were trustees for themselves as property owners, and for others under the same qualification.

That the inhabitance qualification inferred ownership, since the allottees were the ground owners, not their families or relations, even though the latter were resident inhabitants.

That several instances can be adduced, where parties, purchasing property in the area of the town, came by that right into subsequent divisions, though owning no relationship, or heirship to the original settlers or patentees.

That the assigns of the original owners of the township or the successors to the land ownerships, whether by kinship, succession, marriage, exchange or by purchase, are the real Harlem Heirs.

In other words, that the present owners of all property within the boundaries of New Harlem are owners to-day of all rights, privileges and of any and all unallotted, undivided or undisposed of real property within that area.

That the Acts of 1774 and of 1820, and the deed of commission of 1806, relating only to lands on the southern end of the township, do not affect such undivided properties as may exist elsewhere in the township, and finally that the rights and titles of that township to any such lands as may to-day be undivided, are prior to any charter right of the City of New York.

The attempt, therefore, to organize from the lineal descendants of the original patentees, a town meeting for the purpose of dealing with such lands was based on a wrong presumption, and the call should have been issued, and whatever rights existed should have been asserted on behalf of the present property owners, the taxpayers of Harlem and the Heights.

New Haven Terminal Changes.

THIS WEEK the New Haven Railroad intended to begin the use of electrical power for running trains to New Rochelle from the Grand Central depot on the same schedule of time as now obtains. Gradually the speed and number of trains will be increased, but not until the New Haven multiplies its terminal facilities will that full measure of service and convenience be instituted which the commuters have a right to expect. Some time ago President Mellen said there was no thought by his company of discontinuing the use of the Grand Central station, and this remark he has repeated within a week, also saying:

When the Pennsylvania Station is completed there will be a through service established by way of the same to points South and West, and if there is a public demand, some local service may be established to and from that station, but that is so far in the future that no definite action looking to such a result has been taken as yet.

Answering your question in regard to the proposed new station for this company in the vicinity of 32d and 33d streets, would say this company has made no purchases of property for this purpose in that vicinity.

Inquiry fails to disclose that the company has actually made a purchase for ANY purpose. The history of every sale in the block between Lexington and 3d avs within eighteen months has been traced, and it seems certain that the New Haven has secured none, not even for evidence of valuation in condemnation proceedings. It is known that the New Haven directors have acquired a preference for condemnation proceedings since observing the experiences of the N. Y. Central and the Pennsylvania in the private sales market, and it is known that some are of the opinion that these two corporations have sliced off more property than they can earn a profit on. It is even said that these roads are considering how to get a return from some of the unoccupied spaces, as well as how to relieve themselves of land not needed or no longer necessary in their calculations. It is further said that the right-of-way cost far in excess of calculations in both cases.

Evidently the New Haven people, seeing they have nothing to gain by precipitation, are waiting for developments, being already assured of an entrance into the Pennsylvania depot for the express trains which now go around the Battery by water to Jersey City, and for others in addition. The nature of the local service to be given is yet to be disclosed, but as the Long Island Connecting Railroad is obviously building under a plan for a union of New Haven and Pennsylvania terminal facilities, it is to be expected that full advantage of the conveniences for an interchange of traffic between not only these two roads but also the Long Island system will be taken, and it is probable that the suburban traffic of the New Haven's Harlem River branch will take the new bridge over Bronx Kills and run into the Pennsylvania depot.

If the New Haven is looking forward to possessing certain separate facilities for car storage or otherwise at 4th av and 33d st, it is not a matter of real importance to real estate interests. Neither much good nor much harm could come from a change of ownership of the car barns from one kind of a railroad to another, and their use for merely secondary purposes. Whatever real benefit the New Haven means to bestow on New York, will mostly be distributed through the Pennsylvania passenger terminal However, the Record and Guide is reliably informed that plans are in hand, in the New Haven R. R.'s general offices, covering the car-barn site.

City Values.

There is not the slightest doubt, in the opinion of The Tribune, that the present dulness of the market is due to the majority of speculators having many properties for sale, and money conditions being unsatisfactory to prospective buyers:

"In spite of the listless trading, few persons are asking less now for their parcels than they were some weeks ago. This is a pretty good sign that speculators are well able to carry their parcels through a long dull period and are expecting a fairly brisk fall market. A little lowering of prices would undoubtedly stimulate realty trading, but as no one is apparently willing to take the lead in this respect the volume of business is likely to continue small."

Property was never before so strongly held in the metropolitan district, and with such confidence. Unquestionably there would be more sales if quotations were lower. An immense quantity of money for real estate investment is accumulating against the time when the surrounding country will be more accessible. Never was there such a movement up the Sound shores, the Hudson and to the Jerseys as was started this spring. Every man comes to an age when he must have his own roof-tree somewhere, and if conditions are not favorable in town, he goes beyond the city edges. This has been the history of fifty years of New York, only the "country" is no longer "Bloomingdale," "Manhattanville," "Fordham" and "Old Brooklyn," but miles beyond—anywhere within an hour's run of a lightning express.

Points on the Material Market.

Looks like a busy fall for everybody.

Last week there arrived 83 barges of Hudson River common brick, a quantity which was nearly all taken by Monday night of this week. Demand is very good, and the material is going into immediate use. Hence, quotations are advanced over last week.

While no official announcement has been made, Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, has confirmed the report that higher rates will be made on and after Oct. 1 on lumber from the Pacific to the middle west, the Minnesota Transfer and the Atlantic seaboard.

The lack of interest which has been manifested in the tin plate market for a number of weeks continues, and terne plates are specially dull. Coke plates used for manufacturing purposes are moving in fair volume. The reason for the falling off in demand for terne plates is ascribed largely to the diminution in building operations.

Builders' hardware is in fair demand. Locally there are some large buildings being planned, the construction of which, it is expected, will be begun before the close of the year. These, when they come, will furnish an amount of business that will compare favorably with extensive work that last year helped to swell the totals of builders' hardware sales.

President Wright W. Goss, of the Empire Brick and Supply Co., says that while this year's business in masons' materials has left something to be desired in volume, the requirement has been mostly for first-class construction. General building throughout the city promises to increase as the season advances, and he expects a busy fall.

A meeting of the members of the Hudson River Brickmakers' Association was held at Newburgh last Friday afternoon. It was the prevailing opinion that the works should be closed for the season on Sept. 30. It was also agreed that there should be no loading or shipping of brick boats on Fridays and Saturdays, in order to relieve the Monday morning congestion. The same amount of brick will be shipped as heretofore, but instead of thirty or forty barges on Monday morning the shipments will be distributed over the week.

F. T. Nesbit & Co. to Build Five-Mile Boardwalk.

The Estates of Long Beach has awarded to F. T. Nesbit & Co., of No. 116 Nassau st, a contract to build a five-mile boardwalk at Long Beach, the cost of which is approximated at $750,000. This walk will be the only one of its kind. It will be constructed on reinforced concrete piles 25 ft. in length, driven into the sand. On each section of piles there will be a steel reinforced concrete girder, and on these girders will be constructed a yellow pine boardwalk, consisting of 4x14 beams, and 3-in. planking 50 ft. in width. On both sides of the walk there will be constructed an ornamental galvanized iron railing with heavy arc light poles at intervals of 90 ft., and smaller festoon poles between the larger ones will support a line of incandescent lights. The Long Beach property is being developed as an "all-the-year" resort, and it is planned to make it a strong rival of Atlantic City. Contracts for improvements of various kinds have already been executed, approximating $5,000,000 in amount.

Richard Deeves & Son to Build Seamen's Home.

WEST ST.—General contract has just been awarded to Richard Deeves & Son, of No. 305 Broadway, for the construction of the American Seamen's Friends Society Building, to be situated at the northeast corner of West and Jane sts, opposite the Cunard line piers and the new Chelsea docks built by the city. The structure will be 8-stys in height, 35x165 ft. in size, and the cost of site, building and furnishings will reach nearly $325,000. The first story of the building will be of a white granite, subject to samples (unselected). Above the first story limestone and light brick will be the material. Operations will be started in a few days, and the work will be pushed rapidly. All sub-contracts will be awarded by the general contractor. The architects are Messrs. Boring & Tilton, of No. 32 Broadway. The office of the Society is at No. 76 Wall st. The Rev. G. McPherson Hunter is in charge. (See also issue July 13 for accepted design.)

Twelve-Story Office Structure for Fifth Avenue.

5TH AV.—Messrs. Buchman & Fox, 11 East 59th st, are preparing plans for the erection of a 12-sty and basement office building which the Fleischmann Realty & Construction Co., owners and general contractors, will immediately erect at No. 507 5th av, on a plot 36x132 ft., with an alley running to 43d st. The building will be of best fireproof steel frame construction, with a facade of granite, limestone and light brick, electric elevators, steam heating plant, marble, mosaic and tile work. The Fleischmann Company has leased the ground floor and basement to the Columbia Bank for the term of twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of $600,000. Demolishing and clearing the site was started on Friday. The owners will perform the general contract, sub-letting all usual branches of the construction. The estimated cost of the building is $300,000, and the site is on the east side of the avenue, the third north of 42d st.

Particulars of the Hearn Building in 14th Street.

14TH ST.—Wrecking was completed on Thursday of this week of the old buildings Nos. 8-10-12 West 14th st, on which the new Hearn store building is to be erected. This part of the work was started on July 1. The new structure is to be six stories, of best fireproof construction. The mason work has been awarded to John T. Brady & Co., of 4 East 42d st. J. B. & J. M. Cornell, 26th st and 11th av, have obtained the iron work, and the Otis Elevator Co., 17 Battery pl, elevators. No other contracts have yet been placed. Jno. B. Snook's Sons, 73 Nassau st, are the architects in charge of the work.

Latest Improvement for West 57th Street.

57TH ST.—Messrs. Pollard & Steinman, of 234 5th av, are preparing plans for improving No. 130 West 57th st with a 12-sty high-class elevator apartment house, to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. The structure in the front will be seven stories and the rear will run up to twelve stories. Work will be started as soon as plans are approved. A corporation of which P. McL. # "The Failure of a Reinforced Concrete Building at Philadelphia" is the title of an interesting article in the "Engineering News," July 18th, 1907, on the collapse of the Bridgman Bros. Co. Building at Philadelphia.

MARTIN BUILDING, 30th and Market Sts., Philadelphia

Reinforced Concrete System M (Patents Pending)

THIS BUILDING WILL NOT FAIL

No definite cause of this collapse is shown. The concrete seems to have been above the usual standard and the error of a workman seems to be alone responsible for this deplorable loss of life and property by the too early removal of shores.

Even with the most perfect organization the careless laborer can easily defeat the purposes of the best engineers or contractors if the system used does not provide against human fallibility.

System M of the Standard Concrete-Steel Company provides definitely against such happenings. Were all shores prematurely removed the shearing value of the light I-beam reinforcement is such that a slight bending only could occur, and disaster is impossible.

This is a reinforced concrete system which possesses the qualifications of absolute safety, simplicity and great speed of erection.

The "Mayfield" Approaching Completion.

The "Mayfield," in course of construction at 15 East 10th st, is worthy of special attention. The building is six stories in height and will contain 24 apartments arranged in suites of eight rooms front and five and six rooms in the rear. Each suite will be equipped with a modern bathroom containing all the latest conveniences. A telephone is to be installed in each apartment, giving both local and long distance service. Each suite will have a gas range and porcelain lined refrigerator. There will be ample storage room for trunks in the basement, as well as bathrooms for servants. The arrangement of the floor plans is the result of careful study, and there will be no dark rooms. In addition to the inside iron stairway the building is provided with fire escapes and an approved iron stairway in the court, so that each apartment has two means of exit. Huston & Asinari, of 25 Liberty st, Manhattan, agents for the Mayfield, report that twenty-five per cent. of the apartments have already been rented. The building will be ready for occupancy Oct. 1.

BUILDING NOTES

A partnership has been formed by Herbert J. Chambers and John W. Hamilton to engage in steel construction work, with offices at No. 29 Broadway. Both Mr. Chambers and Mr. Hamilton were for many years connected with Milliken Bros.

Of the thirty-six buildings projected north of the Harlem last week eighteen were for one and two family dwellings and seven for three family houses. The only dwelling above that size projected was a 4-sty double tenement to be erected in Williamsbridge. All but one of the dwellings are to be erected north of 170th st.

The Canton Steel Ceiling Co., designers and manufacturers of metal ceilings, side walls and wainscoting for buildings, have at their show rooms at 525 West 23d st the latest catalogue of patterns on display which should please the most critical. These goods are made in a substantial manner, are considered by many to be the best manufactured, and they have won favor with many architects and builders. In fact, the company considers their goods so superior they will admit of no competition. Those in the market for this class of material will do well to communicate with the company.

Aids to Business Making.

One of the greatest problems encountered by the broker is in the building of a strong list of Realty Buyers. The Solution is found in the geographically arranged conveyance records, with addresses of grantees, as given in the Record & Guide Quarterly. For example: Select a property which you consider reasonable in price or terms, and have a circular letter, offering the parcel, sent to all the buyers during the quarter or year, in the block, street or neighborhood. This method cannot fail to produce results.

Building on Upper Broadway.

THE increasing number of sales of elevator apartment houses on upper Broadway, north of Manhattan st, indicates that the confidence of investors in Washington Heights realty is gathering renewed strength. The purchase of the "Royal Arms," at the southwest corner of Broadway and 138th st, furnishes the latest illustration of the change of sentiment in this direction, and is said to be exerting an important influence on several large transactions now pending.

In this connection it may be stated that in no other part of Manhattan is there a greater activity in high class apartment building than along this section of Broadway. No less than five large operations are in course between Manhattan and 145th sts. Gross & Herbener, on the west side of Broadway, between 140th and 141st sts, are covering the whole block front with two 6-sty elevator apartments, to cost $450,000.

Another project of the same class is at the southwest corner of Broadway and 142d st. The structure in question has six stories of five apartments each, of 5, 6, 7 and 10 rooms. In this building the lower and second floor is of concrete, as well as the stair landings. In each apartment a large burglar proof safe has been built into the side walls, as well as a garbage closet of convenient form. In place of the customary wooden mouldings used for the protection of the corners of walls, a new type of metal corner has been employed. It consists of an angle strip perforated on each side, which is nailed to the studding. When covered with plaster it is scarcely noticeable.

Elevator apartments of the class mentioned rent for an average of $12 per room and are rapidly coming into favor. It is affirmed by builders that almost the entire upper section of Broadway is likely to be well built up with this character of structures.

"Housekeeping Apartments."

The "Van Dyck" and "Severn," at Amsterdam av and 72d st, are termed "housekeeping apartments," in distinction from apartment hotels—an old designation revived. They are comparatively new 12-sty twin buildings. The Van Dyck has three apartments on each upper floor of eight to eleven rooms, with two and three baths. The Severn has four apartments on each floor of six and eight rooms, with two baths. Each house has a special doctor's apartment on the first floor.

All hotel features have been carefully omitted, and the public features of the houses minimized. In the Severn no public hall above the entrance floor is used by more than two apartments, while in the Van Dyck there are no long corridors or public halls, as in each apartment the entrance is direct from elevator into the private vestibule. The entrance to each apartment is, like that of a private house, directly into the receiving room, and there are no long entrance corridors.

"Stanley Court," at the northwest corner of 106th st and West End av, is very typical of the new style of housekeeping apartments. The building was recently completed by R. H. Macdonald & Co. as general contractors, and on the three points, of situation, plan and equipment, it is regarded as an attractive proposition. The neighborhood is one in which a number of Class A houses have recently been erected, and is a very choice part of the city.

"Stanley Court" has on its east side a triangular place formed by the intersection of Broadway, 106th st and West End av, and its upper floors overlook the Hudson River, as Riverside Drive is only one block distant. The twelve stories contain 24 apartments of ten rooms and three baths each, which command rentals of $2,280 to $3,000 per annum.

Features of the house plan is, first, the recess in the front, making an open court to admit a front light and view to the center of the building. Second, the placing of all living and sleeping rooms on the outer rim of the building. The ground floor suites have their service rooms in the basement, connected with a private staircase. Besides the elevator for tenants, there is another for the servants and provision men. Of the total of 24 apartments, 16 are tenanted. With but two apartments on a floor and the advantages named, the tenants have most of the conveniences of a private house, without some of its disadvantages.

Obituary.

William Hamilton Russell.

RUSSELL.—At Lyons, France, on Tuesday, July 23, 1907, WILLIAM HAMILTON RUSSELL, of this city.

In the death of Mr. Russell, New York loses not only one of its most prominent architects, but a most estimable citizen. In the upbuilding of the later New York, Mr. Russell's part was second to none. Although not yet fifty-one years old, his active career covered the whole of the newer building period, throughout which he was engaged on some of the largest and most costly buildings.

Born in New York in 1856, he was graduated from Columbia in the class of 1878, studied abroad and afterward entered the office of Renwick & Sands, later to become a partner in the firm of Renwick, Aspinwall & Russell, a firm which erected many notable buildings. Subsequently he practiced under his own name, and in the year 1894 he joined forces with Mr. Charles W. Clinton, and they formed the present firm of Clinton & Russell, the firm consisting of Mr. Charles W. Clinton, Mr. W. H. Russell, Col. J. Hollis Wells and Mr. Fredk. W. Winterburn.

This firm has been eminently successful with a large practice, many notable buildings having been erected after their plans and under their supervision. The Mutual Life Insurance Company's Buildings, Broad-Exchange, Atlantic Mutual, Wall Street Exchange, Graham Court, the Hotel Astor, 60 Wall st and the United States Express Realty Company's Building are a few of their completed works, and at present they are building the Hudson Terminal Buildings, the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange and the Apthorp apartments on upper Broadway, said to be the largest apartment house in the world.

Mr. Russell was an untiring worker, looking into the smallest details, yet with great breadth and clearness of view. He had the happy faculty of combining firmness, consideration and justness. Client and contractor, associate and staff alike reposed confidence and trust in him. He leaves a widow and a son aged eleven years.

John H. Sutphin.

Funeral services over the remains of the late John H. Sutphin were held at the Presbyterian Church and in Maple Grove Cemetery, at Jamaica, on Wednesday. Mr. Sutphin was 72 years of age. On his mother's side he came from the Wyckoff family. The Sutphins came from Holland to Flatlands in 1640. John H. Sutphin was for many years president of the Bank of Long Island at Jamaica, and for thirty years was Clerk of Queens County, beginning in 1870.

E. Bradley Currier, president of the E. Bradley Currier Company, of 23d st, dealers in mantels and tiles, and living at 313 West End av, dropped dead at 58th st and 8th av on Wednesday night. Mr. Currier's cards were in his pockets, and led to his identification. Mr. Currier was about 40 years old. His father (same name) died only a year or more ago.

Personal.

Louis Schrag, 124 West 23d st, Manhattan, is spending his vacation at Mt. Pocono, Pa., and will return to the city about August 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis de R. Wissman will desert Edelsea, their country place at Westchester, N. Y., in a short time and take possession of the Pendelton house in Bar Harbor for the rest of the season.

Interest Charges Rising.

The prediction made in the Record and Guide, in the spring, that money for real estate purposes would be "tight and loose in spots," all through the season, seems to fairly describe the varied experiences of builders and dealers. In the opinion of the Evening Post, conditions are now about as unfavorable as they have been for more than a year:

Four per cent. money, of which there was some a year ago, and at that time promises of much, now has almost entirely disappeared. At any rate of interest funds for real estate investment are scarce, and the ordinary dealer can hardly expect to be more fortunate than to meet a rate of less than 5½ per cent.

Midsummer months have usually been the most favorable to the borrower on bond and mortgage. Rates then go about as low as ever and funds are generally quite plentiful. Many operators are wondering what the fall and next winter have in store if current conditions are the best this year is to afford.

But taking the whole city into account, the Record and Guide inclines to the belief that while interest rates are higher, mortgage money is more plentiful. Capital considers itself entitled to a higher wage, but at the specified terms there is more money to be obtained than there was last summer. Lending corporations admit that they are calling in past-due loans at low interest and reissuing at current rates, or else taking methods equivalent to this. As the president of a life insurance company explained to the Record and Guide this week:

"It is merely a question of business policy with us. We have deemed it expedient to increase the annual interest charge in a number of cases. We are not calling in our loans, but on the contrary are increasing our investments in real estate mortgage securities."

There being more uses for money, it is more in demand, and for its use the borrower must pay higher rates—for the time being. Pay the price and you can have all you want.

Paperhanging in Panels.

AND now it has come about that the better sort of wall papers, imported to help make the American house beautiful, are again hung in panels, and this return to the correct principles of mural decoration is mainly due to the influence of recent architectural achievement, followed by an intelligent decorative treatment of interiors in the styles of the periods indicated by the work of the architects.

After all, doorways and windows are symmetrical panels, scaled and balanced in proper proportion to the dimensions of a room, and so the simple and rational method of decorating the wall surfaces is to carry out the idea suggested by the constructive features.

The room panelled in wall papers is good from an artistic point of view, presenting a series of framed decorative pictures; while not the least advantage of this style of wall decoration is the sanitary feature; in the treatment of bedchambers, for instance, after the panel moldings of wood have been fixed and the ceiling has been tinted in distemper, the wall spaces around the panels and the moldings themselves are painted in oil color, toned to suit the woodwork or the background of the paper itself. This obviates the use of paper in the corners and above the baseboard, and renders the walls practically washable, excepting the panel surfaces, which are easily cleansed by a dry process.

The infinite variety of decorative effects to be had in connection with the use of wall paper in panels is of course apparent to the skilled designer, but the simplicity of execution must commend itself even to the amateur who is disposed to dispense with the services of the professional decorator.

French and English wall papers, conceived and carried out the lines of the classic decorative periods, are all intended for use in panel form, being complete in design without the necessity of frieze or border to produce a finished effect. A large variety of the foreign wall papers is matched by linens, taffetas, chintzes and cretones, so that an entire room may be decorated and upholstered without change of pattern or coloring.

For the drawing-room are used papers simulating a velvet surface, or showing the design in relief of silk flock on a background of embossed silk or smooth satin. In panelling papers of this high class moldings of gilded wood or molded carton pierre are used, the wall spaces around the panels following in color the door and window framings or permitting a metallic treatment in glazed aluminum or gold leaf. The use of galloons to finish the paper inside the panel moldings, lends a textile effect to the wall covering, and enhances the value of the decorative scheme when portieres and window hangings of velvet or silk damask are used.

Dining-rooms panelled in French tapestry or Japanese leather papers may have the hardwood moldings suggested by the woodwork, or stripe moldings in leather effect shown metallic nail heads are sometimes employed with excellent results. For the surrounds of the panels the cortex paper, giving a plain tapestry surface is proper, and for figured leather effects the metallic canvas effect is approved.

When a Japanese cloth or the Korean splint cloth is used for the sake of a plain effect on the walls of a library or a music room, panel moldings indicating a conventional treatment of the bamboo and colored in agreement with the woodwork are in character, leaving the stile spaces to be painted and stippled in harmony with the wall covering.

Halls hung with landscape papers are most effective when the panels are shortened from the lower ends to give a wainscot effect, and the use of grass cloth or splint cloth on the larger plain surfaces give a solid and durable piece of work.

For the nursery or playroom, as it is sometimes necessary to remove the wall decoration for the cleansing or renovation of the room, the panels had best be in the form of detachable frames and in line with this idea the Pierrot pictures are enclosed with white enameled moldings and protected with glass, while the walls are painted or hung in simple Chambray papers of light tints. The pictures are spaced in panel effect and hang flat, as though fixed to the walls.

Perhaps a strong inducement to use the panel in wall paper decoration is the manifest facility with which an interior so decorated may be changed without undue expense. Given the ceilings, the stilings and the fixed moldings already done in color harmony with the constructed details of any room, the renovation becomes merely a matter of removing the covering from the panel surfaces and substituting the new conceit, while omitting the always expensive and disagreeable consequences attendant upon the process of redecoration entire.

And so, making due allowance for the vageries of fashion, it may reasonably be said that the revived idea of panel decoration as applied to the use of paperhangings and textiles for wall decoration, is due to prevail just as long as the architecture of the period demands the style. A. BRYANT PARKER.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

While private trading for the week was admittedly sluggish, the budget nevertheless contains a large sale of lots in the Claremont section and several interesting transactions in corner properties, including the sale of the "Royal Arms" at the southwest corner of Broadway and 138th st, on Washington Heights, in which neighborhood the demand for high-grade elevator apartments is increasing. There exists a prevailing sentiment among the brokers in that locality that the final results of the fall renting season will furnish sufficient proof of the wisdom of the unusual building now in course along that thoroughfare which is already reflecting a strengthening influence on surrounding values. Builders in that zone are experiencing less trouble in procuring permanent loans, and since the promoters of questionable operations have been driven from this field the legitimate undertakings are fast obtaining recognition. The total number of private sales reported is 55, of which 9 were below 59th st, 26 north, and 20 in the Bronx.

The Auction Market.

Less than a half-dozen auction sales took place in the New York Real Estate Salesroom during the week. On Monday at the stand of Joseph P. Day a 1-sty frame dwelling on the north side of 131st st, 100 ft. east of 12th av, 50x99.11, was struck off on a bid of $11,100 to John E. Conron. Auctioneer Jas. L. Wells on the same day disposed of 1117 Simpson st, 25x100, a 2-sty frame dwelling, for $7,225, the purchaser in this instance being Leo Hutter. Wednesday's offering by Auctioneer Day of a parcel at 97 Broome st, a 4-sty brick tenement and store and 5-sty brick building in rear, 25x75, was awarded to Henry Horwitz on a bid of $15,250. A parcel on Tinton av, northeast corner of 147th st, 200x100, vacant, was sold to the plaintiff for $17,000.

The only sale on Thursday was that of two 5-sty brick tenements at 168 and 170 Chrystie st, which were knocked down to the plaintiff in a legal action for $64,500.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

A responsible corporation wants a building loan of $90,000 for a 75-foot front fireproof building in East 72d st. See Wants and Offers.

A renting man acquainted in the district between Houston and 14th st would like a position with a good firm. See Wants and Offers.

The annual increase in Manhattan population by immigration can scarcely be worth as much as a real estate asset as it was ten or twenty years ago.

Harry Lippmann, of David and Harry Lippmann, operators, 198 Broadway, Manhattan, is enjoying his vacation abroad in the Saxony mountains, Bavaria.

The New York real estate broker must begin to take a larger view of his field. He should grow with the city, and New York is fast crowding beyond the island.

Pease & Elliman have moved their headquarters at 507 5th av to 309 Madison, between 41st and 42d sts. The change is temporary, as a new building is about to be erected upon the site of their old office.

In last week's issue of the Record and Guide, in reference to the Water Supervision Co., we omitted to state that Sol J. Jacobs, banker, 41 New st, is the treasurer and one of the most active men in the management of the company.

In speaking of the prospect of active fall trading, Sheldon B. Shaw, 150 Broadway, Manhattan, said that it depended largely on a loosening up of money, that there are plenty of bargains all over town, and that there were never greater opportunities for investment in real estate than at present.

"Rosemont," against which the Mutual Life has instituted foreclosure proceedings, is a beautiful estate of a thousand acres at Wheatley Hills. Should Mr. Foxhall Keane let it go to the auction block there would be keen bidding for it, as developing syndicates would be eager to get it.

The State of New York expects to get about $2,000,000 as the amount of the collateral inheritance tax on the estate of the late James Henry Smith, of Tuxedo and New York. The appraisal will be conducted by an officer from Orange County, mainly in Manhattan, where securities are lodged in safe deposit vaults.

Terry & Tench, builders of contractors' machinery and structural steel, are commencing work on the Manhattan Bridge. One of the pedestals arrived at its location on Wednesday last. They are also making rapid progress on the work on the Van Courtlandt extension and the structural work of the Grand Central station.

The McAdoo tunnels, extending from a point near the Lackawanna station in Hoboken under the North River to Morton st, Manhattan, are practically finished. Nothing but the electrification remains, and that is under way, so that it is promised that trains will be running under the river, though not through the 6th av tunnel, some time this fall.

"Out of one hundred mortgages foreclosed on real estate," said a broker the other day, "about forty cases are due to the fault of the mortgagor, forty to the fault of his wife, fifteen to the fault of the contractor, four to misfortune and one to the fault of the private mortgagee, and seldom or never is the fault of the bank or loan company taking the mortgage."

The amateur buyer exercises too much care in selecting his parcels. He is too much afraid of making a mistake, and takes things too seriously. Said a speculator: "I don't care for mistakes if my successful deals predominate. I don't expect to score every time and I know that if I don't take a chance I'll never accomplish anything." If the building does not suit, sell it for less than you expected, and try again.

A new departure in fire insurance has been inaugurated by the Excelsior Fire Insurance Co., of 105 William st, Manhattan, and of which Mr. P. B. Armstrong is president and active head. The plan of this company is to carry out the idea of mutual insurance and to allow the policy holder to participate in the dividends to the extent of his policy on May 1 of each year. Another feature of this company is class insurance. Only two kinds of property are insured. Brick, stone and iron buildings are in the preferred class, but not their contents. Class B includes properties protected with automatic sprinklers, including contents. The valuable feature of class insurance is that the loss of one class will not be chargeable to the losses in another.

Real Estate the City Owns.

Advance pages of the annual report of the Comptroller for last year are at hand. It is a well arranged and informing document. We note that the valuation of the real estate in the Department of Education, in the city, totals $69,190,095, of which $41,677,000 belongs to Manhattan. The library system is valued at $14,000,000; the parks at $382,712,460; the water works at $30,000,000; docks and ferries, $56,283,000; rapid transit property, $46,042,000; bridges, $44,251,000; police department, $4,771,000; fire department, $6,609,000; public buildings, $14,525,000; public charities, $28,610,000; corrections, $6,700,000; health, $370,000; sewers, $40,000,000; miscellaneous, $5,000,000.

Tax Rate Fixed.

The tax rate for 1907, officially determined by the Board of Aldermen, is shown as follows:

| | 1907. | 1906. |
|---|---|---|
| Manhattan and The Bronx | 1.48499 | 1.47890 |
| Brooklyn | 1.55408 | 1.53769 |
| Queens | 1.53393 | 1.55484 |
| Richmond | 1.56884 | 1.55422 |

The rate for 1907 is about 10 cents higher on $1,000 of assessed valuation than last year, due largely to the cutting off of "dead wood" assessments on personal property.

Last year the budget amounted to $112,654,139.87. This year it was increased to $130,421,505.66. A year ago the general fund amounted to $24,934,694.33, leaving only $87,719,435.54 to be raised by taxation. This year the general fund has increased to $28,956,435.05. In addition $4,664,839.50 of the sums included in the budget this year must be raised by county taxation. Even with this deduction of $33,629,910 from the total budget of $130,000,000, the city is required this year to raise $96,791,595 by taxation, or about $9,000,000 over the sum required last year.

The total assessed value of all property in the city, real and personal, is now $6,742,237,408, an increase of more than $427,000,000 over 1906. The increase in franchise values allowed by the State Tax Board and the addition of the taxes when personal property of non-residents, which under the State law is subject to taxation for the first time this year, is included in this increase.

The assessment rolls for the current year, transmitted to the Board of Aldermen on July 1, 1907, show the following valuations by counties:

| Counties. | Real Estate. | Personal Estate. | Total. |
|---|---|---|---|
| New York | $4,788,658,681 | $446,741,299 | $5,235,399,980 |
| Kings | 1,181,221,910 | 92,866,547 | 1,274,088,457 |
| Queens | 217,668,775 | 11,191,262 | 228,860,037 |
| Richmond | 52,931,236 | 4,062,205 | 56,993,441 |
| Grand totals | $6,240,480,602 | $554,861,313 | $6,795,341,915 |
| Total assessed valuations as transmitted by Department of Taxes and Assessments | | | $6,795,341,915 |

New Jersey Real Estate Exchange Completes Organization.

The New Jersey-New York Real Estate Exchange has been incorporated and has completed its organization. Several largely attended meetings were held to bring about the desired result, and at each of them there were lively discussions and great enthusiasm was manifested by the participants. About sixty of the best known real estate operators of New Jersey have signed the original roll, and have thus been made charter members. The desire to enjoy that distinction was eagerly coveted by every dealer who had attended the preliminary meetings.

The incorporators of the Exchange, namely, Messrs. Edward Kanaley, F. W. Creighton, Jos. W. Doolittle, W. R. Squire and Wm. A. Lambert, had been vested with power to augment their numbers to nine, and those nine were to constitute the Board of Directors for the first year. The incorporators selected as directors Joseph P. Day, Samuel S. Scheuer, Wm. Jeffery and Otto Kempner.

The completed board then proceeded with the election of officers. The selection of a president presented a knotty problem. Several names had been mentioned in connection with that position, but each of the men named expressed the belief that the exacting duties of the presidency called for some one with previous experience as an organizer and campaigner. It was then that their attention was turned to Mr. Otto Kempner. When the first steps towards forming the Exchange were taken, the organizers called upon Mr. Kempner for advice and assistance, as they had heard of his work in organizing the Long Island Real Estate Exchange. He consented to help and counsel them in their efforts, and rendered such effective service that the incorporators insisted on electing him a director. Then in casting around for a president they chose Mr. Kempner unanimously, despite his expressed desire that the place be given to some prominent New Jersey real estate man. It is the plan of the directors to make their president likewise the general counsel and manager of the Exchange. The other officers elected were: First vice-president, Wm. A. Lambert, of Essex County; second vice-president, Wm. Jeffery, of Union County; third vice-president, Wm. R. Squire, of Bergen County; treasurer, Joseph W. Doolittle, and secretary, F. W. Creighton.

After the election, the board took up the consideration of ways and means for carrying into effect the purpose for which the Exchange was organized. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a tour of inspection of the tunnels in course of construction under the Hudson River and report at an early day on their present status. This committee will also have to confer with Mr. McAdoo regarding the completion of the work under the control of his company, as the Exchange has decided to celebrate that event with pomp and ceremony. New Jersey will have a new birth, and it will date from the opening of the first connecting link between the two great States—which will be the so-called McAdoo Tunnel. In this occurrence, the new Exchange intends to play a prominent part, and if the plans it is making are carried out, the wedding of Dame New Jersey to Father Knickerbocker will be heralded over the country in a manner that will not be easily forgotten.

Distributing the Taxes.

Mr. Hermann de Selding, in a letter to The Times, suggesting a basic plan for appraising real estate for the purpose of the Department of Taxes and Assessments, says that—unless a basic plan is adopted and adhered to we shall soon be in a worse condition than at present. The Manhattan appraiser is not competent to judge of conditions in the Borough of Brooklyn, the Bronx, Queens or Richmond, by reason of the different conditions constantly changing, but a method can be devised by which an equable plan can be adopted, which, finally passing through a central commission, would result in an enormous increase in valuation without showing the glaring inequalities which now exist. An expenditure by the city for the inauguration of such a system as I have outlined would result in obtaining sufficient funds to meet the growing wants of a city destined in the near future to be the largest and most influential in the world. Is not the thought worth agitation?

Mr. de Selding has voiced a feeling that in recent years has become general, but to the correction of the inequalities referred to the Department of Taxes, under the new headship of Commissioner Purdy, is already addressing itself, and in a manner and with the intelligence that must in time disarm fair criticism against the method of distributing the tax burden in this city.

Hard to Get Enough Insurance.

That merchants and manufacturers are unable to obtain as much insurance as they require against loss by fire—an assertion that is being made by insurance companies—is confirmed by the records of the New York State Department of Insurance.

A sugar refinery in Brooklyn borough filed 26 applications last year, and one of the large department stores filed 24. In the borough of Manhattan a department store filed 28 applications, a railroad 27, and a manufacturing furrier 24. A grass products factory on Long Island filed 21 applications. A flour mill in New York City and a hat factory in Yonkers asked permission 11 times each. In Buffalo one packing house applied 20 times and another one 8.

The insurance company's answer may not be that there is not enough indemnity to go around, for that is only partly true; but that the risks are undesirable, or that they are on the prohibited lists of some companies.

Defects in buildings, lack of safegurads against dangerous processes and the lack of means for putting out fires quickly make the cost of fire insurance high. Owners of property are responsible for the nature of the "risk" they ask the companies to insure.

Product and Appliance.

A Unique American Cement.

A Portland cement of an interesting nature has made its appearance in the building world. It is called "Snow White" Portland, and is a product of the Berkshire hills in Connecticut.

"Snow White" cement having been tested and analyzed to the fullest extent, it is officially ocknowlodged to possess features which rank it with the finest Portland cements in the market. Its tensile strength is 817 lbs. to the square inch and its remarkable resistance to atmospheric action, combined with its pure Parian white, give it a unique place in the cement world; inasmuch as it may be coated over plaster, mortar or common cement. The effect produced is a beautiful white face, as clear and protective as a layer of Parian marble.

The sole agents for this product in New York are Hammerstein & Denivelle, of 451 West 54th st. The possibilities of this "Snow White" cement are numerous, including artificial stones and marbles, as well as plain or ornamental enduring faces for cement or plaster walls. Unfortunately the output is at present limited and the price is high compared with other cements, by the barrel. When, however, its spreading qualities are considered with the beauty of finish, it is claimed to be a matter of economy to use it.

The Reliance Ball Bearing Door-Hanger Co., 1 Madison av, has just issued an attractive and interesting catalogue which tells all about their ball-bearing door-hangers. This catalogue is printed in two colors and contains valuable information concerning sizes, prices, terms and the correct method of specifying the different styles of hangers made by the concern, together with the names and addresses of agents handling the hangers in other cities. The plates and diagrams carefully and clearly explain the various points wherein it is claimed the Reliance Hanger excels others. As an illustration of how architects are accepting the hanger, mention is made of the fact that in the following named buildings, the largest and most up-to-date buildings of recent construction in New York, the Reliance hanger is used exclusively: Trinity Annex, the U. S. Express Building, the Trust Company of America Building, the Evening Post Building, Tribune addition, the Seligman Building, the Title Guarantee & Trust Co.'s Building and the U. S. Realty. The hanger is also specified in several of the largest buildings now in process of construction in the city.

The largest contract ever placed for lamps for store lighting has just been awarded by Messrs. Marshall Field & Company, of Chicago, to the Nernst Lamp Company, of Pittsburgh. It calls for 12,000 glower units for immediate delivery. The store will be equipped a section at a time and on account of the vastness of the undertaking, the complete installation will perhaps not be in operation until well into the fall.

The Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company, 9-15 Murray st, New York, has issued a catchy 12-page booklet, illustrated, entitled "Let Us Be Your Town Crier," explaining the company's system of free advertising furnished by it to the dealer, without cost.
